Israel Calm On Eve Of Eichmann's Trial

Glass To Shield Accused Mass Killer Of Jews

JERUSALEM (AP)—The day of reckoning came Tuesday for Adolf Eichmann, accused as the master executioner of Hitler's Reich.

The slight, balding man accused of complicity in the slaughter of six million Jews will take his place in the prisoner's dock, shielded from possible avengers by sheets of bullet proof glass.

Justice Moshe Landau, president of the three-judge Israeli court, will turn to Eichmann and say: "Adolf Eichmann, stand up."

And the trial of the man run to earth by Israeli agents in Argentina last May will be on.

Eichmann must stand for the reading of the indictment, a formidable document of 15 counts. The indictment accuses him of "crimes against the Jewish people and crimes against humanity."

The maximum penalty is death.

Eichmann was chief of the Gestapo's Jewish affairs section in World War II. To him—in the cold, impartial words of Nazi bureaucracy—was assigned the job of finding "the final solution of the Jewish problem."

Defense Challenge Expected

The prosecution charges the solution was the Nazi death camps.

Eichmann will be asked how he pleads once the indictment is read. And before he answers, his West German attorney, Robert Servatius, is expected to rise and challenge the legality of the proceedings.

Servatius is expected to argue that Eichmann was kidnaped in Argentina and therefore that his trial is illegal; that Israel did not exist as a nation at the time the crimes allegedly were committed, and is without jurisdiction; that he is being tried under a law passed after the crimes were committed.

As the trial once more focused the glare of world publicity on Hitler's Reich, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany declared Nazism has been purged "from our social life and souls."

"We wish that in this trial the whole truth will come to light and that justice will be served," Adenauer told the West German nation in a TV address from Bonn.

Soldiers Patrol Building

Noting Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion of Israel said recently young Germans should not be held responsible for wrongs of the past and Israel wants friendly relations with Germany, Adenauer added: "For these words at the beginning of the trial against Eichmann we are sincerely grateful."

Small crowds scrambled for the 80 tickets still available for the screening of the trial on a closed TV circuit in a 1,000-seat auditorium. Only 20 of the 746 seats in the court room itself were available to the public and these were taken weeks ago.

The trial is being held in the Beit Ha'am—community center.

Outside the court room, blue-clad Israeli soldiers patrolled along the wire fences thrown up as a security measure. But the atmosphere around the building and in the ancient city was calm.

South Africa Boycott Voted By U.N. Group

Harsh Resolution, Milder One Backed By U.S. Endorsed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Special Political Committee approved Monday an African demand for a world economic and diplomatic boycott of the Union of South Africa because of its white supremacy policies.

But the victory margin on the harshly worded resolution containing the demand—47-29 with 18 abstentions—was not large enough to assure ratification by the 99-nation General Assembly, where a two-thirds majority is required.

The committee approved also by a vote of 93-1 with no abstentions a milder Asian resolution which would leave up to individual countries what collective or separate action they wish to take. Only Portugal voted against it.

U.N. Withdrawal Speculated

Both resolutions were sharp in condemnation of South Africa's policy of apartheid, or racial segregation, and raised anew speculation whether South Africa might withdraw from the United Nations.

Progovernment papers in South Africa have raised the question of whether there is any advantage in U.N. membership under present conditions. South Africa has already served notice it is pulling out of the British Commonwealth.

Prospects were that the assembly would approve the milder resolution, which had the support of the United States, Britain and France, as well as the Soviet bloc and many Asian countries.

U.S. Opposes African Proposal

The resolution, introduced by India, Indonesia, Afghanistan, Malaya and Ceylon, assailed South Africa's racial segregation policies as "reprehensible and repugnant to human dignity."

The African resolution spelled out in detail what steps the nations should take—breaking off diplomatic relations, closing of ports to all ships flying the South African flag, enacting legislation prohibiting their ships from entering South African ports, boycotting all South African goods, refusal of landing and passage facilities to all South African aircraft.

The United States opposed the resolution as too harsh and liable to cause suffering among victims of racial segregation.

Russ Silence On Truce Bid Raises Gloom

Kremlin Believed Stalling; New U.S. Move Is Expected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia has tripled its arms airlift to Laotian Communists in the last day or so, reliable Western diplomatic sources said here Monday night.

There was growing concern within the Kennedy administration that the Kremlin might be stalling on allied proposals for a cease fire in the southeast Asian country while it builds up an invincible military force there.

The State Department was considering sending a strong statement of U. S. views directly to Moscow through U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson.

Reports reaching here said the Soviet armslift to Pathet Lao rebel troops Sunday was three times the amount sent the same day a week earlier.

Soviet Fails To Follow Up

One western diplomat said the Laos situation seemed to be approaching the same "grim concern" which prevailed when President Kennedy called it to national attention during a news conference carried on radio and TV.

Russia, in an April 1 diplomatic note, agreed in general terms to a British proposal for a three-stage Laos solution. The British plan called for a cease fire, reactivation of a three-nation control commission to attest to the truce and a 14-nation international conference to work out a political solution.

Since then, British Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts has sought to pin Russia down to an actual cease fire agreement in a series of meetings at the foreign office in Moscow.

Kennedy May Take Direct Hand

Last week, there was talk that a cease fire agreement might come before the weekend, while British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan still was in Washington.

But the weekend came and went with diplomats still waiting for a final Russian answer.

Britain has been handling the negotiations with Russia because the two nations were co-chairman of the 1954 Geneva Conference on Southeast Asia. Now there are indications the Kennedy administration may decide to take a more direct hand in the situation.

The feeling here was that the cease fire delay was more a matter of Russians stalling rather than any difficulty in working out an agreement with rival leaders in Laos.

Space Capsule Stays In Orbit, Balks Recovery

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — The Air Force failed in a hasty attempt to recover the capsule from Discoverer XXIII Monday when the satellite lost stability and the capsule stayed in orbit instead of hurtling toward earth.

The attempt to snatch the heavily-instrumented capsule from space was made on short notice when Air Force scientists noted the satellite was losing stablilty. Discoverer XXIII will remain in orbit despite the recovery failure, the Air Force said.

The Air Force announced the disappointing recovery try at 5:40 p.m. EST, minutes before the recovery was to be attempted by planes and ships off Hawaii.

The capsule separated on command on the 31st pass around the earth, the spokesman said. But because the 25-foot long satellite was not stable in orbit, the instrument crammed 300-pound capsule failed to re-enter the earth's atmosphere and it accompanied the satellite in orbit around the globe.

Nine C119 cargo planes and surface ships were standing by in a vast "ballpark" off Hawaii ready to recover the capsule Monday afternoon. A decision to try to recover the capsule Monday instead of Wednesday as planned was made because of the condition of the satellite.

The 2100-pound satellite was sent aloft from this West Coast missile base on Saturday.

JFK Rules Out Trigger-Happy Europe Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Monday pledged a firm, but not trigger-happy, U. S. defense of Europe—using atomic weapons if necessary.

Kennedy called, at the same time, for a step-up in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's ability to stem Red aggression with conventional arms — a defense strong enough at least to "force a pause" pending a decision on unleashing of nuclear destruction.

U. S. studies, he reported, have disclosed "a serious need for a sensitive and flexible control of all arms, and especially over nuclear weapons."

Kennedy spoke to the semiannual meeting of NATO military chiefs as he moved ahead with his program to strengthen the Western alliance, which he regards as the heart of America's overseas defense system.

Holzapfel's Sentencing Postponed

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Floyd Holzapfel is resigned to death in Florida's electric chair, but court-appointed attorneys succeeded Monday in postponing the day of his sentencing for the Chillingworth murders.

Attorneys Ralph Mabie and William Pruitt told Circuit Judge Russell O. Morrow they wanted him to hear some testimony from Ross Anderson, assistant director of the state sheriff's bureau, before making his decision.

The judge agreed to wait until Anderson, who entered a hospital Sunday with pneumonia, is able to appear.

Mabie declined to say why Anderson's testimony is desired. Possibly, it would show how Holzapfel cooperated with the state in solving the mystery of the disappearance of Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth and his wife, Marjorie.

Holzapfel confessed last October that he threw the Chillingworths in the Atlantic Ocean June 15, 1955. He was the star witness against Joseph A. Peel Jr., convicted mastermind of the sensational murder plot.

At Peel's trial, State Atty. Phil O'Connell said Holzapfel signed his own death warrant by taking the witness stand.

However, since the jury's mercy recommendation gave Peel an automatic sentence of life imprisonment, there has been speculation that Holzapfel also may be spared the death penalty.

Cuba Invasion Planner Under U.S. Indictment

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Rolando Masferrer, one of ousted Cuban President Fulgencio Batistá's most notorious aides, was indicted by a federal grand jury Monday on charges of sending a military expedition against the Cuban government of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Six other Cubans and one American were named as coconspirators with Masferrer but not as defendants. They were accused of outfitting an expedition that met with disaster on the north coast of Cuba last Oct. 4.

That 27-man landing force lost a few men in a battle with Castro troops but most of them were captured. Ten of them, including three Americans, were shot by firing squads and the rest were sentenced to long prison terms.

The Americans shot by firing squads were Robert Otis Fuller, and Anthony Zarba, both of Miami, and Dale Thompson, who had no known address.

Named in the indictment as coconspirators were Armentino Ferria Perez, a Masferrer lieutenant killed in the landing attempt, Julio Fernandez Trevejo, Anselmo Alliegro, Frank Joseph Williams, Horacio Canizares, Santiago Alvarez and a man whose last name was given as Cartaya.

The indictment named Masferrer, Trevejo and Ferria as the main organizers of the expedition. Masferrer was accused of soliciting $2,000 from Alliegro, who served in the Cuban Senate with Masferrer under Batista.

The indictment specifically accuses Masferrer of violating the neutrality law.

Conviction of violating this law carries a maximum possible punishment of five years in prison and $10,000 fine or both.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Laotian neutralist leader Prince Souvanna Phouma has been invited to visit Washington about April 18, the State Department announced Monday. He is expected to meet personally with President Kennedy.

Russ Man-In-Space Rumors Discounted

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow's newsmen—Communist and Western alike—were kept on edge for hours Monday by rumors that the Soviets had launched a spaceman.

Then, while reporters were still glued to their radios awaiting an announcement, the official press spokesman at the Foreign Ministry threw a cold blanket on the whole thing by declaring he knew nothing about it.

Did something go amiss?

Are Soviet scientists holding up a statement until they get more information?

There was no answer to these questions at an early hour.

All that was certain was that foreign and Soviet Communist news and cameramen—who have sources of information closer to the official level than most Westerners—contributed to the rumors that gathered speed through the afternoon and evening.

A Soviet TV crew showed up at the Central Telegraph Office early in the afternoon and set up cameras to catch correspondents when they were expected to rush up with their copy.

The crew waited patiently, and finally one cameraman asked "where are the correspondents?"

A telegraph girl explained that since direct censorship was ended March 23, the correspondents no longer had to bring their copy to the telegraph office.

One correspondent who did show up asked a camera technician, "you here to shoot a picture about the spaceman reaction?"

"Wait until 3 o'clock," the crew member replied.

When 3 o'clock passed without an announcement, one of the half dozen technicians went to a telephone and reported back: "Wait until 4 o'clock."

But 4 o'clock passed, too, with no announcement.

One Communist correspondent already had telephoned his office in Rome that rumors were current the Soviets had launched a man in space.

Other Communist correspondents apparently had been advised, too, to stay close to their radios and telephones.

Official sources refused to comment on the rumors.

Rebels Launch New Viet Nam Terror Attacks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Communist Viet Cong rebels launched new terrorist attacks in rural areas Monday in a last-ditch effort to cut President Ngo Dinh Diem's margin of victory in Sunday's elections.

The anti-Communist president of this Southeast Asian republic was re-elected to a five-year term as expected. His opposition consisted of two political unknowns.

The Communists adopted a strategy of terror to keep voters away from the polls, but they called off their attacks without explanation on election day and the turnout was unexpectedly heavy. The government claimed 90 per cent of the 7.2 million voters cast ballots.

Late Monday the government said the rebels launched massive attacks in some remote areas, mostly in central Viet Nam, in an effort to prevent collecting of ballot boxes.

Helicopters ferried out ballot boxes in some areas where the Viet Cong had cut roads between polling places to district centers.

Diem's lowest margins were around Saigon where his two opponents campaigned hardest, and where there is a significant protest vote by the educated classes. They feel Diem is being too tough against the peasantry and stifling civil liberties in the name of anti-communism.

Nevertheless government officials said they were pleased at Diem's 63 per cent margin here in the capital.

Congolese Fire On U.N. Plane

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The Belgian radio said Monday night Congolese military guards opened fire on a United Nations plane attempting to land at Bakwanga airport in the diamond-mining state of South Kasai.

The radio, quoting the Congolese Press Agency, said a contingent of Indian U. N. troops was aboard the plane.

The agency said the Congolese soldiers opened fire on the plane as it swooped in to land.

They drove it off and the pilot had to return to the airfield he had departed from, said the agency.

This is the first report on an incident involving any of the Indian troops sent to the Congo to aid the United Nations operations there.

Bakwanga is the self-styled capital of the South Kasai Congo province, the diamond state set up by Baluba leader Albert Kalonji, who a few days ago was proclaimed king of the Baluba tribe.

$11.9 Billion Arms Bill Sets Record

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress was asked Monday to approve the largest single money authorization in history — 11.9 billion to provide new missiles, military planes and warships.

The bill was presented in behalf of the Kennedy administration by Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the House Armed Service Committee. The measure merely would authorize the outlays. The Pentagon would have to come back to Congress for the actual money.

Spare Eichmann's Life Is Plea Of Polish Refugee

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—In halting English, a Polish refugee who escaped the gas chambers of Adolf Eichmann pleaded that the Nazi's life be spared.

"We must stop the hate," she said in an interview with the Peoria Journal-Star.

"He should not be killed. Everyone should die at his own time, not when someone else says he should," she said.

Genia Seligman, 39, now of Peoria, was no stranger to hate and to people who died when someone else said they should.

Two months after the Germans rode into her native Polish town of Pabianice, near Warsaw, she and her Jewish family were forced to move to the local ghetto. Seventeen then, she spent the next six years in ghettoes, forced labor battalions and concentration camps.

Her mother and two brothers died in gas chambers. She suffered the loss of an eye in an accident while working in a German munitions factory.

But she insists that hanging Eichmann would only perpetuate hate.

"I am not for execution," Mrs. Seligman said, "but he can not be freed. He should be left to live and to feel sorry every day for everything he did. This is more important than to take away the life."

The war's end found her and her husband-to-be, Henry, in Camp Hasag, near Tschenstochau. After they were freed, they went to Berlin, where they finally received permission to emigrate to the United States four and a half years ago.

Kennedy Displays Surprisingly Good Arm In Opening 1961 Baseball Season

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's leading touch football player, John F. Kennedy, turned baseball pitcher Monday—and with surprisingly good results.

But his home team couldn't do quite so well, as Chicago edged Washington 4-3, after the President officially opened the 1961 season with a good, hard peg.

Many of the well-chilled fans began leaving the park after the visitors pulled ahead, 4-3, in the 8th inning. But Kennedy stayed to the bitter end although he did make a rare concession to the weather by putting on a hat. And he got back into a topcoat he'd shucked to do his pitching.

Usually at these opening game shindigs the players creep up toward the presidential box as if they were expecting a bunt.

But Kennedy crossed them up. His first peg bounced off the hands of two players, and was grabbed by Jim Rivera of the Chicago White Sox who was in the rear, usually the poorest spot of all.

The next presidential throw also was muffed. It, too, went farther than the ordinary presidential pitch. Finally it rested in the eager hands of Hal Woodeshick, pitcher for the Washington Senators, who wound up rolling on the ground, like a touch football player going after a fumble.

And so the new administration got the new season under way for the new Washington Senators, the old Senators having decamped for Minnesota.

The President proved an enthusiastic fan.

Washington got its first chance to cheer in the first inning. Gene Woodling hit a triple off the scoreboard, driving in two runs. Kennedy was on his feet applauding.

Although there were more Washington celebrities around than you could shake a "Who's Who" at, Kennedy sat between his old Boston friend, now a staff assistant in the White House office, Dave Powers, and E. R. (Pete) Quesada, president of the Senators. Quesada was a high official, federal aviation administrator, during the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration.

All in all, it was an unusual day in several respects. The weather, for one thing. It had rained steadily since Sunday noon and this morning was damp and chilly.

But shortly before Kennedy arrived the skies cleared, and though it was windy and the temperature was 48 it was far pleasanter than anyone anticipated.

Collision Sinks Boat; Four Feared Dead

NEW YORK (UPI)—The 9,684-ton freighter "South African Pioneer" and a 200-ton fishing boat collided in fog 35 miles off the New Jersey coast early Monday, sinking the smaller vessel. One man was killed and three others feared drowned.

The only known survivor of the five-man crew of the fishing boat "Powhatan" was the skipper, Severn Robbins, of Hampton, Va.

Attorneys Ralph Mabie and William Pruitt told Circuit Judge Russell O. Morrow they wanted him to hear some testimony from Ross Anderson, assistant director of the state sheriff's bureau, before making his decision.

The judge agreed to wait until Anderson, who entered a hospital Sunday with pneumonia, is able to appear.

Mabie declined to say why Anderson's testimony is desired. Possibly, it would show how Holzapfel cooperated with the state in solving the mystery of the disappearance of Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth and his wife, Marjorie.

Holzapfel confessed last October that he threw the Chillingworths in the Atlantic Ocean June 15, 1955. He was the star witness against Joseph A. Peel Jr., convicted mastermind of the sensational murder plot.

At Peel's trial, State Atty. Phil O'Connell said Holzapfel signed his own death warrant by taking the witness stand.

However, since the jury's mercy recommendation gave Peel an automatic sentence of life imprisonment, there has been speculation that Holzapfel also may be spared the death penalty.

Cuba Invasion Planner Under U.S. Indictment

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Rolando Masferrer, one of ousted Cuban President Fulgencio Batista's most notorious aides, was indicted by a federal grand jury Monday on charges of sending a military expedition against the Cuban government of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Six other Cubans and one American were named as coconspirators with Masferrer but not as defendants. They were accused of outfitting an expedition that met with disaster on the north coast of Cuba last Oct. 4.

That 27-man landing force lost a few men in a battle with Castro troops but most of them were captured. Ten of them, including three Americans, were shot by firing squads and the rest were sentenced to long prison terms.

The Americans shot by firing squads were Robert Otis Fuller, and Anthony Zarba, both of Miami, and Dale Thompson, who had no known address.

Named in the indictment as coconspirators were Armentino Feria Perez, a Masferrer lieutenant killed in the landing attempt, Julio Fernandez Trevejo, Anselmo Alliegro, Frank Joseph Williams, Horacio Canizares, Santiago Alvarez and a man whose last name was given as Cartaya.

The indictment named Masferrer, Trevejo and Ferria as the main organizers of the expedition. Masferrer was accused of soliciting $2,000 from Alliegro, who served in the Cuban Senate with Masferrer under Batista.

The indictment specifically accuses Masferrer of violating the neutrality law.

Conviction of violating this law carries a maximum possible punishment of five years in prison and $10,000 fine or both.

Phouma Invited To U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Laotian neutralist leader Prince Souvanna Phouma has been invited to visit Washington about April 18, the State Department announced Monday. He is expected to meet personally with President Kennedy.

Russ Man-In-Space Rumors Discounted

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow's newsmen—Communist and Western alike—were kept on edge for hours Monday by rumors that the Soviets had launched a spaceman.

Then, while reporters were still glued to their radios awaiting an announcement, the official press spokesman at the Foreign Ministry threw a cold blanket on the whole thing by declaring he knew nothing about it.

Did something go amiss?

Are Soviet scientists holding up a statement until they get more information?

There was no answer to these questions at an early hour.

All that was certain was that foreign and Soviet Communist news and cameramen—who have sources of information closer to the official level than most Westerners—contributed to the rumors that gathered speed through the afternoon and evening.

A Soviet TV crew showed up at the Central Telegraph Office early in the afternoon and set up cameras to catch correspondents when they were expected to rush up with their copy.

The crew waited patiently, and finally one cameraman asked "where are the correspondents?"

A telegraph girl explained that since direct censorship was ended March 23, the correspondents no longer had to bring their copy to the telegraph office.

One correspondent who did show up asked a camera technician, "you here to shoot a picture about the spaceman reaction?"

"Wait until 3 o'clock," the crew member replied.

When 3 o'clock passed without an announcement, one of the half dozen technicians went to a telephone and reported back: "Wait until 4 o'clock."

But 4 o'clock passed, too, with no announcement.

One Communist correspondent already had telephoned his office in Rome that rumors were current the Soviets had launched a man in space.

Other Communist correspondents apparently had been advised, too, to stay close to their radios and telephones.

Official sources refused to comment on the rumors.

Rebels Launch New Viet Nam Terror Attacks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Communist Viet Cong rebels launched new terrorist attacks in rural areas Monday in a last-ditch effort to cut President Ngo Dinh Diem's margin of victory in Sunday's elections.

The anti-Communist president of this Southeast Asian republic was re-elected to a five-year term as expected. His opposition consisted of two political unknowns.

The Communists adopted a strategy of terror to keep voters away from the polls, but they called off their attacks without explanation on election day and the turnout was unexpectedly heavy. The government claimed 90 per cent of the 7.2 million voters cast ballots.

Late Monday the government said the rebels launched massive attacks in some remote areas, mostly in central Viet Nam, in an effort to prevent collecting of ballot boxes.

Helicopters ferried out ballot boxes in some areas where the Viet Cong had cut roads between polling places to district centers.

Diem's lowest margins were around Saigon where his two opponents campaigned hardest, and where there is a significant protest vote by the educated classes. They feel Diem is being too tough against the peasantry and stifling civil liberties in the name of anti-communism.

Nevertheless government officials said they were pleased at Diem's 63 per cent margin here in the capital.

Congolese Fire On U.N. Plane

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The Belgian radio said Monday night Congolese military guards opened fire on a United Nations plane attempting to land at Bakwanga airport in the diamond-mining state of South Kasai.

The radio, quoting the Congolese Press Agency, said a contingent of Indian U. N. troops was aboard the plane.

The agency said the Congolese soldiers opened fire on the plane as it swooped in to land.

They drove it off and the pilot had to return to the airfield he had departed from, said the agency.

This is the first report on an incident involving any of the Indian troops sent to the Congo to aid the United Nations operations there.

Bakwanga is the self-styled capital of the South Kasai Congo province, the diamond state set up by Baluba leader Albert Kalonji, who a few days ago was proclaimed king of the Baluba tribe.

$11.9 Billion Arms Bill Sets Record

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress was asked Monday to approve the largest single money authorization in history — 11.9 billion to provide new missiles, military planes and warships.

The bill was presented in behalf of the Kennedy administration by Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the House Armed Service Committee. The measure merely would authorize the outlays. The Pentagon would have to come back to Congress for the actual money.

Spare Eichmann's Life Is Plea Of Polish Refugee

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—In halting English, a Polish refugee who escaped the gas chambers of Adolf Eichmann pleaded that the Nazi's life be spared.

"We must stop the hate," she said in an interview with the Peoria Journal-Star.

"He should not be killed. Everyone should die at his own time, not when someone else says he should," she said.

Genia Seligman, 39, now of Peoria, was no stranger to hate and to people who died when someone else said they should.

Two months after the Germans rode into her native Polish town of Pabianice, near Warsaw, she and her Jewish family were forced to move to the local ghetto. Seventeen then, she spent the next six years in ghettoes, forced labor battalions and concentration camps.

Her mother and two brothers died in gas chambers. She suffered the loss of an eye in an accident while working in a German munitions factory.

But she insists that hanging Eichmann would only perpetuate hate.

"I am not for execution," Mrs. Seligman said, "but he can not be freed. He should be left to live and to feel sorry every day for everything he did. This is more important than to take away the life."

The war's end found her and her husband-to-be, Henry, in Camp Hasag, near Tschenstochau. After they were freed, they went to Berlin, where they finally received permission to emigrate to the United States four and a half years ago.

Kennedy Displays Surprisingly Good Arm In Opening 1961 Baseball Season

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's leading touch football player, John F. Kennedy, turned baseball pitcher Monday—and with surprisingly good results.

But his home team couldn't do quite so well, as Chicago edged Washington 4-3, after the President officially opened the 1961 season with a good, hard peg.

Many of the well-chilled fans began leaving the park after the visitors pulled ahead, 4-3, in the 8th inning. But Kennedy stayed to the bitter end although he did make a rare concession to the weather by putting on a hat. And he got back into a topcoat he'd shucked to do his pitching.

Usually at these opening game shindigs the players creep up toward the presidential box as if they were expecting a bunt.

But Kennedy crossed them up. His first peg bounced off the hands of two players, and was grabbed by Jim Rivera of the Chicago White Sox who was in the rear, usually the poorest spot of all.

The next presidential throw also was muffed. It, too, went farther than the ordinary presidential pitch. Finally it rested in the eager hands of Hal Woodeshick, pitcher for the Washington Senators, who wound up rolling on the ground, like a touch football player going after a fumble.

And so the new administration got the new season under way for the new Washington Senators, the old Senators having decamped for Minnesota.

The President proved an enthusiastic fan.

Washington got its first chance to cheer in the first inning. Gene Woodling hit a triple off the scoreboard, driving in two runs. Kennedy was on his feet applauding.

Although there were more Washington celebrities around than you could shake a "Who's Who" at, Kennedy sat between his old Boston friend, now a staff assistant in the White House office, Dave Powers, and E. R. (Pete) Quesada, president of the Senators. Quesada was a high official, federal aviation administrator, during the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration.

All in all, it was an unusual day in several respects. The weather, for one thing. It had rained steadily since Sunday noon and this morning was damp and chilly.

But shortly before Kennedy arrived the skies cleared, and though it was windy and the temperature was 48 it was far pleasanter than anyone anticipated.

Collision Sinks Boat; Four Feared Dead

NEW YORK (UPI)—The 9,684-ton freighter "South African Pioneer" and a 200-ton fishing boat collided in fog 35 miles off the New Jersey coast early Monday, sinking the smaller vessel. One man was killed and three others feared drowned.

The only known survivor of the five-man crew of the fishing boat "Powhatan" was the skipper, Severn Robbins, of Hampton, Va.

Scientists Suggest Modern Drugs May Be Aging Young Adults' Blood Vessels

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Modern, life-saving drugs may be tied to the recent rise among young adults of a disease usually noted among the aging, scientists suggested Monday.

The disease is atherosclerosis—the so-called hardening or thickening of the arteries that makes the heart work extra hard to supply your body with blood. It can cause heart attacks.

Rabbits, injected with a sulfa drug, developed inflammation in the blood vessel walls. When the inflammation healed, the blood vessels became thickened and atherosclerotic.

It suggests that certain drugs may cause similar reactions in blood vessels of oversensitive humans, and such a possibility should be investigated, said Dr. Otto Saphir of Michael Reese Medical Center, Chicago.

It would help to explain the rise in the past 20 years of atherosclerosis in the under-40 age group.

Ideally, the inner walls of the arteries that supply blood through the body should be smooth.

In atherosclerotic patients, the arteries are lined with plaques—tough, fibrous accumulations of tissue. Some investigators feel that the primary cause of these plaques is the accumulation of cholesterol, a blood fat that is part of the everyday diet.

But Drs. Saphir, Massoumeh Telischi and Leonard Ohringer investigated the possibility of drug sensitivity as a cause.

They made 50 rabbits hypersensitive by injecting them repeatedly with sulfathiazole, Dr. Saphir told a meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Of the 36 rabbits that lived for eight months, there were blood vessel changes in 31. The arteries were inflammed and the fibrous plaques of atherosclerosis had begun to form.

After the animals had been taken off the drugs the healed arteries could be described as atherosclerotic.

Wife Fined $56 For Giving Young Rival Crewcut

LONDON (AP)—Doris Jay, 40, was fined 20 pounds—$56—on an assault charge Monday for giving a crewcut to a 19-year-old servant girl who had been frisky with her husband. A police officer testified Mrs. Jay fired the girl, Miss Maria Consoli, but when a few days later the girl returned to the Jay home to collect her clothes "Mrs. Jay sat her down in a chair and cut off her hair."

4-Year-Old Boy Drowns In Pond

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP)—A 4-year-old boy drowned Monday when he apparently fell into a private pond on property near his home.

Howard County Police said the victim, Michael Kelly, was playing near the 12-foot by 12-foot pond with other children when he fell in. His body was recovered 45 minutes later.

The pond, seven feet deep, is spring fed and overflows into a swimming pool.

Russ Newsman Violates U.S. Travel Curbs

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Oleg Kalugin, New York correspondent for Radio Moscow, appeared in Pittsburgh Monday night at a Westinghouse communications seminar without State Department authorization.

Pittsburgh is on the list of U.S. areas closed to Russians in retaliation for travel restrictions against Americans in Russia.

Kalugin told newsmen at the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. conference that he arrived in Pittsburgh Sunday with the "understanding" that he could go any where in the United States as long as he informed the State Department 48 hours ahead of time.

The State Department in Washington said Kalugin's trip to Pittsburgh was in violation of U. S. regulations. It said a State Department representative in Pittsburgh had told the Russian correspondent to leave but that it had not decided what further action to take.

An American correspondent in Russia who violated travel regulations most likely would be arrested and ordered to leave the country.

The State Department said in Washington that the Soviet Embassy failed to follow up on a U. S. offer to waive travel restrictions so Kalugin could visit Pittsburgh.

"But we never heard further from the Soviet Embassy so the waiver was never issued," a spokesman said.

When Kalugin appeared at the Hilton Hotel Monday night where the conference is being held, Westinghouse officials told him they believed he was here without authorization.

"It is a very unhappy situation" Kalugin said. "I'm sorry but what else can I do."

NYC Renews Merger Attack

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Central Railroad Monday stepped up its attack on the proposed merger of the Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio railroads.

It plugged instead for a strong, balanced, competitive two-system railroad service in the East, one anchored on the NYC and including the B&O and C&O and the other on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

"If haphazard self-serving C&O-B&O type mergers continue, there can be only one result. Carriers arbitrarily excluded from such mergers will be driven into bankruptcy. The shipping and traveling public will be the losers," the Central said in a statement.

The NYC sent its message over the 11 states it serves in a 150,000 press run pamphlet entitled, in red, "How About the Public?"

They were distributed on trains and at stations, and mailed to public officials, shippers and stockholders.

They probably will be mailed later to B&O and C&O shareowners.

The C&O countered with a statement of its own, saying it is entirely content to leave the decision regarding a merger to the Interstate Commerce Commission, which has set June 19 for a hearing.

Funeral Services Set For Plane Victims

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — Funeral services for two men killed in the crash of a light plane on Assateague Island Sunday will be held from the same church here this week.

Last rites for Ted Purnell, 33, will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday from St. Paul's Episcopal Church By the Sea. Services for State Police Trooper 1.c. Arthur W. Plummer, 36, will be held at the same time Thursday.

Both men will be buried at Evergreen Cemetery at Berlin.

The two men, both residents of Ocean City, died when their plane crashed on takeoff. The plane apparently hit power lines as it left the ground.

B52 Survivor Parachuted Through Sheet Of Flame

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—A survivor from the B52 bomber shot down Friday told Monday how he ejected himself from the stricken aircraft through a sheet of flame.

S. Sgt. Ray Singleton, 27, Havre de Grace, Md., was the tail gunner on the B52 struck by a Sidewinder missile from an F100 Air National Guard jet over western New Mexico.

He was in the rearmost section of the bomber when the missile hit the left wing. Singleton suffered burns on his hands and over his face. His wife, Gloria, a resident of El Paso, Tex., appeared with him during a brief interview Monday at Sandia base hospital.

Five bomber crewmen were rescued. Three others were killed. Their bodies were recovered from the wreckage and returned to Albuquerque Sunday.

The sergeant said the first he knew of the accident was when he heard a muffled explosion.

"The plane made a steep bank to the left and flames started coming back. I could not see the left wing at all," Singleton said.

The B52 "assumed a nose-down position" after the explosion.

He said he jettisoned the tail-gunners' bubble, then ejected himself in his parachute. There was some flame inside his compartment which he assumed was sucked in during the loss of pressure, Singleton said.

"I was in clouds from the time I left the aircraft until the time I touched down, and I did not see any other chutes at all," Singleton said.

"I landed in a tree. After I got down, I just more or less stood around to collect my thoughts. I started flexing my arms and legs to see that I wasn't hurt."

The sergeant said it was snowing and foggy and he could not see far.

Singleton started walking and soon heard someone yelling.

"I yelled back and asked if he could help me. He answered, 'No, I'm hurt myself.'"

The two men kept yelling at each other to determine direction and Singleton located Capt. Donald C. Blodgett, 39, Kalamazoo.

Singleton found a large rock and more solid ground nearby and helped Blodgett move to the shelter.

The sergeant pulled Capt. Blodgett's parachute over to the rocks and devised a shelter to block off the wind and snow.

The snow continued for 30 to 45 minutes, then the skies cleared. He heard aircraft overhead and saw a helicopter flying along a ridge two or three miles away.

Another snow flurry hit and, when it cleared, Singleton saw a helicopter and two T33 jets flying circles over the area. One of these passed directly over the two men, but the pilot apparently did not see them.

Then, one of the T33s flew over and the pilot rocked the wings to indicate he had spotted the men on the ground. A short time later a helicopter picked the two up.

Storms Plague Northeast Area

By The Associated Press

Stormy weather plagued the country's northeast sector Monday with snow, sleet, rain, cold and high winds.

A wintry cold strip extended from the north and central Rockies to New England with midday readings in the 30s and 40s. There was light snowfall from Utah to North Dakota.

Two converging storms stirred up the testiest weather. One, weakening, drifted eastward from Pennsylvania. The other, intensifying, drove northward off the New Jersey coast.

The snow clung to power and telephone lines, snapping many. Traffic was slowed in many places, but roads were kept open. Rain associated with this storm extended eastward fror.. Ohio and merged with windswept downpours in the middle Seaboard area.

As much as 3 inches of rain fell in New Jersey. High seas and tides lashed the coast.

Minors Seized In Dance Raid Not Charged

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — The Dorchester County prosecutor said Monday no charges will be brought against 16 minors arrested Saturday night during a dance at a Veterans of Foreign Wars home near here.

State's Atty. C. Burnam Mace said the youngsters were taken into custody under a law aimed at preventing minors from loitering on premises where alcoholic beverages are served.

He said the law is designed to protect the children, not prosecute them. He said the intent of the law is to allow police officers to tell the operators of establishments involved to "get this juvenile out of here or we'll bring charges."

Tawes Harper, 45, of Cambridge, a member of the VFW committee in charge of the dance, was booked on an open charge Saturday, but Mace said he did not know whether any charge would be placed against him. "To date, we have no evidence," he said.

Still pending is the case of James Ayler, 33, charged with disorderly conduct as a result of the raid.

Harper and Ayler were released on bail. The minors also posted $25 collateral each, but presumably that money will be returned.

The 16 minors — 10 girls and 6 boys between 17 and 20 years old — were taken into custody when Sheriff Calvert C. Creighton, his deputies and State Police raided the VFW home shortly before midnight. About 75 persons were attending the weekly dance.

The first balloons were launched in 1783.

Frederick family discovers telephone saves $9.55— gives 11 hours extra time— in two-week period

Linda Barrick enjoys her turn to talk with Dad, who's out-of-town on business.

Mrs. Samuel Barrick, at our request, recently completed a two-week "diary" of all her family's telephone calls. Where appropriate, she also estimated the amounts of time, traveling and money saved, by being able to phone.

At the end of two weeks, the Barricks' savings totaled $9.55, 11 hours and 214 miles of traveling!

Mrs. Barrick goes on to say that, in addition to these savings, "Some things just couldn't have been done if we didn't have a telephone . . . we'd certainly be lost without it."

Perhaps you'd like to see what your telephone does for you. Chances are you'll find, like Mrs. Barrick, that your telephone service gives much more than it costs.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—A survivor from the B52 bomber shot down Friday told Monday how he ejected himself from the stricken aircraft through a sheet of flame.

S. Sgt. Ray Singleton, 27, Havre de Grace, Md., was the tail gunner on the B52 struck by a Sidewinder missile from an F100 Air National Guard jet over western New Mexico.

He was in the rearmost section of the bomber when the missile hit the left wing. Singleton suffered burns on his hands and over his face. His wife, Gloria, a resident of El Paso, Tex., appeared with him during a brief interview Monday at Sandia base hospital.

Five bomber crewmen were rescued. Three others were killed. Their bodies were recovered from the wreckage and returned to Albuquerque Sunday.

The sergeant said the first he knew of the accident was when he heard a muffled explosion.

"The plane made a steep bank to the left and flames started coming back. I could not see the left wing at all," Singleton said.

The B52 "assumed a nose-down position" after the explosion.

He said he jettisoned the tail-gunners' bubble, then ejected himself in his parachute. There was some flame inside his compartment which he assumed was sucked in during the loss of pressure, Singleton said.

"I was in clouds from the time I left the aircraft until the time I touched down, and I did not see any other chutes at all," Singleton said.

"I landed in a tree. After I got down, I just more or less stood around to collect my thoughts. I started flexing my arms and legs to see that I wasn't hurt."

The sergeant said it was snowing and foggy and he could not see far.

Singleton started walking and soon heard someone yelling.

"I yelled back and asked if he could help me. He answered, 'No, I'm hurt myself.'"

The two men kept yelling at each other to determine direction and Singleton located Capt. Donald C. Blodgett, 39, Kalamazoo.

Singleton found a large rock and more solid ground nearby and helped Blodgett move to the shelter.

The sergeant pulled Capt. Blodgett's parachute over to the rocks and devised a shelter to block off the wind and snow.

The snow continued for 30 to 45 minutes, then the skies cleared. He heard aircraft overhead and saw a helicopter flying along a ridge two or three miles away.

Another snow flurry hit and, when it cleared, Singleton saw a helicopter and two T33 jets flying circles over the area. One of these passed directly over the two men, but the pilot apparently did not see them.

Then, one of the T33s flew over and the pilot rocked the wings to indicate he had spotted the men on the ground. A short time later a helicopter picked the two up.

Storms Plague Northeast Area

By The Associated Press

Stormy weather plagued the country's northeast sector Monday with snow, sleet, rain, cold and high winds.

A wintry cold strip extended from the north and central Rockies to New England with midday readings in the 30s and 40s. There was light snowfall from Utah to North Dakota.

Two converging storms stirred up the testiest weather. One, weakening, drifted eastward from Pennsylvania. The other, intensifying, drove northward off the New Jersey coast.

The snow clung to power and telephone lines, snapping many. Traffic was slowed in many places, but roads were kept open. Rain associated with this storm extended eastward fror.. Ohio and merged with windswept downpours in the middle Seaboard area.

As much as 3 inches of rain fell in New Jersey. High seas and tides lashed the coast.

Minors Seized In Dance Raid Not Charged

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — The Dorchester County prosecutor said Monday no charges will be brought against 16 minors arrested Saturday night during a dance at a Veterans of Foreign Wars home near here.

State's Atty. C. Burnam Mace said the youngsters were taken into custody under a law aimed at preventing minors from loitering on premises where alcoholic beverages are served.

He said the law is designed to protect the children, not prosecute them. He said the intent of the law is to allow police officers to tell the operators of establishments involved to "get this juvenile out of here or we'll bring charges."

Tawes Harper, 45, of Cambridge, a member of the VFW committee in charge of the dance, was booked on an open charge Saturday, but Mace said he did not know whether any charge would be placed against him. "To date, we have no evidence," he said.

Still pending is the case of James Ayler, 33, charged with disorderly conduct as a result of the raid.

Harper and Ayler were released on bail. The minors also posted $25 collateral each, but presumably that money will be returned.

The 16 minors — 10 girls and 6 boys between 17 and 20 years old — were taken into custody when Sheriff Calvert C. Creighton, his deputies and State Police raided the VFW home shortly before midnight. About 75 persons were attending the weekly dance.

The first balloons were launched in 1783.

Sewer Gas Fires

BALTIMORE (AP) — Exploding sewer gas touched off fires in three Baltimore homes Monday, but damage was slight.

Frederick family discovers telephone saves $9.55— gives 11 hours extra time— in two-week period

Linda Barrick enjoys her turn to talk with Dad, who's out-of-town on business.

Mrs. Samuel Barrick, at our request, recently completed a two-week "diary" of all her family's telephone calls. Where appropriate, she also estimated the amounts of time, traveling and money saved, by being able to phone.

At the end of two weeks, the Barricks' savings totaled $9.55, 11 hours and 214 miles of traveling!

Mrs. Barrick goes on to say that, in addition to these savings, "Some things just couldn't have been done if we didn't have a telephone . . . we'd certainly be lost without it."

Perhaps you'd like to see what your telephone does for you. Chances are you'll find, like Mrs. Barrick, that your telephone service gives much more than it costs.

Post Office Dept. Will Boost Payroll

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department has announced plans to add 10,000 regular employes to its payroll by limiting the hours substitute employes can work.

Substitute workers will be limited to 40 to 44 hours a week, effective July 1, according to an order issued by Postmaster General J. Edward Day. Regular career employes are limited to an 80-hour bi-weekly paycheck.

He said the move was aimed at providing more regular jobs by sharing employment among more persons rather than paying higher salaries to some substitutes.

Most of the jobs, the postmaster said, would be filled from existing civil service registers of job eligibles.

The department said that while its list showed the ultimate in jobs that could be created by elimination of overtime by part-time workers, practical reasons would limit the total of new jobs to about 50 per cent of the potential.

The list of potential positions, not broken down by the 50 per cent guide, included:

Maryland 318, West Virginia 48, Pennsylvania 1,855, Virginia 312, and the District of Columbia 412.

Pair Charged In Reported Abortion Ring

BEL AIR, Md. (AP) — State police said Monday they have charged a Baltimore County man and a Washington woman in connection with an investigation of an alleged interstate abortion ring.

Baltimore county authorities indicated the group was apparently drawing customers from New York and Washington as well as local areas. The ring is said to be based in Maryland.

Lt. W. T. Hanley of the Bel Air barracks, State Police, identified the arrested persons as T. Evelyn Enten, 36, of Washington and Gurney O. Leatherwood, 25, of Borning in the Reisterstown area of Baltimore County.

Officers arrested them Saturday, the lieutenant said, and they charged the pair under a law forbidding both the act of abortion and aiding or abetting it.

Hanley said Harford County State's Attorney Harry E. Dyer Jr. ordered him not to release further information because of a pending investigation.

But Baltimore County police earlier had announced the arrest Saturday of eight persons wanted for questioning.

Leatherwood and the Enten woman have been released under $750 bail, police said.

Lakes Above Crest

Lake Gordon is .5 feet above the crest of the spillway and Lake Koon .2 feet above, a report by Ray Nixon, foreman at the Lake Gordon water plant, showed yesterday. Consumption for the week ending Sunday was 94,360,000 gallons compared to 78,390,000 the same period a year ago.

Maryland News In Brief

CENTREVILLE, Md. (AP) — Funeral services will be held Wednesday for Miss Bertha Gertrude Durney, 74, a retired state employe and a long-time Maryland newspaper woman.

Miss Durney died Sunday at Easton Memorial Hospital after a short illness. She worked 26 years at Annapolis with the Traffic Safety Commission and the State Parole Board, retiring in 1956. She was associated with the Centreville Observer for 36 years.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Charles B Allen of Baltimore County was reappointed Monday by Gov. Tawes to a three-year term as chairman of the State Aviation Commission. It will be Allen's third term.

BALTIMORE (AP) — State Police held two teen-age boys Monday in the investigation of a two-car smash-up in which a Baltimore City policeman was injured seriously.

The patrolman, Joseph Denisio, suffered a fractured back vertebrae and a possible skull fracture Sunday when his car was struck by an automobile being chased by a state trooper.

State Police at the scene of the accident arrested a 13-year-old Pennsylvania boy and a 14-year-old companion who were in the car which collided with the one driven by Denisio, who was not involved in the chase.

The two boys were held as juveniles pending further investigation. State trooper R. W. George said the car, driven by the 13-year-old, had been stolen at Burlington, N.J.

State's 1961 Traffic Toll Mounts To 88

By The Associated Press

Maryland's 1961 traffic death toll climbed to 88 as the result of accidents in the state last weekend, 54 under the number recorded at the same time a year ago.

The last person killed during the weekend was Robert L. Hall III of Upper Marlboro, who died Sunday night when his car overturned and struck a concrete abutment off Maryland 4 in Prince Georges County.

Mrs. John Hafer, Jr., Heads Newcomers Club

The Newcomers Club held its annual spring luncheon Saturday at the Cumberland Country Club. The tables were decorated in the spring motif using pastel colored tulips and daffodils, and matching nut baskets. Covers were laid for 130.

Mrs. Robert Wilkens presided and welcomed the group. During a brief session Mrs. Robert Wood was elected recording secretary to replace Mrs. Paul O'Hara, who is leaving town. Mrs. Wilkens thanked her officers and committees and introduced Mrs. John Hafer, Jr., the new president, who spoke briefly. She then introduced her officers and chairmen.

Serving with Mrs. Hafer are Mrs. Donald Loomis, vice president; Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Stanley Oleynick, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jack Fink, Mrs. Charles Rosseau, assistant corresponding secretaries, and Mrs. Jesse Haws, treasurer.

Chairmen are Mrs. Joseph Marbible, membership, assisted by Mrs. Neale Connor, Mrs. John Bushby, Mrs. R. M. Johnson; Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. Carl Coen, hospitality; Mrs. Robert Horn, publicity; Mrs. William Patterson, housing; Mrs. Willard Green, hostess; Mrs. Thomas Kahl, sunshine; Mrs. G. A. Younkins, Mrs. LeRoy Avers, Mrs. Robert Alshire, Mrs. Marc Uischner, ways and means.

Mrs. Maribile and Mrs. Younkins are in charge of the 500 group; Mrs. Connor and Mrs. Avers, bridge; Mrs. Bushby, Mrs. Alshire, canasta; Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Uischner, bowling.

Recognition was paid to Mrs. Eula Jamison who is starting her 22nd year as hostess of the club. She spoke briefly then presented gifts to the retiring officers. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Wilda Wortz, Mrs. E. B. Sebastian, Mrs. Kenneth King, Mrs. James Hosack, Mrs. W. E. Lindberg, Mrs. Kahl, Mrs. J. Wesley Utterbach, Mrs. Donald Finnerty and Mrs. Kenneth McFerren. Cards were played following the luncheon and prizes awarded at each table.

Mrs. Thomas Renz and Mrs. K. P. LaPeyre were cochairmen of arrangements. They were assisted by Mrs. Jay N. Cale, Jr., Mrs. John Laflin, Mrs. Darrell Diehl, Mrs. R. E. Steeper, Mrs. John Bonyata and Mrs. H. M. Drew.

The May meeting will be at the Bowling Green fire hall.

Day Camp Board To Plan Season

The officers, board members and committee chairmen of the Cumberland Country Club Day Camp will have a luncheon meeting April 13, at 12:15. Plans for the season will be outlined. Mrs. Robert Petersen will preside.

Dr. Walters To Discuss Medico

Dr. Hilda J. Walters will give an illustrated talk of her work with Medico, in Jeremie, Haiti, tonight, sponsored by the Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club. It will be at 7:30 in the green room at the YMCA.

A graduate of the University of Florida and the Medical College of Virginia, Dr. Walters moved to Frostburg to practice medicine, surgery and obstetrics, the summer of 1941, after serving internship at Richmond and the New York Infirmary for Women and Children. She became affiliated with Medico in October 1960.

Representatives of various clubs have been invited to attend. Anyone interested in attending is asked to call any member of the BPW.

Helen Mae Kreiling Is Bride Of Hugh Watson

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Kreiling, Sr., 516 Riehl Avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Helen Mae Kreiling, to Hugh Watson, son of Mrs. John Watson, 21 Pendleton Road, Fredericksburg, Va.

The ceremony was solemnized at 7 p. m., March 25, in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, with Rev. John F Sammel officiating. Arrangements of white chrysanthemums, palms and standard candelabras of lighted tapers were used in the decorations.

Miss LeAnnah Matthews was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant. Howard Watson served as his brother's best man, while John A. Kreiling, Jr., and James P. Kreiling, brothers of the bride, were the ushers. Richard Main played the traditional wedding marches, and accompanied Mrs. Francis Verdery, who sang Bach's "My Heart Ever Faithful," and "Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a champagne colored, street length, dress of silk organza and Chantilly lace, fashioned with full skirt, three quarter length sleeves and small Peter Pan collar. With it she wore a champagne colored organza headpiece with veil just covering the eyes. She carried a white Bible covered with four green orchids and satin streamers.

Her attendant wore a Nile green, street length dress of nylon and lace, with full skirt and scoop neckline. She had a matching headpiece with veil and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. Kreiling chose a Navy blue Chantilly lace and crepe dress, fashioned with a side drape, for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Watson selected a Navy blue crepe. Both had white orchid corsages.

A graduate of Allegany High School and Frostburg State Teachers College, the bride is president of Xi Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, and a member of Cumberland Chapter, OES and the Ladies Shrine Club.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Beall High School, class of 1942 and member of Mountain Lodge No. 99, A.F.A.M., organist at the Ferry Farm Baptist Church and is computer operator and supervisor at the United States Weapons Laboratory, Dahlgren, Va.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The five-tiered wedding cake was surrounded by white mums and fern. The bridal table and family table were decorated with silver candelabra and white flower centerpieces. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Alvin Kreiling, Mrs. Leslie Kreiling, Mrs. Walter Close, aunts of the bride; Miss Margaret Smith, Miss Ethel Thayer and Miss Patricia Golden.

For their wedding trip to New York City, the bride wore a Navy blue needlepoint suit, with red Cashmere coat and white flowered hat, Navy and white accessories and her corsage of orchids. In June they will make their home at 21 Pendleton Road, Fredericksburg.

Out of town guests included Ollie Kreiling, Cleveland, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Alexander, Mrs. Thelma Floto, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. Albert Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harvey, Fredericksburg; Mr. and Mrs. John Hansel, Arlington, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bell, Ellicott City; Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Weaver, Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. Edward Freal, Canton, Ohio; Robert Clapp, Sr., Frederick, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Kreiling, Arlington.

District EUB Training Conference Set Thursday

A district officers training conference for Women's Society of World Service of the EUB churches of the Cumberland-Keyser area will be held Thursday. It will be from 10 a. m., until 3:30 p. m., in the Ridgeley church. The theme of the conference is "Leadership Education."

The morning devotions will be led by Mrs. Mary Fisher, Romney, using the topic, "Leadership Everybody's Job." The purpose of the day will be given by Mrs. Paul Kirk, Keyser, district leader. Other officers attending are Mrs. Floyd L. Fulk, Broadway, Va., president of the Virginia branch, WSWS; Mrs. Lloyd S. Bowman, Manassas, Va., vice president, and Mrs. Paul Slonaker, Winchester, Va., secretary of Christian social relations.

Mrs. E. E. Miller of First church, city, will be the speaker on the emphasis of the day, "Freeing of Resources and Training of Christian Women for More Effective Group Leadership."

A "training storm session" on the problem of finding and training leaders will be led by Mrs. Fulk. Anyone attending the conference is asked to submit ideas on recruiting new leaders. The morning session will be summarized by Mrs. Harold Bishop of Calvary church, Keyser.

The afternoon session will open at 1, with prayer led by Miss Katherine Biggs, Westernport church. A "Special Promotional Tools and Resources" including plan of work for 1961-62 will be presented by Mrs. Fulk, followed by a question and answer period. Work group leaders will be Mrs. Lloyd Bowman on "Leadership Technique;" and Mrs. Paul Sloniker, "Christian Social Relations." The latter also will give the closing summary and prayer of dedication. There will be an exhibit of new books.

Local society officers, circle leaders and officers and pastors are invited to attend the one day conference. All are asked to bring a box lunch for noon. The host church will serve a hot beverage.

Mrs. John Hafer, Jr., Heads Newcomers Club

The Newcomers Club held its annual spring luncheon Saturday at the Cumberland Country Club. The tables were decorated in the spring motif using pastel colored tulips and daffodils, and matching nut baskets. Covers were laid for 130.

Mrs. Robert Wilkens presided and welcomed the group. During a brief session Mrs. Robert Wood was elected recording secretary to replace Mrs. Paul O'Hara, who is leaving town. Mrs. Wilkens thanked her officers and committees and introduced Mrs. John Hafer, Jr., the new president, who spoke briefly. She then introduced her officers and chairmen.

Serving with Mrs. Hafer are Mrs. Donald Loomis, vice president; Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Stanley Oleynick, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jack Fink, Mrs. Charles Rosseau, assistant corresponding secretaries, and Mrs. Jesse Haws, treasurer.

Chairmen are Mrs. Joseph Maribile, membership, assisted by Mrs. Neale Connor, Mrs. John Bushby, Mrs. R. M. Johnson; Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. Carl Coen, hospitality; Mrs. Robert Horn, publicity; Mrs. William Patterson, housing; Mrs. Willard Green, hostess; Mrs. Thomas Kahl, sunshine; Mrs. G. A. Younkins, Mrs. LeRoy Avers, Mrs. Robert Alshire, Mrs. Marc Uischner, ways and means.

Mrs. Maribile and Mrs. Younkins are in charge of the 500 group; Mrs. Connor and Mrs. Avers, bridge; Mrs. Bushby, Mrs. Alshire, canasta; Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Uischner, bowling.

Recognition was paid to Mrs. Eula Jamison who is starting her 22nd year as hostess of the club. She spoke briefly then presented gifts to the retiring officers. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Wilda Wortz, Mrs. E. B. Sebastian, Mrs. Kenneth King, Mrs. James Hosack, Mrs. W. E. Lindberg, Mrs. Kahl, Mrs. J. Wesley Utterbach, Mrs. Donald Finnerty and Mrs. Kenneth McFerren. Cards were played following the luncheon and prizes awarded at each table.

Mrs. Thomas Renz and Mrs. K. P. LaPeyre were cochairmen of arrangements. They were assisted by Mrs. Jay N. Cale, Jr., Mrs. John Laflin, Mrs. Darrell Diehl, Mrs. R. E. Steeper, Mrs. John Bonyata and Mrs. H. M. Drew.

The May meeting will be at the Bowling Green fire hall.

Day Camp Board To Plan Season

The officers, board members and committee chairmen of the Cumberland Country Club Day Camp will have a luncheon meeting April 13, at 12:15. Plans for the season will be outlined. Mrs. Robert Petersen will preside.

Dr. Walters To Discuss Medico

Dr. Hilda J. Walters will give an illustrated talk of her work with Medico, in Jeremie, Haiti, tonight, sponsored by the Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club. It will be at 7:30 in the green room at the YMCA.

A graduate of the University of Florida and the Medical College of Virginia, Dr. Walters moved to Frostburg to practice medicine, surgery and obstetrics, the summer of 1941, after serving internship at Richmond and the New York Infirmary for Women and Children. She became affiliated with Medico in October 1960.

Representatives of various clubs have been invited to attend. Anyone interested in attending is asked to call any member of the BPW.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I read your recent plug for late motherhood my ulcer began acting up for the first time in months.

I was a "late dividend" as you called it, and let me tell you how it looks from here. We invariably lose our fathers before we enter high school. They die of old age. We are then left with a neurotic mother who lavishes all her devotion on "her baby." We never know a grandparent because they all die long before we are born. Our widowed mother does not associate with the mothers of our friends because there is a generation between them.

If we should want to marry (provided we are not too emotionally crippled for such a mature venture) we are too guilt ridden to leave Mama alone, so we move in with her or ask her to move in with us. This is catastrophic, as your column often points out.

Please, Ann, advocate motherhood in its natural period. God knew what He was doing when He planned it that way.—O.W.K.

DEAR O.W.K.: Wouldn't you rather be born late than never?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a nurse who has always been able to cope with patient problems, but this one has me baffled.

My patient is a woman 30 years old. Her parents are no longer living and she has considerable inherited wealth. I'm aware she's slightly off her rocker, but it is my professional responsibility to take care of her physical needs.

Four years ago she declared herself officially engaged to a Hollywood star. She bought herself an expensive diamond ring and told everyone it was from him. When his movies appear in the local movie house she parks herself down there from early afternoon till the last show.

She used to write him mushy letters but lately the letters have become obscene. I'm sure the letters get only so far as his secretary but I feel guilty standing by and permitting her to mail such trash. There's nothing I can do as she insists on reading the letters to me and dropping them into the box herself.

What do you suggest?—WHITE CAP

DEAR WHITE CAP: All public figures get some trashy mail, and you can be sure that it hits the waste basket the moment a hint of obscenity becomes apparent.

If you want to help this woman, please tell her physician about her irrational behavior. She needs a head doctor to improve her mental health as well as a nurse to care for her physical needs.

DEAR ANN: Several of us girls (all 16 and 17) were having a hen session. Some of the gals think it is all right to walk arm in arm down the street, or in the halls at school, with a boy friend if you are in love. Also they said a little quiet kissing in the movies (not necking) is O.K.

I think this looks cheap. I was called square and they said I'd probably feel different if I had a steady fellow (which I don't).

What do you think about this?—ALL ALONE

DEAR ALL: Couples who hang on to one another, kiss in movies (if THIS isn't necking, what is?) and give other public demonstrations of affection don't prove they're in love, they prove only that they have no manners.

If a boy has genuine respect for a girl he'll keep his hands off her in public. If she has any respect for herself she's insist on it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO REDDY TEDDY: I hope you are "reddy" for plenty of trouble. The girl is under age and her father can do plenty.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Under That Pill-Box, Prettier Hair

Small hats are back — crowned high or low, wide-brimmed or brimless — ticketed to be tip-tilted over tresses that want to show off their more elegant arrangements. But the pill-box will be but a bitter pill if it is perched on parched, passive hair.

Hair treatments now will tell later. Start right away to cure whatever winter climate may have done to your cherished curls.

If you have spent the winter in a warm climate . . . and that means an outdoor climate, not the steam-heated variety . . . you have had to shampoo your hair oftener to combat the effects of airborne dirt and perspiration.

Or was yours a cold and snowy season? Then your hair has become flatter, less pliable, more liable to be full of electricity. And dry. Most indoor heating systems, without added humidification, take their moisture where they find it. Skin and hair are favorite sources.

It would seem, then, that your winter climate — warm or cold — needs just one simple cure — hard work with a hairbrush, to stimulate those natural oil glands in your scalp.

Then, taming your hair with any of the compounds containing oil or lanolin. Try those cream rinses, those cream dressings. Once a week, hide your well-oiled head under a steaming hot towel.

If your hair remains a problem, it may be that a new hairdo will solve the puzzle. With self-study or a professional hair stylist, give some serious thought to cutting or non-cutting, to more frequent, less haphazard permanenting. Try this hint on for head-size: A short hair-style is happiest in warm climates. (Why? It needs care oftener . . . and it's quicker and easier to care for!)

So, however your new hat hangs over your head, be sure you head first for prettier hair.

Opening lead: King of ♠

The doctrine of second hand low, like all the prescribed rules of play, is a sound general practice, but it must be tempered by good judgment on the field of battle if the aspiring player ever hopes to become a seasoned campaigner. East subjected his side to a staggering loss in today's hand when he failed to apply his own reasoning powers to the situation that confronted him.

The bidding is not recommended. North took charge of the proceedings and virtually forced a slam on his partner, although the strength of South's holding had not been determined. North's opening bid of two no trump was quite sound, but the three heart response indicates nothing more than a desire to reach game. It would have been sufficient at this point for North to offer a raise to four hearts, for he has already announced his 22 points. Therefore, it may be left to partner's own initiative whether or not to move toward a slam.

Although South appeared a bit reluctant to go places, repeated prodding by North finally induced him to bid the slam. East doubled for the lead of dummy's first bid side suit, clubs, and South, with beleated enthusiasm, redoubled.

West decided to ignore his partner's injunction to lead a club. instead, he selected the king of spades for his opening. Declarer played low from the dummy and ruffed in his own hand. It was apparent to him from East's double that the club finesse would fail and, unless his opponent held a blank ace of trumps, it would be necessary to resort to a bit of subtlety to retrieve his prospects.

South accordingly played the jack of diamonds at trick two, hoping to give the impression that he was planning a finesse. He went up with the ace and returned a low heart. East unthinkingly played the five and declarer's nine held the trick. Next a diamond was led to the king and the ace of spades was cashed on which a club was discarded. South ruffed the last spade and played the queen of diamonds exhausting all hands of that suit.

The lead of a trump now saddled East with the unpleasant burden of either giving declarer a ruff and slough or a free finesse. Had he gone up with the ace of trumps earlier, the five of hearts would have presented a most convenient means of exit.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I read your recent plug for late motherhood my ulcer began acting up for the first time in months.

I was a "late dividend" as you called it, and let me tell you how it looks from here. We invariably lose our fathers before we enter high school. They die of old age. We are then left with a neurotic mother who lavishes all her devotion on "her baby." We never know a grandparent because they all die long before we are born. Our widowed mother does not associate with the mothers of our friends because there is a generation between them.

If we should want to marry (provided we are not too emotionally crippled for such a mature venture) we are too guilt ridden to leave Mama alone, so we move in with her or ask her to move in with us. This is catastrophic, as your column often points out.

Please, Ann, advocate motherhood in its natural period. God knew what He was doing when He planned it that way.—O.W.K.

DEAR O.W.K.: Wouldn't you rather be born late than never?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a nurse who has always been able to cope with patient problems, but this one has me baffled.

My patient is a woman 30 years old. Her parents are no longer living and she has considerable inherited wealth. I'm aware she's slightly off her rocker, but it is my professional responsibility to take care of her physical needs.

Four years ago she declared herself officially engaged to a Hollywood star. She bought herself an expensive diamond ring and told everyone it was from him. When his movies appear in the local movie house she parks herself down there from early afternoon till the last show.

She used to write him mushy letters but lately the letters have become obscene. I'm sure the letters get only so far as his secretary but I feel guilty standing by and permitting her to mail such trash. There's nothing I can do as she insists on reading the letters to me and dropping them into the box herself.

What do you suggest?—WHITE CAP

DEAR WHITE CAP: All public figures get some trashy mail, and you can be sure that it hits the waste basket the moment a hint of obscenity becomes apparent.

If you want to help this woman, please tell her physician about her irrational behavior. She needs a head doctor to improve her mental health as well as a nurse to care for her physical needs.

DEAR ANN: Several of us girls (all 16 and 17) were having a hen session. Some of the gals think it is all right to walk arm in arm down the street, or in the halls at school, with a boy friend if you are in love. Also they said a little quiet kissing in the movies (not necking) is O.K.

I think this looks cheap. I was called square and they said I'd probably feel different if I had a steady fellow (which I don't).

What do you think about this?—ALL ALONE

DEAR ALL: Couples who hang on to one another, kiss in movies (if THIS isn't necking, what is?) and give other public demonstrations of affection don't prove they're in love, they prove only that they have no manners.

If a boy has genuine respect for a girl he'll keep his hands off her in public. If she has any respect for herself she's insist on it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO REDDY TEDDY: I hope you are "reddy" for plenty of trouble. The girl is under age and her father can do plenty.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hair treatment starts at the table — when you partake of a well-balanced diet!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Under That Pill-Box, Prettier Hair

Small hats are back — crowned high or low, wide-brimmed or brimless — ticketed to be tip-tilted over tresses that want to show off their more elegant arrangements. But the pill-box will be but a bitter pill if it is perched on parched, passive hair.

Hair treatments now will tell later. Start right away to cure whatever winter climate may have done to your cherished curls.

If you have spent the winter in a warm climate . . . and that means an outdoor climate, not the steam-heated variety . . . you have had to shampoo your hair oftener to combat the effects of airborne dirt and perspiration.

Or was yours a cold and snowy season? Then your hair has become flatter, less pliable, more liable to be full of electricity. And dry. Most indoor heating systems, without added humidification, take their moisture where they find it. Skin and hair are favorite sources.

It would seem, then, that your winter climate — warm or cold — needs just one simple cure — hard work with a hairbrush, to stimulate those natural oil glands in your scalp.

Then, taming your hair with any of the compounds containing oil or lanolin. Try those cream rinses, those cream dressings. Once a week, hide your well-oiled head under a steaming hot towel.

If your hair remains a problem, it may be that a new hairdo will solve the puzzle. With self-study or a professional hair stylist, give some serious thought to cutting or non-cutting, to more frequent, less haphazard permanenting. Try this hint on for head-size: A short hair-style is happiest in warm climates. (Why? It needs care oftener . . . and it's quicker and easier to care for!)

So, however your new hat hangs over your head, be sure you head first for prettier hair.

Midland Council To Enforce Load Limit On Trucks

MIDLAND — The Mayor and Council has launched an investigation into reports of heavy damage by large coal trucks, hauling coal from area strip mines over Paradise Street and Dairy Lane.

Street Commissioner Donald Cook reported to the council at a recent meeting that the heavily loaded trucks are doing considerable damage to these and other roadways. Jack I. Mullen, town attorney, was instructed by Mayor Lionel D. Baker and councilmen, to contact the owners and advise them of town ordinances covering load limits. The load limit on these streets is 16,000 pounds. The study shows that loads being hauled are much in excess of this limitation, councilmen claim.

The council plans to prosecute owners under the town ordinance and to seek civil damages, unless some agreement or solution can be reached immediately, Mayor Baker stated.

The council took action to have load limit signs placed on all streets in the town that are traveled by trucks.

City Seeking Applicants For Position As Auditor

Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder was authorized by the Mayor and Council yesterday to request that the Civil Service Commission advertise for applicants to fill the post of city auditor-finance director.

The present city auditor, Arthur B. Gibson, is due to retire in August after 24 years of service with the city.

Duties were set forth in a list attached to the order. In previous discussion, some question had been raised over this list of duties by Water Commissioner G. Ray Light and Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming. But the wording had apparently been changed and the order went through without comment yesterday.

Among the requirements are that the applicant must be a college graduate with a degree in business and public administration and have at least two years' experience in municipal accounting or be a qualified public accountant.

He will be chief finance officer of the city and responsible to the Mayor and Council. The finance officers will supervise collection of all monies.

In other financial matters yesterday, council accepted the bid of the M and D Corp., in the amount of $1,849 for Lots 1, 2, 6 and 7 on Quebec Avenue and Lots 56 and 57 on Montreal Avenue.

A report of Tax Collector George E. Davis for March showed the following collections: General, including $30,008.48 sewage, $71,506.12; general improvement bonds, $6,591.15; 1931 sewer liens, $882.39; water rent, $58,077.69; total, $137,057.35.

Criminal Appeal Cases Begin Here Monday

Criminal appeals will be heard next Monday in Allegany County Circuit Court before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Among the appeals posted was the case of Stephen Lee Duvall, local driver who was fined $250 and sentenced to three months in the House of Correction at a hearing January 12 before Magistrate Paul W. Barnett.

Duvall, who is represented by Attorney Thomas N. Berry, was convicted of failure to stop his vehicle after striking a pedestrian on December 1. He was found guilt of leaving the scene after his car struck and seriously injured Miss Marguerite Fahey, 56, of 447 Cumberland Street.

Magistrate Barnett imposed what he termed a "minimum" sentence, with court attaches explaining that conviction on the charge carries a penalty ranging from 30 days to a year jail sentence, a fine of from $50 to $1,000, or both.

Also scheduled for hearing is an appeal by Garth W. Yonker on conviction of two hunting violations, including obtaining a license by false pretence. He was fined $20 on each of two counts by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt.

Other appeals result from motor vehicle violations. Donald Ray Boyer, who is represented by Attorney Edward J. Ryan, is appealing a $25 fine imposed by Magistrate Weatherholt, and Carmen Louis Bishop has appealed a $50 fine by the same magistrate.

Glenn M. Shugars, through Attorney Jack I. Mullen, has appealed a $100 fine and 30-day jail sentence imposed by Magistrate V. Browne Kooken of Westernport, and Virgil R. Wilt, represented by Attorney Louis A. Fatkin, is appealing fines of $100 and $25 assessed by the same magistrate.

A six-month jail sentence imposed by Magistrate Barnett is being appealed by Everett Goss, and a 30-day jail sentence ordered by Magistrate John F. Meyers of Midland has been appealed by Charles Edward Whetstone.

David Dale Smith is appealing a $100 fine and 30-day jail sentence assessed by Magistrate Kooken, while Leonard Elmer Kasecamp has filed an appeal from a year's jail sentence.

The menhaden is an important commercial fish.

Three Hurt In Fire At Apartments

Three persons were injured, one hospitalized, and extensive property damage caused in an early morning fire Sunday at 157 North Mechanic Street.

Hospitalized following the two-alarm blaze was Miss Alma Cunningham, who resides in an apartment at the building which also houses Mary's Cleaners and Dye Works.

Miss Cunningham was admitted to Memorial Hospital with first and second degree burns and lacerations about her legs and neck. Her general condition yesterday was reported as "good."

Also treated and released at the hospital for burns were Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Stallings, who reside at the same address.

The fire was reported to Central Station at 12:20 a. m. Sunday, and shortly after arriving on the scene Central summoned firemen from West Side Station for help.

The blaze was confined to the hallway and under a stairway, however firemen reported considerable damage. The firemen remained on the scene for more than an hour and half.

City Police were called to the scene to handle traffic. Officer Richard L. Maiers after arriving drove Miss Cunningham and the Stallings to Memorial Hospital.

Firemen have not determined the exact cause of the blaze.

Several Entries Reported Here

City Police received a series of breaking and entering cases over the weekend, plus several minor complaints such as vandalism, family fights and the normal amount of drunk cases.

Officials of the Bennett Transfer and Storage Company, Franklin Street, informed police that someone broke into the building by forcing a door.

Police said approximately 80 new truck tires were stolen by the intruder.

Officials of the George F. Hazelwood Company also advised police of a breaking and entering at its office sometime Sunday night. Det. Capt. James E. Van said about $20 in small change was stolen from an office desk.

The intruder also broke into a storage shed on the Hazelwood property, however it was not determined what was missing.

An intruder Sunday also broke into the Cozy Corner Cafe, 9 Offutt Street, and rifled a bowling machine of loot valued at $37.

Det. Thomas See said approximately $28 in bills was taken from a box in the kitchen and a quantity of beer and ham was taken from a refrigerator.

South End Group Favors Three Projects

The South Cumberland Business and Civic Association yesterday recommended three major projects for action of the Mayor and Council.

The three are: (1) Extension of Grand Avenue between Fifth Street and Laing Avenue (Industrial Boulevard) in the interest of improved fire protection and traffic flow;

(2) George Street Extension between Frederick and Bedford streets, for essentially the same reasons as the Grand Avenue proposals; and (3) General improvement of all streets in the city.

Council said a reply would be made to the association's letter.

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming in referring to one section of the letter which referred to "discussions" concerning street repair, said no talks had been held on the subject but that City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum had made a report on needed improvements to Street Commissioner John J. Long. Nuzum confirmed this and said the report is in Long's hands. Long was out of town yesterday and not able to attend the council session.

The South End group's letter was signed by Lawrence I. Marks, president.

On another matter, a request of three Bond Street residents for a red line and one-side parking was tabled. Fleming said he had talked to other residents of the street and no decision had been made.

James W. Riley appeared in behalf of petitioners residing on West Elder Street who do not want the street hard-surfaced. The petition was referred to Long.

Daniel Webster was the orator at the dedication of the Bunker Hill monument.

Buffalo Symphony Listed On Concert Group Agenda

Definite booking of the 92-piece Buffalo Symphony Orchestra to play in Cumberland next season was confirmed Sunday at the dinner-meeting of the Tri-State Community Concert Association in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Rated as one of the nation's top ten symphony orchestras, the Buffalo musicians, directed by Joseph Krips, will close the 1961-62 music series in Fort Hill auditorium.

The season will be opened in November by the Goldovsky Grand Opera production of Rossini's "Barber of Seville" sung in English with full company of 50 —chorus, orchestra and principals. Also definitely booked is Myra Kinch and Company in a comedy dance program called "The Light Fantastic."

At least one other attraction is certain, according to Tri-State board of directors, the headline quality of which will depend on the total rolled up this week during the third annual membership drive.

Approximately 90 men and women who are engaged in the membership campaign attended the kickoff event in the Shrine Club, despite area rain, snow and wind.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech of Cumberland purchased the first membership from Mrs. Rudolph Steinberger, campaign chairman. Mrs. Marian Bittle is co-chairman.

Leonard Withers, vice president, was chairman of the dinner-meeting in the absence of Herman Smith, president, who is ill in Memorial Hospital. Michel Vermett, of the New York office of Community Concerts, Inc. addressed the area workers. Mrs. Joyce Zornig sang three numbers with piano accompaniment by Mrs. R. A. Clarke.

A headquarters office was opened yesterday across from the Fort Cumberland Hotel on North Liberty Street with Mrs. A. N. Golladay in charge. Team captains will report daily to Mrs. Steinberger and Mrs. Bittle.

With over 1,400 members this year (all of whom are expected to renew) there will be less than 200 new memberships available, since the Fort Hill auditorium seating capacity is slightly in excess of 1,600.

The membershrip effort will close at noon Saturday.

All Prices Subject to Change!

For insurance premiums too—that's always been true.

A good many people, we've noticed, seem to think premiums change only in one direction—up. And that isn't true.

The price that you pay for insurance is a measure of the risk. When the risk decreases—as with an improvement in fire protection, better statewide loss figures for your class of occupancy, or simply a favorable loss experience—you may be entitled to rate reductions you don't even know about.

So, if you're bothered about insurance costs and wonder about the kind of coverage you've really purchased, a seasoned appraisal of your program becomes the more important.

When it comes to that, you will find that we can be of service—and without any charge.

Demolition Fees Waived For Church

The city engineer was authorized yesterday by the Mayor and Council to issue permits free of charge for demolition of buildings owned by churches when lots are to be used for church purposes.

Council also agreed to execute an option with the federal government in the amount of $502 for land tracts in connection with the flood protection project.

Payment of $1,600 to Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer, was authorized for preparing construction plans and specifications and advisory supervision in connection with rehabilitation of the gate chamber, pumping equipment and piping at Lake Gordon. The amount is to be charged to the Water Improvement Bond Fund.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech and City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery were authorized to execute a deed conveying Lots 7-15 in Block 43, Ridgedale Addition to Milton L. and Judith A. Sarver upon receipt of $1,330.

Three proclamations were approved. One names the week of April 9-15 as "Community Concert Week"; another the month of April as "Keep Maryland Beautiful Month"; and the third the week of April 23 as "Secretary's Week."

City Seeking Applicants For Position As Auditor

Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder was authorized by the Mayor and Council yesterday to request that the Civil Service Commission advertise for applicants to fill the post of city auditor-finance director.

The present city auditor, Arthur B. Gibson, is due to retire in August after 24 years of service with the city.

Duties were set forth in a list attached to the order. In previous discussion, some question had been raised over this list of duties by Water Commissioner G. Ray Light and Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming. But the wording had apparently been changed and the order went through without comment yesterday.

Among the requirements are that the applicant must be a college graduate with a degree in business and public administration and have at least two years' experience in municipal accounting or be a qualified public accountant.

He will be chief finance officer of the city and responsible to the Mayor and Council. The finance officers will supervise collection of all monies.

In other financial matters yesterday, council accepted the bid of the M and D Corp., in the amount of $1,849 for Lots 1, 2, 6 and 7 on Quebec Avenue and Lots 56 and 57 on Montreal Avenue.

A report of Tax Collector George E. Davis for March showed the following collections: General, including $30,008.48 sewage, $71,506.12; general improvement bonds, $6,591.15; 1931 sewer liens, $882.39; water rent, $58,077.69; total, $137,057.35.

Criminal Appeal Cases Begin Here Monday

Criminal appeals will be heard next Monday in Allegany County Circuit Court before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Among the appeals posted was the case of Stephen Lee Duvall, local driver who was fined $250 and sentenced to three months in the House of Correction at a hearing January 12 before Magistrate Paul W. Barnett.

Duvall, who is represented by Attorney Thomas N. Berry, was convicted of failure to stop his vehicle after striking a pedestrian on December 1. He was found guilt of leaving the scene after his car struck and seriously injured Miss Marguerite Fahey, 56, of 447 Cumberland Street.

Magistrate Barnett imposed what he termed a "minimum" sentence, with court attaches explaining that conviction on the charge carries a penalty ranging from 30 days to a year jail sentenence, a fine of from $50 to $1,000, or both.

Also scheduled for hearing is an appeal by Garth W. Yonker on conviction of two hunting violations, including obtaining a license by false pretence. He was fined $20 on each of two counts by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt.

Other appeals result from motor vehicle violations. Donald Ray Boyer, who is represented by Attorney Edward J. Ryan, is appealing a $25 fine imposed by Magistrate Weatherholt, and Carmen Louis Bishop has appealed a $50 fine by the same magistrate.

Glenn M. Shugars, through Attorney Jack I. Mullen, has appealed a $100 fine and 30-day jail sentence imposed by Magistrate V. Browne Kooken of Westernport, and Virgil R. Wilt, represented by Attorney Louis A. Fatkin, is appealing fines of $100 and $25 assessed by the same magistrate.

A six-month jail sentence imposed by Magistrate Barnett is being appealed by Everett Goss, and a 30-day jail sentence ordered by Magistrate John F. Meyers of Midland has been appealed by Charles Edward Whetstone.

David Dale Smith is appealing a $100 fine and 30-day jail sentence assessed by Magistrate Kooken, while Leonard Elmer Kasecamp has filed an appeal from a year's jail sentence.

Three Hurt In Fire At Apartments

Three persons were injured, one hospitalized, and extensive property damage caused in an early morning fire Sunday at 157 North Mechanic Street.

Hospitalized following the two-alarm blaze was Miss Alma Cunningham, who resides in an apartment at the building which also houses Mary's Cleaners and Dye Works.

Miss Cunningham was admitted to Memorial Hospital with first and second degree burns and lacerations about her legs and neck. Her general condition yesterday was reported as "good."

Also treated and released at the hospital for burns were Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Stallings, who reside at the same address.

The fire was reported to Central Station at 12:20 a. m. Sunday, and shortly after arriving on the scene Central summoned firemen from West Side Station for help.

The blaze was confined to the hallway and under a stairway, however firemen reported considerable damage. The firemen remained on the scene for more than an hour and half.

City Police were called to the scene to handle traffic. Officer Richard L. Maiers after arriving drove Miss Cunningham and the Stallings to Memorial Hospital.

Firemen have not determined the exact cause of the blaze.

Several Entries Reported Here

City Police received a series of breaking and entering cases over the weekend, plus several minor complaints such as vandalism, family fights and the normal amount of drunk cases.

Officials of the Bennett Transfer and Storage Company, Franklin Street, informed police that someone broke into the building by forcing a door.

Police said approximately 80 new truck tires were stolen by the intruder.

Officials of the George F. Hazelwood Company also advised police of a breaking and entering at its office sometime Sunday night. Det. Capt. James E. Van said about $20 in small change was stolen from an office desk.

The intruder also broke into a storage shed on the Hazelwood property, however it was not determined what was missing.

An intruder Sunday also broke into the Cozy Corner Cafe, 9 Offutt Street, and rifled a bowling machine of loot valued at $37.

Det. Thomas See said approximately $28 in bills was taken from a box in the kitchen and a quantity of beer and ham was taken from a refrigerator.

South End Group Favors Three Projects

The South Cumberland Business and Civic Association yesterday recommended three major projects for action of the Mayor and Council.

The three are: (1) Extension of Grand Avenue between Fifth Street and Laing Avenue (Industrial Boulevard) in the interest of improved fire protection and traffic flow;

(2) George Street Extension between Frederick and Bedford streets, for essentially the same reasons as the Grand Avenue proposals; and (3) General improvement of all streets in the city.

Council said a reply would be made to the association's letter.

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming in referring to one section of the letter which referred to "discussions" concerning street repair, said no talks had been held on the subject but that City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum had made a report on needed improvements to Street Commissioner John J. Long. Nuzum confirmed this and said the report is in Long's hands. Long was out of town yesterday and not able to attend the council session.

The South End group's letter was signed by Lawrence I. Marks, president.

On another matter, a request of three Bond Street residents for a red line and one-side parking was tabled. Fleming said he had talked to other residents of the street and no decision had been made.

James W. Riley appeared in behalf of petitioners residing on West Elder Street who do not want the street hard-surfaced. The petition was referred to Long.

Daniel Webster was the orator at the dedication of the Bunker Hill monument.

Buffalo Symphony Listed On Concert Group Agenda

Definite booking of the 92-piece Buffalo Symphony Orchestra to play in Cumberland next season was confirmed Sunday at the dinner-meeting of the Tri-State Community Concert Association in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Rated as one of the nation's top ten symphony orchestras, the Buffalo musicians, directed by Joseph Krips, will close the 1961-62 music series in Fort Hill auditorium.

The season will be opened in November by the Goldovsky Grand Opera production of Rossini's "Barber of Seville" sung in English with full company of 50 —chorus, orchestra and principals. Also definitely booked is Myra Kinch and Company in a comedy dance program called "The Light Fantastic."

At least one other attraction is certain, according to Tri-State board of directors, the headline quality of which will depend on the total rolled up this week during the third annual membership drive.

Approximately 90 men and women who are engaged in the membership campaign attended the kickoff event in the Shrine Club, despite area rain, snow and wind.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech of Cumberland purchased the first membership from Mrs. Rudolph Steinberger, campaign chairman. Mrs. Marian Bittle is co-chairman.

Leonard Withers, vice president, was chairman of the dinner-meeting in the absence of Herman Smith, president, who is ill in Memorial Hospital. Michel Vermett, of the New York office of Community Concerts, Inc. addressed the area workers. Mrs. Joyce Zornig sang three numbers with piano accompaniment by Mrs. R. A. Clarke.

A headquarters office was opened yesterday across from the Fort Cumberland Hotel on North Liberty Street with Mrs. A. N. Golladay in charge. Team captains will report daily to Mrs. Steinberger and Mrs. Bittle.

With over 1,400 members this year (all of whom are expected to renew) there will be less than 200 new memberships available, since the Fort Hill auditorium seating capacity is slightly in excess of 1,600.

The membershrip effort will close at noon Saturday.

For insurance premiums too—that's always been true.

A good many people, we've noticed, seem to think premiums change only in one direction—up. And that isn't true.

The price that you pay for insurance is a measure of the risk. When the risk decreases—as with an improvement in fire protection, better statewide loss figures for your class of occupancy, or simply a favorable loss experience—you may be entitled to rate reductions you don't even know about.

So, if you're bothered about insurance costs and wonder about the kind of coverage you've really purchased, a seasoned appraisal of your program becomes the more important.

As Eichmann Goes To Trial

A whole era goes on trial today as Adolf Eichmann, the man who is said to have caused the murder of six million Jews, sits in the prisoner's box in the public building in Jerusalem that has been made over into a court house for his trial on 15 criminal charges.

The trial will be a sort of grim carnival for the people of Israel. Of the nation's two million, some 300,000 survived Nazi extermination techniques, and thousands more lost relatives and friends. To the Nazis genocide was euphemized as "the final solution to the Jewish problem"; by the Jews it is remembered—still remembered —as ha'shoa, the holocaust.

The defense counsel, the same man who was attorney for the Nazi defendants at the post-World War II Nuremburg trials, is Dr. Robert Servatius of Cologne, West Germany. His fee of $20,000 is being paid by the Israeli government. Dr. Servatius has not disclosed his strategy. But he is expected to argue that Eichmann was kidnaped from Argentina and forcibly brought to Israel for trial, that the crimes were committed in another land and at a time when Israel as a nation did not exist, and that the law under which Eichmann is being tried was enacted only in 1950, five years after the close of the war. He also is expected to contend that Eichmann, whose highest rank was lieutenant colonel, cannot be held responsible for his actions under orders because he had no authority.

What will be the consequences of retelling the Nazi saga of torture and degradation? There is real concern in Israel and in Germany, and from Jerusalem there have come hints that peoples other than the Germans may be embarrassed with the disclosure of new evidence on the blood bath.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Bad Days

Had President Kennedy sent American forces into the Congo or into Laos or into Cuba, the likelihood is that we should, by now, have stopped the Communist advance somewhere. Instead, in the Congo, the maintenance of peace has been left to the United Nations; in Laos to SEATO, in Cuba, to nobody. The result is a frightful mish-mash which may result in a serious defeat.

During the Eisenhower Administration, American leadership became synonymous with inaction, with uncertainty. Thereupon, the British Prime Minister, Harold Macmillan, assumed the role of the honest broker between the United States and Soviet Russia. A bridge had to be found between these two governments if the Cold War were not to be converted into a fighting war. Apparently President Eisenhower found this arrangement satisfactory and the British pursued a course of delay and negotiation which always started hopefully and ended nowhere. The best example of this sort of futility is the Geneva Disarmament Conference which goes on and on endlessly, producing nothing but mountains of words to which no attention is paid by anybody. It is now in session and hardly rates news reports.

The theory used to be that as long as the antagonists talked, there was no danger of a fighting war. This theory has proved to be a dud. While the talk continues, the Soviet Universal State marches forward not only diplomatically but territorially. If the United Nations could take an anti-Communist attitude, Katanga would be supported, but the United Nations cannot be anti-Communist. At most, it must be neutral, but neutrality, in many instances, means being anti-American; it could mean being pro-Russian. The United Nations therefore is not useful in stopping the Communist advance anywhere. It is not constituted for that purpose.

Had the United States gone into Laos or Cuba alone, it might have been accused of violating treaties and of diplomatic arrogance. Nevertheless, it is rapidly becoming necessary for the United States, if it asserts leadership, to lead. And a leader does not need a broker. He needs no middleman.

So President Kennedy's conference with Prime Minister Macmillan is asserting a position that is sound and one which, had we assumed it in 1945, would have saved this country much grief and cost. We asserted leadership but bargained away our capacity to lead. We attempted to form a ring of alliances which have not actually held up. NATO is weak without a strong France, willing to assume full co-operative responsibility. SEATO is meaningless without the inclusion of Formosa. We have permitted the Soviet sphere of influence in Cuba to jell and we have lost the respect of Latin American countries because we attempted to put upon them the burden of breaking down Castro in Cuba, whereas they expected us to do it for them at any cost.

In a word, President Kennedy is breaking with the Containment Policy which has not contained anything and he is asserting the right of direct negotiations with any other country without an intermediary. But these are mere words until they are implemented by an assertion of strength. Sooner or later, the United States must say, Halt! And the day that is said, the challenge must be made good. Great Britain will undoubtedly go along but who else will? That is the primary question that faces President Kennedy and he is arranging to find out.

The forthcoming visit of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to Washington will answer the question as to West Germany's position. The visit of President Kennedy to President de Gaulle will involve more difficult problems.

President de Gaulle of France not only seeks to support the West but to restore the greatness of France. Historically France has been the leader of continental Europe since, at any rate, Louis XIV (1638-1715). French was the language of every court of Europe. The French people gloried in their civilization which was universally respected. Since 1870, that has not been true. France has been losing political prestige. France has lost its international cultural leadership.

General de Gaulle is not satisfied with a second rate France. He expects to lead. He expects his country to lead. He expects to be respected. He expects France to be respected. He hopes to remake France. The meeting between President Kennedy and President de Gaulle in France will mark a new phase of the Western Alliance.

Kennedy's Venture Into Personal Diplomacy

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — It is opportune to put into perspective President Kennedy's venture into personal diplomacy. His talks in Washington with Prime Minister Macmillan and Chancellor Adenauer and the later visit which Mr. Kennedy plans to make for conferences with President de Gaulle in Paris are the direct result of the American Presidential election — a change in personnel here and maybe in international policy.

Mr. Macmillan is an old hand—an experienced diplomat—and Mr. de Gaulle and Mr. Adenauer have a long-time background in international controversies. The big question is how these experienced diplomats will bargain and trade in the next few months with the relatively inexperienced President of the United States.

For Mr. Kennedy has let it be known that he himself is going to handle negotiations on the big problems. He has some able advisers who have been in government for some time, but not one has the intimate knowledge of the American government's long and at times difficult negotiations with our allies that President Eisenhower and the members of the National Security Council obtained in the last eight years.

Diplomacy is, of course, often a matter of trades and reciprocal concessions. The British, for instance, know that the Red China problem is acutely controversial in the United States. It isn't in Britain, and the Macmillan government can take any position it pleases on that question, advancing or retreating, but the United States cannot. So the British diplomats will argue for something they are anxious to get from America and trade it off for a willingness to let the Red China problem ride for a while.

What do the British really want? What do the French want? What do the Germans want? Obviously, they want issues settled in a way that will benefit them on the economic side. The key to many a problem confronting the conservative government in Britain British companies. In making a settlement in Southeast Asia, benefits to British trade and maintaining friendly relations with Red China — so as to preserve territorial possession of Hong Kong for Britain — are both more important than they appear to be o. the surface. Participation in programs of financial aid to underveloped countries on a cooperative basis are looked upon in Europe as a desirable policy if they tend to increase the sale of European goods.

Indeed, a close look at the diplomacy of our European allies today brings out the materialistic rather than the idealistic motivation. Thus, British spokesmen are ready to forget the 157,000 casualties suffered by the American people in the Korea War and are prepared to brush aside the ideals proclaimed by the United Nations when, by formal resolution, it pronounced Red China an "aggressor." To ignore the past is what is called "practical" and "realistic" policy. It goes along with the viewpoint expressed by some so-called "liberals" in the United States, who say that Red China must be recognized as a "fact." But so is the aggression by Red China in Korea a "fact," and so is the tyranny imposed today by the Communists on the Chinese people. Is America's anti-colonial zeal to be confined to Portuguese Angola and the Congo?

The real concern here is whether President Kennedy will succumb to these new doctrines called "liberal," or whether he will stand up for American idealism when he is confronted by European statesmen. He is inexperienced in the wiles of diplomacy, though, being something of a politician himself, he may not be as naive as the Europeans think he is.

The sad truth is that Mr. Kennedy has to go to school to get all the background of what has happened in the last eight years. He has to learn by actual contact with the European diplomats just what kind of game they play. All the briefings he receives by the few men in the Administration who have had some diplomatic experience in behalf of the United States in government posts from time to time will not give him a knowledge of the nuances of the many delicate problems he faces in these "summit" conferences. He would have been better advised to avoid the spectacular meetings at the top for a while and to have communicated through Ambassadors for several months until he acquired an intimate background.

But the pressure for top-level meetings is hard to resist. Undoubtedly Mr. Kennedy will draw big crowds in Paris and perhaps even bigger ones in England if he goes there. Maybe he will meet with Nikita Khrushchev later on, too. All this furnishes headlines, but it doesn't accomplish what "classical diplomacy," as it has been called, can achieve. For in the intimate give-and-take at the Ambassadorial level there can be some blunt speaking, and a spade can be called a spade.

It's unfortunate the United States had to have an election at this particular time in the midst of the "cold war." But, since a change of government was voted, it's regrettable that the top staff of American officials who helped to develop policies for eight years, and who knew intimately from almost daily conversations with foreign officials the background of international affairs, are not in some way utilized in an advisory capacity to help the people of the United States. For in international affairs there isn't supposed to be any party politics.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

JFK — Despite the early setback at the hands of Congress, President Kennedy enjoys better personal relationships with Capitol Hill than any Presiden since the early days of the Truman administration.

For one thing, like Truman, Kennedy is a product of the Senate. Unlike Truman, Kennedy also served in the House. Members of both bodies know him personally and feel that he understands them better than did either Presidents Eisenhower or Roosevelt.

However, the untiring Kennedy doesn't let the vital matter of good Congressional relations rest there. He constantly keeps in touch with individual legislators, particularly when the administration is about to do something that will benefit an individual politically in his own area.

Recently, he called Sen. Herman E. Talmadge. of Georgia, only to be rebuffed by a maid who refused to awaken the Senator from a nap. Kennedy left a message for the Senator to call him when he woke up.

Talmadge did, and was personally informed that the Georgia plant of an airplane company was about to receive a $1 billion plane contract from the government.

Heartbeat Depends On Fitness Of Individual

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

How fast does a healthy heart beat on walking? It is normal for the pulse to rise temporarily with muscular exercise. It may go up 2 to 60 beats per minute, depending upon the original resting rate and the physical fitness of the individual.

An athlete who is conditioned to walking may have an imperceptible increase. A man or woman who has been confined to bed because of illness may have twice the normal rate the first time he tries to walk around the bed.

The pulse is higher also during digestion and when fever is present. Most of us know that the beat quickens with emotional excitement but the high-strung, nervous individual becomes upset. He may not realize that his nervous system is in a constant state of turmoil and the heart is responding to this anxiety as it is supposed to.

Exercise and excitement make up the most important and continuous impacts of everyday life. It is here that the value of ordinary daily exercise enters the picture and explains why those who are physically fit are better able to conduct their daily tasks without taxing the heart.

The effect of excitement is on an individual basis. Those with an easy going or a phlegmatic disposition are lucky, as ordinary stress rarely steps up the blood pressure or the pulse. At the other extreme, we have the hyper-reactor whose heart pounds like a trip hammer when he gets into a trying situation.

REPLY

Boiling water is easiest. Careful cleansing with soap or detergent also helps.

LOOSENED RETINA

REPLY

The retina is attached to the back part of the eye, like an inner lining. Injuries or changes in circulation may bring about a detachment, with loss of vision. Surgery may be needed to correct the condition.

JAUNDICE TEST

G. N. writes: What is meant by a high icterus index?

This is an index of the amount of bile pigment in the blood. The level is increased when the skin turns yellow (jaundice) because of disease of the gall bladder, liver, or blood.

HERPES ZOSTER

M. R. writes: Is shingles contagious?

REPLY

This is a moot question. The infection is caused by a virus closely related to that causing chicken pox. There have been reports of adults who developed shingles when a child in the family has chicken pox and vice versa. On the other hand, we have no evidence that those who come into contact with a shingles victim will develop this condition. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on shingles.

GOP Senators Plan Solid Opposition To Kennedy's Power Commissioner

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — A significant cross-examination begins today in the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee. It won't make headlines, but it will mean more or less dollars in the pocketbook of every housewife when it comes to her monthly bills for gas, electricity, and heating oil.

The Senate cross-examination will be centered on Joseph C. Swidler, long-time counsel for the Tennessee Valley Authority, to see if he is qualified to become a member of the Federal Power Commission to which Kennedy has appointed him.

This is not a glamorous sounding job. But it's considered so important by a large bloc of Senators that the Republicans have already made an informal pact to vote against Swidler as a party issue.

And on the Democratic side, a lot of the same Senators who stood firmly behind Alabama's Charles Meriwether, friend of KKK Grand Wizard Shelton, have made a whispered compact to oppose Swidler.

The reason is very simple — gas, oil, and electric power rates. It's the same reason why another Kennedy appointee, Stanley Surrey, has been held up as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Both Swidler and Surrey have a record of siding with the taxpayer and the housewife against the Oil, Gas, and Utility Lobby, and this lobby is the strongest on Capitol Hill. It contributes more money to the campaign expenses of Senators than any other one group.

The three families behind Sun Oil, Standard Oil, and Gulf Oil (the Pews, the Rockefellers, and the Mellons) contribute around $500,000 to the Republicans at every election, while the Kecks, the Blakleys, the Hunts, Brown and Root, and other wildcatters and independents contribute heavily to the Democrats. So when the time comes for Senators to vote on a Federal Power Commissioner who will help regulate gas rates, the big oil-gas contributors expect their money to be remembered.

Watch The Senators' Vote

If you watch the cross-examination of Swidler, you'll see who carries the brunt of the attack. Watch particularly shaggy-maned Sen. Andy Schoeppel of Kansas. He's a member of the Senate Committee which will cross-examine Swidler. Andy doesn't go out of his way to advertise it, but his firm back in Wichita also represents Republic Natural Gas, Phillips Petroleum, Continental Oil, and Colorado Interstate Gas.

These are big operators. And you will find that Sen. Schoeppel will follow adroit strategy. Andy probably won't announce that he's worried about Swidler's known opposition to the big utility companies. Instead he'll attack the fact that Swidler, when counsel for the TVA, sat in a hearing room and fed critical questions to Senators who wanted to cross-examine Arnold R. Jones of Kansas, nominated for the Tennessee Valley Authority.

So the Senator from Kansas will attack Swidler because Swidler was opposed to a fellow Kansan appointed to be one of Swidler's bosses.

In the background, however, is the far more important fact that Swidler trained under Harold Ickes, a great battler for the public, also spent years in TVA competing with the big utilities, and will be a tough, pro-public regulator of the gas rates and electric power concessions.

Another Senator to watch in the cross-examination is Norris Cotton, Republican of New Hampshire. A conscientious solon, Cotton has a weak spot when it comes to natural gas, perhaps because of the influence of his backer, Neil Toloman, Lawyer-Lobbyist for powerful Phillips Petroleum.

Also worth watching: Sen. Hugh Scott of Philadelphia, another conscientious Republican who usually votes with the consumer. But the Pew family of Sun Oil have been generous contributors to Scott's campaigns. So he will be pulled in two directions.

Those are some of the backstage factors in the cross-examination of Kennedy's nominee to the Power Commission which will affect the monthly fuel and light bills of every housewife.

KKK In Alabama

Bob Shelton, Grand Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan who used to stroll through the state capitol of Alabama with the arm of Charles Meriwether, now Export-Import Bank Director, around his shoulder, staged a flogging in Tuscaloosa the other day, and later a big klan rally.

Rev. J. D. Fackler had attended a bi-racial meeting, so the Klan stepped in and flogged him. Triumphantly, Grand Wizard Shelton later announced that local ministers had assured him there would be no more bi-racial religious meetings in Tuscaloosa.

There were two interesting aftermaths.

1. Gov. John Patterson, elected with the support of the Klan when Meriwether was his campaign manager, said absolutely nothing. But big Jim Folsom, ex-Governor of Alabama, came out with a statement denouncing the Klan and its flogging.

2. The Alabama League of Municipalities, meeting in Tuscaloosa a week later, had as its featured speaker Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall. Secretary Udall is the same cabinet member who recently warned George Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins, that his football team could not play in the Washington Stadium next fall unless he employed Negro football players.

Udall was cordially received by the Mayors of Alabama in the same city where Rev. Fackler was flogged by the Klan. So it looks as if a lot of people in Alabama don't wish to be as silent as Gov. Patterson or as chummy with the Klan as his former finance Director, Charlie Meriwether.

Same Old Speech

By John Crosby

It's a great speech, In fact, if you ask me, I think it's a better speech than the Cross of Gold speech of William Jennings Bryan, giving uplift to the emotions and having little relevance to reality.

I refer to Gen. Sarnoff's speech the other day that mankind stood on the verge of global television via satellites. "In a world where nearly half the population is illiterate or semi-literate, no other means of mass communication could equal television's reach and impact on the human mind," Gen Sarnoff said at the University of Detroit. A billion people might watch a single program, he declared.

As I say, it's a great speech. It better be. After all, Gen. Sarnoff has been making almost the same speech for what seems like generations. Of course, the horizons have constantly expanded in the speech. First, it was transcontinental television which was going to open up the West to the flood of eastern culture — concerts and all that jazz. (Except somehow it's worked the other way around. Transcontinental TV has opened up the East to the cultural splendo. of the West, which is to say an uninterrupted diet of cowboys shooting one another.) Then Gen. Sarnoff spelled out for us the imminent glories of transoceanic television which was always just on the verge of happening but somehow hasn't happened yet.

Again, the picture of what this would bring us was bright. Very bright. Ballet from Covent Garden. Statesmen speaking direct from their desks. Newsmen showing us the revolutions as they happened. New Yorkers would be enriched by the sophistication of Europe and ultimately the immemorial wisdom of the East. No doubt about it, television is a great communication for those illiterate billions, waiting for the signal, the RCA receiver, the Word.

However a small but nagging suspicion intervened. I turned to the TV log the day Sarnoff's speech was reported to see what sort of enlightenment Gen. Sarnoff's own network, NBC, was spreading to our own semi-literate millions, pending the completion of those satellite transmitters, which would carry the word to these other billions.

Well, at 7:30 p.m. NBS's prime time opens Thursdays with "Outlaws." You know something. I not only have never seen "Outlaws" but I never heard of it. That's how far I've grown from this mass medium in so short a time. Something with horses in it, I wager. "Outlaws" is followed on Thursday night by "Bat Masterson." Well, I've see that. "Bat Masterson" has told substantially the same story almost as often as David Sarnoff has made substantially the same speech.

At 9 p.m. NBC offers "Bachelor Father," a situation comedy, at 9:30 Tennessee Ernie Ford — aah, those illiterate billions tuning in on the folk wisdom of Tennessee Ernie — and at 10 o'clock Groucho Marx. Well, Groucho might be enlightening. At least he wouldn't drag the culture of those illiterate billions any lower than it already is. At 10:30 NBC offers "The Third Man," which I guess is some kind of private eye nonsense based on Graham Green's book, and at 11:15 until 1 a.m. the might voice of Jack Paar, filling in the cultural niches of those famished folk in Asia and Africa, by snarling at Dorothy Kilgallen.

I will say one thing about David Sarnoff; he's a giant in the field of mass communication; he thrust television on the world almost single-handed and for that he'll be held accountable at the Day of Judgement. But what has always amazed me is the fact that Sarnoff has managed to preserve his original innocence about the nature of this genie he has let out of the bottle.

He really thinks television will help cure illiteracy when quite clearly no instrument has done so much to spread illiteracy and to ruin the reading habits of children. Already, our terrible American television programs are corrupting children in Japan, South America, England, and Canada—not because they're better than the local products but because they're cheaper. In Canada, for instance, a station can buy a Western (which has already made its profit in the U.S.) for as little as $50 or $75. Why put on an expensive local show when this junk will draw a large audience at practically no expense?

In all fairness, I should point out that Sarnoff also said that entertainment is not enough for global TV, that radically new ideas must be developed to make proper use of the medium. But he's been saying that for years, too, while television's standards have got lower and lower and lower.

As Eichmann Goes To Trial

A whole era goes on trial today as Adolf Eichmann, the man who is said to have caused the murder of six million Jews, sits in the prisoner's box in the public building in Jerusalem that has been made over into a court house for his trial on 15 criminal charges.

The trial will be a sort of grim carnival for the people of Israel. Of the nation's two million, some 300,000 survived Nazi extermination techniques, and thousands more lost relatives and friends. To the Nazis genocide was euphemized as "the final solution to the Jewish problem"; by the Jews it is remembered—still remembered—as ha'shoa, the holocaust.

The defense counsel, the same man who was attorney for the Nazi defendants at the post-World War II Nuremburg trials, is Dr. Robert Servatius of Cologne, West Germany. His fee of $20,000 is being paid by the Israeli government. Dr. Servatius has not disclosed his strategy. But he is expected to argue that Eichmann was kidnaped from Argentina and forcibly brought to Israel for trial, that the crimes were committed in another land and at a time when Israel as a nation did not exist, and that the law under which Eichmann is being tried was enacted only in 1950, five years after the close of the war. He also is expected to contend that Eichmann, whose highest rank was lieutenant colonel, cannot be held responsible for his actions under orders because he had no authority.

What will be the consequences of retelling the Nazi saga of torture and degradation? There is real concern in Israel and in Germany, and from Jerusalem there have come hints that peoples other than the Germans may be embarrassed with the disclosure of new evidence on the blood bath.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Bad Days

Had President Kennedy sent American forces into the Congo or into Laos or into Cuba, the likelihood is that we should, by now, have stopped the Communist advance somewhere. Instead, in the Congo, the maintenance of peace has been left to the United Nations; in Laos to SEATO, in Cuba, to nobody. The result is a frightful mish-mash which may result in a serious defeat.

During the Eisenhower Administration, American leadership became synonymous with inaction, with uncertainty. Thereupon, the British Prime Minister, Harold Macmillan, assumed the role of the honest broker between the United States and Soviet Russia. A bridge had to be found between these two governments if the Cold War were not to be converted into a fighting war. Apparently President Eisenhower found this arrangement satisfactory and the British pursued a course of delay and negotiation which always started hopefully and ended nowhere. The best example of this sort of futility is the Geneva Disarmament Conference which goes on and on endlessly, producing nothing but mountains of words to which no attention is paid by anybody. It is now in session and hardly rates news reports.

The theory used to be that as long as the antagonists talked, there was no danger of a fighting war. This theory has proved to be a dud. While the talk continues, the Soviet Universal State marches forward not only diplomatically but territorially. If the United Nations could take an anti-Communist attitude, Katanga would be supported, but the United Nations cannot be anti-Communist. At most, it must be neutral, but neutrality, in many instances, means being anti-American; it could mean being pro-Russian. The United Nations therefore is not useful in stopping the Communist advance anywhere. It is not constituted for that purpose.

Had the United States gone into Laos or Cuba alone, it might have been accused of violating treaties and of diplomatic arrogance. Nevertheless, it is rapidly becoming necessary for the United States, if it asserts leadership, to lead. And a leader does not need a broker. He needs no middleman.

So President Kennedy's conference with Prime Minister Macmillan is asserting a position that is sound and one which, had we assumed it in 1945, would have saved this country much grief and cost. We asserted leadership but bargained away our capacity to lead. We attempted to form a ring of alliances which have not actually held up. NATO is weak without a strong France, willing to assume full co-operative responsibility. SEATO is meaningless without the inclusion of Formosa. We have permitted the Soviet sphere of influence in Cuba to jell and we have lost the respect of Latin American countries because we attempted to put upon them the burden of breaking down Castro in Cuba, whereas they expected us to do it for them at any cost.

In a word, President Kennedy is breaking with the Containment Policy which has not contained anything and he is asserting the right of direct negotiations with any other country without an intermediary. But these are mere words until they are implemented by an assertion of strength. Sooner or later, the United States must say, Halt! And the day that is said, the challenge must be made good. Great Britain will undoubtedly go along but who else will? That is the primary question that faces President Kennedy and he is arranging to find out.

The forthcoming visit of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to Washington will answer the question as to West Germany's position. The visit of President Kennedy to President de Gaulle will involve more difficult problems.

President de Gaulle of France not only seeks to support the West but to restore the greatness of France. Historically France has been the leader of continental Europe since, at any rate, Louis XIV (1638-1715). French was the language of every court of Europe. The French people gloried in their civilization which was universally respected. Since 1870, that has not been true. France has been losing political prestige. France has lost its international cultural leadership.

General de Gaulle is not satisfied with a second rate France. He expects to lead. He expects his country to lead. He expects to be respected. He expects France to be respected. He hopes to remake France. The meeting between President Kennedy and President de Gaulle in France will mark a new phase of the Western Alliance.

Kennedy's Venture Into Personal Diplomacy

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — It is opportune to put into perspective President Kennedy's venture into personal diplomacy. His talks in Washington with Prime Minister Macmillan and Chancellor Adenauer and the later visit which Mr. Kennedy plans to make for conferences with President de Gaulle in Paris are the direct result of the American Presidential election — a change in personnel here and maybe in international policy.

Mr. Macmillan is an old hand—an experienced diplomat—and Mr. de Gaulle and Mr. Adenauer have a long-time background in international controversies. The big question is how these experienced diplomats will bargain and trade in the next few months with the relatively inexperienced President of the United States.

For Mr. Kennedy has let it be known that he himself is going to handle negotiations on the big problems. He has some able advisers who have been in government for some time, but not one has the intimate knowledge of the American government's long and at times difficult negotiations with our allies that President Eisenhower and the members of the National Security Council obtained in the last eight years.

Diplomacy is, of course, often a matter of trades and reciprocal concessions. The British, for instance, know that the Red China problem is acutely controversial in the United States. It isn't in Britain, and the Macmillan government can take any position it pleases on that question, advancing or retreating, but the United States cannot. So the British diplomats will argue for something they are anxious to get from America and trade it off for a willingness to let the Red China problem ride for a while.

What do the British really want? What do the French want? What do the Germans want? Obviously, they want issues settled in a way that will benefit them on the economic side. The key to many a problem confronting the conservative government in Britain British companies. In making a settlement in Southeast Asia, benefits to British trade and maintaining friendly relations with Red China — so as to preserve territorial possession of Hong Kong for Britain — are both more important than they appear to be o. the surface. Participation in programs of financial aid to underveloped countries on a cooperative basis are looked upon in Europe as a desirable policy if they tend to increase the sale of European goods.

Indeed, a close look at the diplomacy of our European allies today brings out the materialistic rather than the idealistic motivation. Thus, British spokesmen are ready to forget the 157,000 casualties suffered by the American people in the Korea War and are prepared to brush aside the ideals proclaimed by the United Nations when, by formal resolution, it pronounced Red China an "aggressor." To ignore the past is what is called "practical" and "realistic" policy. It goes along with the viewpoint expressed by some so-called "liberals" in the United States, who say that Red China must be recognized as a "fact." But so is the aggression by Red China in Korea a "fact," and so is the tyranny imposed today by the Communists on the Chinese people. Is America's anti-colonial zeal to be confined to Portuguese Angola and the Congo?

The real concern here is whether President Kennedy will succumb to these new doctrines called "liberal," or whether he will stand up for American idealism when he is confronted by European statesmen. He is inexperienced in the wiles of diplomacy, though, being something of a politician himself, he may not be as naive as the Europeans think he is.

The sad truth is that Mr. Kennedy has to go to school to get all the background of what has happened in the last eight years. He has to learn by actual contact with the European diplomats just what kind of game they play. All the briefings he receives by the few men in the Administration who have had some diplomatic experience in behalf of the United States in government posts from time to time will not give him a knowledge of the nuances of the many delicate problems he faces in these "summit" conferences. He would have been better advised to avoid the spectacular meetings at the top for a while and to have communicated through Ambassadors for several months until he acquired an intimate background.

But the pressure for top-level meetings is hard to resist. Undoubtedly Mr. Kennedy will draw big crowds in Paris and perhaps even bigger ones in England if he goes there. Maybe he will meet with Nikita Khrushchev later on, too. All this furnishes headlines, but it doesn't accomplish what "classical diplomacy," as it has been called, can achieve. For in the intimate give-and-take at the Ambassadorial level there can be some blunt speaking, and a spade can be called a spade.

It's unfortunate the United States had to have an election at this particular time in the midst of the "cold war." But, since a change of government was voted, it's regrettable that the top staff of American officials who helped to develop policies for eight years, and who knew intimately from almost daily conversations with foreign officials the background of international affairs, are not in some way utilized in an advisory capacity to help the people of the United States. For in international affairs there isn't supposed to be any party politics.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

JFK — Despite the early setback at the hands of Congress, President Kennedy enjoys better personal relationships with Capitol Hill than any Presiden since the early days of the Truman administration.

For one thing, like Truman, Kennedy is a product of the Senate. Unlike Truman, Kennedy also served in the House. Members of both bodies know him personally and feel that he understands them better than did either Presidents Eisenhower or Roosevelt.

However, the untiring Kennedy doesn't let the vital matter of good Congressional relations rest there. He constantly keeps in touch with individual legislators, particularly when the administration is about to do something that will benefit an individual politically in his own area.

Recently, he called Sen. Herman E. Talmadge. of Georgia, only to be rebuffed by a maid who refused to awaken the Senator from a nap. Kennedy left a message for the Senator to call him when he woke up.

Talmadge did, and was personally informed that the Georgia plant of an airplane company was about to receive a $1 billion plane contract from the government.

Heartbeat Depends On Fitness Of Individual

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

How fast does a healthy heart beat on walking? It is normal for the pulse to rise temporarily with muscular exercise. It may go up 2 to 60 beats per minute, depending upon the original resting rate and the physical fitness of the individual.

An athlete who is conditioned to walking may have an imperceptible increase. A man or woman who has been confined to bed because of illness may have twice the normal rate the first time he tries to walk around the bed.

The pulse is higher also during digestion and when fever is present. Most of us know that the beat quickens with emotional excitement but the high-strung, nervous individual becomes upset. He may not realize that his nervous system is in a constant state of turmoil and the heart is responding to this anxiety as it is supposed to.

Exercise and excitement make up the most important and continuous impacts of everyday life. It is here that the value of ordinary daily exercise enters the picture and explains why those who are physically fit are better able to conduct their daily tasks without taxing the heart.

The effect of excitement is on an individual basis. Those with an easy going or a phlegmatic disposition are lucky, as ordinary stress rarely steps up the blood pressure or the pulse. At the other extreme, we have the hyper-reactor whose heart pounds like a trip hammer when he gets into a trying situation.

Same Old Speech

By John Crosby

It's a great speech, In fact, if you ask me, I think it's a better speech than the Cross of Gold speech of William Jennings Bryan, giving uplift to the emotions and having little relevance to reality.

I refer to Gen. Sarnoff's speech the other day that mankind stood on the verge of global television via satellites. "In a world where nearly half the population is illiterate or semi-literate, no other means of mass communication could equal television's reach and impact on the human mind," Gen Sarnoff said at the University of Detroit. A billion people might watch a single program, he declared.

As I say, it's a great speech. It better be. After all, Gen. Sarnoff has been making almost the same speech for what seems like generations. Of course, the horizons have constantly expanded in the speech. First, it was transcontinental television which was going to open up the West to the flood of eastern culture — concerts and all that jazz. (Except somehow it's worked the other way around. Transcontinental TV has opened up the East to the cultural splendo. of the West, which is to say an uninterrupted diet of cowboys shooting one another.) Then Gen. Sarnoff spelled out for us the imminent glories of transoceanic television which was always just on the verge of happening but somehow hasn't happened yet.

Again, the picture of what this would bring us was bright. Very bright. Ballet from Covent Garden. Statesmen speaking direct from their desks. Newsmen showing us the revolutions as they happened. New Yorkers would be enriched by the sophistication of Europe and ultimately the immemorial wisdom of the East. No doubt about it, television is a great communication for those illiterate billions, waiting for the signal, the RCA receiver, the Word.

However a small but nagging suspicion intervened. I turned to the TV log the day Sarnoff's speech was reported to see what sort of enlightenment Gen. Sarnoff's own network, NBC, was spreading to our own semi-literate millions, pending the completion of those satellite transmitters, which would carry the word to these other billions.

Well, at 7:30 p.m. NBS's prime time opens Thursdays with "Outlaws." You know something. I not only have never seen "Outlaws" but I never heard of it. That's how far I've grown from this mass medium in so short a time. Something with horses in it, I wager. "Outlaws" is followed on Thursday night by "Bat Masterson." Well, I've see that. "Bat Masterson" has told substantially the same story almost as often as David Sarnoff has made substantially the same speech.

At 9 p.m. NBC offers "Bachelor Father," a situation comedy, at 9:30 Tennessee Ernie Ford — aah, those illiterate billions tuning in on the folk wisdom of Tennessee Ernie — and at 10 o'clock Groucho Marx. Well, Groucho might be enlightening. At least he wouldn't drag the culture of those illiterate billions any lower than it already is. At 10:30 NBC offers "The Third Man," which I guess is some kind of private eye nonsense based on Graham Green's book, and at 11:15 until 1 a.m. the might voice of Jack Paar, filling in the cultural niches of those famished folk in Asia and Africa, by snarling at Dorothy Kilgallen.

I will say one thing about David Sarnoff; he's a giant in the field of mass communication; he thrust television on the world almost single-handed and for that he'll be held accountable at the Day of Judgement. But what has always amazed me is the fact that Sarnoff has managed to preserve his original innocence about the nature of this genie he has let out of the bottle.

He really thinks television will help cure illiteracy when quite clearly no instrument has done so much to spread illiteracy and to ruin the reading habits of children. Already, our terrible American television programs are corrupting children in Japan, South America, England, and Canada—not because they're better than the local products but because they're cheaper. In Canada, for instance, a station can buy a Western (which has already made its profit in the U.S.) for as little as $50 or $75. Why put on an expensive local show when this junk will draw a large audience at practically no expense?

In all fairness, I should point out that Sarnoff also said that entertainment is not enough for global TV, that radically new ideas must be developed to make proper use of the medium. But he's been saying that for years, too, while television's standards have got lower and lower and lower.

284,000 Expected To See Major League Openers Today

Seven County League Teams Post Forfeits

Wellersburg Quits, Eighth Club Sought

Wellersburg will not be represented in the County Softball League this season but the seven other clubs that held franchises last season will field teams for the coming campaign, it was announced at a meeting held at the Corriganville Fire Hall.

An eighth team is sought and those interested in sponsoring a team in the league are requested to have a representative present at the next meting to be Thursday, April 20 at 7:30 p. m., at Corriganville.

The seven teams that have posted forfeits and their managers are as follows:

Greenpoint Old Exports, Chester Porter; Corriganville Hermans, Lloyd Kline; Melody Manor Old Germans, Joe Glass; Ellerslie, Herb Devore; Stringtown, Amos See; Kennell's Mill, Charles Boyer, and Hyndman Vets, formerly Fossilville, John Sager.

Last season Greenpoint won the pennant while Elleslie captured the playoff crown.

Officers for the ensuing year are Charles W. "Whip" Kreitzburg, president; William Clauson, vice president, and John Vocke, sceretary-treasurer.

The league plans to open its twenty-third season on Tuesday, May 2.

Romney High Hosts Keyser

Three Other PVC Games Scheduled

Coach Frederick "Tack" Clark's Keyser High School tossers will be sseking their third straight win of the Potomac Valley Conference baseball season today when they windup their series with the Pioneers of Romney High School on the latter's field.

Keyser blanked Fort Ashby, 8-0, and edged Romney, 5-4, in its first two starts.

Three other P.V.C. contests are on tap for today.

Franklin is slated to do battle with the Vikings at Petersburg. Elk Garden entertains Fort Ashby's Eagles and Wardensville tackles Capon Bridge at the latter place.

Franklin, Petersburg, Elk Garden and Capon Bridge will be making their 1961 debut. Fort Ashby has lost to Keyser and Paw Paw, 4-3, while Wardensville split even in a pair of games with Moorefield.

Reds Buy Contract Of Pitcher Hunt

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds Monday bought the contract of pitcher Ke Hunt from its Indianapolis firm affiliate of the American Association.

The 22-year-old Hunt, a right-hander, had a 16-6 mark with Columbia of the South Atlantic League last year and an earned run average of 2.86. He had been one of the pitching surprises of the Reds' spring training, allowing only eight earned runs in 22 innings of exhibition game work.

Celtics, Hawks Clash Tonight

Win Would Give Boston 4th Title

BOSTON (AP) — Boston can clinch its fourth National Basketball Association playoff title in five years Tuesday night and the players say the team still hasn't performed at peak potential.

Time has run out for the battling St. Louis Hawks who step on the Boston Garden court on the short end of a 3-1 count in the best-of-seven final series.

The Celtics, entering their 25th playoff test with the rugged Hawks, are dedicated but not overconfident.

"We all want it to wind up here tomorrow night and think if we play our very best we can do it," Bill Sharman said Monday.

"But it will be a tough game. Our victory at St. Louis yesterday (119-104) was probably our best all around so far. But we haven't played a full 48 minutes of top-flight ball yet."

"This gang of mine won't quit," said St. Louis Coach Paul Seymour. "They'll be loose, too, figuring they have nothing to lose now."

Jockey Suspended

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Laurel Race Course stewards Monday suspended jockey George Hufnagel for 10 days for an "unsatisfactory ride last week.

After examining motion pictures of the Thursday race, the stewards said Hufnagel's performance was not what it should have been in riding Trico to a six-th place finish.

The suspension will run through April 21.

Rams Sign Pair

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Rookie tackles Joe Scibelli of Notre Dame and David Jones of South Carolina State College held signed contracts Monday with the Los Angeles Rams professional football team.

Scibelli, 21, weighs 250 pounds and Jones, 22, tips the scales at 240 pounds.

Pirates Open Pennant Dash On The Coast

Giants Host Bucs; Twins At New York, Orioles Play Angels

By JACK HAND
Associated Pres Sports Writer

Now that President Kennedy has thrown out the first ball and the new Washington Senators have made their first appearance —a 4-3 loss to Chicago's White Sox—big league baseball can turn its attention to the other clubs and a series of opening days stretching to April 27.

The entire National League and the rest of the 10-club American League gets down to work Tuesday, weather permitting, with an eight-game schedule that is expected to attract about 284,000 fans.

Two more home openers will be played Friday, four more April 18, two on April 21 and finally on April 27 the new Los Angeles Angels will make their home bow at Wrigley Field against the Minnesota Twins. That will complete the round of the 18 home openers.

Bucs At San Francisco

Pittsburgh's world champion Pirates start their pursuit of another National League pennant Tuesday in San Francisco against the Giants, one of five clubs expected to fight it out for the flag.

A turnout of 42,000 is due at windy Candlestick Park to see Al Dark's Giants face Pittsburgh's Bob Friend. Sam Jones gets the nod from Dark who has installed two rookies — second baseman Charlie Hiller and catcher Tom Haller — in his starting lineup.

The American League champions, the New York Yankees, will be at home before about 20,000 playing hosts to the new Minnesota Twins (old Washington Senators). Cookie Lavegetto is trotting out Pedro Ramos against the Yankees' veteran lefty, Whitey Ford. The Twins have Zorro Versalles, a 20-year-old Cuban, at shortstop in their only change from last year's lineup. The Yanks have the same club but a new manager in Ralph Houk, replacing Casey Stengel.

Probably the largest crowd at an American League opener will be the 45,000 due at Baltimore to watch the Orioles face Gene Autry's new Los Angeles entry managed by Billy Rigney. Baltimore is trying to emulate Pittsburgh's "Beat 'Em Bucs" routine with a new campaign pitched on a slogan "It Can Be Done In '61."

Made Some Changes

The Orioles have made some changes in the outfield. They expect their young pitching to improve enough to beat the Yanks and are sending Milt Pappas after the first one. Eli Grba, a Yankee relief man and starter last year, starts for the Angels.

Jimmy Dykes has Jim Perry, his 18-game winner, ready to go for Cleveland against Jim Bunning, the league's strikeout leader, at Detroit where they expect 37,000. Dykes' club has added Willie Kirkland in the outfield and Johnny Antonelli to the pitching staff. Detroit has rookies Steve Boros at third and Jake Wood at second, plus ex-Milwaukee Brave Billy Bruton in center, and a new manager in Bob Scheffing.

Boston, minus Ted Williams, will play rookie Carl Yastrzemski in left and possibly rookie Chuck Chilling at second when Bill Monbouquette takes the mound at Fenway Park before 20,000 to face Kansas City's Ray Herbert. The A's have a new owner, Charlie Finley; new general manager, Frank Lane, and new manager, Joe Gordon. New players include Dick Howser at short and Leo Posada in right field.

Roberts Slated To Start

The largest crowd of the Tuesday openers — 50,000 — is due at the Los Angeles Coliseum for a night game between the Dodgers and Philadelphia. Robin Roberts is due to tie the league record by starting his 12th consecutive opener for the youthful Phils. Don Drysdale will start for the Dodgers, the pre-season favorites in the sportswriters and sportscasters' poll. Willie Davis, rookie center-fielder, is the most important new face on the loaded Dodger roster.

Two 21-game winners, Ernie Broglio of St. Louis and Warren Spahn of Milwaukee meeet at Milwaukee where they expect 40,000. The Braves have a new second-short combo in Frank Bolling (ex-Detroit) and Roy McMillan (ex-Cincinnati) and a reshuffled outfield with John DeMerit replacing Bruton in center and Lee Maye in left.

Cincinnati counts on its customary opening day sellout of 30,000 plus to see the Reds play the Chicago Cubs. The Reds recovered after a stumbling start in the exhibitions. Jim O'Toole, a lefty, gets the starting call from manager Freddie Hutchinson. Vedie Himsl, temporary head man of the Cubs' nine-man coaching staff, will start Glen Hobbie, a 20-game loser last year.

Vice President Of Pittsburgh Pirates Dies

Branch Rickey, Jr., Headed Minor Clubs

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Branch Rickey Jr., 46, who sidestepped a law career for baseball, died in Presbyterian Hospital Monday of bronchial pneumonia complicated by uremia.

The only son of baseball's elder statesman, Branch Rickey Sr., the younger Rickey died at 3:05 p.m. EST. A diabetic, Rickey Jr. contacted hepatitis shortly after the Pittsburgh Pirates won the 1960 World Series.

He was hospitalized for several weeks and returned to his suburban Fox Chapel home to recuperate. He re-entered the hospital on March 30 with bronchial pneumonia and had been in an oxygen tent until his death.

Headed Minor Clubs

Rickey Jr. was vice president-in-charge of minor league clubs for the Pirates at the time of his death. His famous father, now 79, built baseball empires in St. Louis Brooklyn and Pittsburgh.

The younger Rickey was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan, where he was active in sports. He attended the University of Michigan Law School, but rejected a law career to follow his father into baseball.

Married and the father of two daughters and a son, Rickey Jr., operated in the shadow of his father during his career with the Pirates.

He entered baseball in the St. Louis Cardinal chain and managed several minor league clubs for the Cards. He became a secretary to his father while Rickey Sr., was general manager of the Cards.

Served In Brooklyn

Shortly afterward, he went on his own and was hired as a farm director by Larry MacPhail, general manager of the old Brooklyn Dodgers. His father followed him to Brooklyn.

Father and son stayed with the Dodger organization until 1950 when Rickey Sr. came to the Pittsburgh Pirates as general manager and his son joined him here.

Rickey Sr. stepped down as general manager of the Pirates in 1955 but his son was active in the organization until his death.

Baltimore Whoops It Up For Orioles

Breakfast, Parade And Banquet Held

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore whooped it up Monday for its first major league baseball pennant winner.

All the Orioles have to do in the next 5½ months is make it come true.

The city couldn't wait.

It celebrated before the Orioles had played, no less won a game, in the American League this season.

The Orioles were feted as conquering heroes at a breakfast, parade and banquet in a city plastered with "positive thinking" signs: "It can be done in '61."

About 700 fans paid to have a "brunch with the birds" in the ballroom of a downtown hotel. Downtown business took a long lunch to watch a two-hour parade featuring the Orioles.

Dancing In Streets

There was dancing in the streets as the players went by to the cheers of a couple hundred thousand people.

The pennant fever running through the city rivaled the joy when Baltimore obtained an American League franchise in 1954 from the lowly St. Louis Browns.

The optimism is a hangover from last season when the Orioles, loaded with young talent of their own development, made a terrific run for the pennant before finishing second by eight games to the New York Yankees.

The fan fervor wasn't lost on the Oriole players or management.

"This is the best club that ever came back to Baltimore," third baseman Brooks Robinson assured the "brunch" guests. "We're going to give the Yanks a run for their money."

"It Can Be Done"—Pappas

"I agree it can be done," said Milt Pappas, who will be the starting pitcher tomorrow against the Los Angeles Angels.

"I hope we can live up to your expectations and to ours," declared catcher Gus Triandos.

"If it's true that fan support can bring a pennant, then it can be done here," agreed Lee MacPhail, president and general manager.

Commending Oriole fan enthusiasm of the past, Manager Paul Richards asserted forthrightly, "We all feel that maybe now we can justify it and maybe even intensify it."

Gene On Band Wagon

Gene Autry, the cowboy of entertainment fame, jumped on the Orioles band wagon although he's chairman of the board of the new Angels.

"We feel we are in the same position as the Orioles were in 1954," he told the brunch crowd. "We're down at the bottom and have to rebuild."

Then he praised Richards for his Oriole uplift, a performance for which he was voted best manager of 1960.

Rocking Chair Loop Will Meet Tonight

A meeting of the Rocking Chair Softball League will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Wilson Hardware Company Building.

The league has seven teams lined up for the 1961 campaign and would like to add an eighth.

Holdover teams are the B.P.O. Elks, V.F.W., Loyal Order of Moose, Knights of Columbus, Celanese A.A., Ritter A.C., and Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Pirates Open Pennant Dash On The Coast

Associated Pres Sports Writer

Now that President Kennedy has thrown out the first ball and the new Washington Senators have made their first appearance —a 4-3 loss to Chicago's White Sox—big league baseball can turn its attention to the other clubs and a series of opening days stretching to April 27.

The entire National League and the rest of the 10-club American League gets down to work Tuesday, weather permitting, with an eight-game schedule that is expected to attract about 284,000 fans.

Two more home openers will be played Friday, four more April 18, two on April 21 and finally on April 27 the new Los Angeles Angels will make their home bow at Wrigley Field against the Minnesota Twins. That will complete the round of the 18 home openers.

Bucs At San Francisco

Pittsburgh's world champion Pirates start their pursuit of another National League pennant Tuesday in San Francisco against the Giants, one of five clubs expected to fight it out for the flag.

A turnout of 42,000 is due at windy Candlestick Park to see Al Dark's Giants face Pittsburgh's Bob Friend. Sam Jones gets the nod from Dark who has installed two rookies — second baseman Charlie Hiller and catcher Tom Haller — in his starting lineup.

The American League champions, the New York Yankees, will be at home before about 20,000 playing hosts to the new Minnesota Twins (old Washington Senators). Cookie Lavegetto is trotting out Pedro Ramos against the Yankees' veteran lefty, Whitey Ford. The Twins have Zorro Versalles, a 20-year-old Cuban, at shortstop in their only change from last year's lineup. The Yanks have the same club but a new manager in Ralph Houk, replacing Casey Stengel.

Probably the largest crowd at an American League opener will be the 45,000 due at Baltimore to watch the Orioles face Gene Autry's new Los Angeles entry managed by Billy Rigney. Baltimore is trying to emulate Pittsburgh's "Beat 'Em Bucs" routine with a new campaign pitched on a slogan "It Can Be Done In '61."

Made Some Changes

The Orioles have made some changes in the outfield. They expect their young pitching to improve enough to beat the Yanks and are sending Milt Pappas after the first one. Eli Grba, a Yankee relief man and starter last year, starts for the Angels.

Jimmy Dykes has Jim Perry, his 18-game winner, ready to go for Cleveland against Jim Bunning, the league's strikeout leader, at Detroit where they expect 37,000. Dykes' club has added Willie Kirkland in the outfield and Johnny Antonelli to the pitching staff. Detroit has rookies Steve Boros at third and Jake Wood at second, plus ex-Milwaukee Brave Billy Bruton in center, and a new manager in Bob Scheffing.

Boston, minus Ted Williams, will play rookie Carl Yastrzemski in left and possibly rookie Chuck Chilling at second when Bill Monbouquette takes the mound at Fenway Park before 20,000 to face Kansas City's Ray Herbert. The A's have a new owner, Charlie Finley; new general manager, Frank Lane, and new manager, Joe Gordon. New players include Dick Howser at short and Leo Posada in right field.

Roberts Slated To Start

The largest crowd of the Tuesday openers — 50,000 — is due at the Los Angeles Coliseum for a night game between the Dodgers and Philadelphia. Robin Roberts is due to tie the league record by starting his 12th consecutive opener for the youthful Phils. Don Drysdale will start for the Dodgers, the pre-season favorites in the sportswriters and sportscasters' poll. Willie Davis, rookie center-fielder, is the most important new face on the loaded Dodger roster.

Two 21-game winners, Ernie Broglio of St. Louis and Warren Spahn of Milwaukee meeet at Milwaukee where they expect 40,000. The Braves have a new second-short combo in Frank Bolling (ex-Detroit) and Roy McMillan (ex-Cincinnati) and a reshuffled outfield with John DeMerit replacing Bruton in center and Lee Maye in left.

Cincinnati counts on its customary opening day sellout of 30,000 plus to see the Reds play the Chicago Cubs. The Reds recovered after a stumbling start in the exhibitions. Jim O'Toole, a lefty, gets the starting call from manager Freddie Hutchinson. Vedie Himsl, temporary head man of the Cubs' nine-man coaching staff, will start Glen Hobbie, a 20-game loser last year.

Vice President Of Pittsburgh Pirates Dies

Branch Rickey, Jr., Headed Minor Clubs

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Branch Rickey Jr., 46, who sidestepped a law career for baseball, died in Presbyterian Hospital Monday of bronchial pneumonia complicated by uremia.

The only son of baseball's elder statesman, Branch Rickey Sr., the younger Rickey died at 3:05 p.m. EST. A diabetic, Rickey Jr. contacted hepatitis shortly after the Pittsburgh Pirates won the 1960 World Series.

He was hospitalized for several weeks and returned to his suburban Fox Chapel home to recuperate. He re-entered the hospital on March 30 with bronchial pneumonia and had been in an oxygen tent until his death.

Headed Minor Clubs

Rickey Jr. was vice president-in-charge of minor league clubs for the Pirates at the time of his death. His famous father, now 79, built baseball empires in St. Louis Brooklyn and Pittsburgh.

The younger Rickey was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan, where he was active in sports. He attended the University of Michigan Law School, but rejected a law career to follow his father into baseball.

Married and the father of two daughters and a son, Rickey Jr., operated in the shadow of his father during his career with the Pirates.

He entered baseball in the St. Louis Cardinal chain and managed several minor league clubs for the Cards. He became a secretary to his father while Rickey Sr., was general manager of the Cards.

Served In Brooklyn

Shortly afterward, he went on his own and was hired as a farm director by Larry MacPhail, general manager of the old Brooklyn Dodgers. His father followed him to Brooklyn.

Father and son stayed with the Dodger organization until 1950 when Rickey Sr. came to the Pittsburgh Pirates as general manager and his son joined him here.

Rickey Sr. stepped down as general manager of the Pirates in 1955 but his son was active in the organization until his death.

Baltimore Whoops It Up For Orioles

Breakfast, Parade And Banquet Held

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore whooped it up Monday for its first major league baseball pennant winner.

All the Orioles have to do in the next 5½ months is make it come true.

The city couldn't wait.

It celebrated before the Orioles had played, no less won a game, in the American League this season.

The Orioles were feted as conquering heroes at a breakfast, parade and banquet in a city plastered with "positive thinking" signs: "It can be done in '61."

About 700 fans paid to have a "brunch with the birds" in the ballroom of a downtown hotel. Downtown business took a long lunch to watch a two-hour parade featuring the Orioles.

Dancing In Streets

There was dancing in the streets as the players went by to the cheers of a couple hundred thousand people.

The pennant fever running through the city rivaled the joy when Baltimore obtained an American League franchise in 1954 from the lowly St. Louis Browns.

The optimism is a hangover from last season when the Orioles, loaded with young talent of their own development, made a terrific run for the pennant before finishing second by eight games to the New York Yankees.

The fan fervor wasn't lost on the Oriole players or management.

"This is the best club that ever came back to Baltimore," third baseman Brooks Robinson assured the "brunch" guests. "We're going to give the Yanks a run for their money."

"It Can Be Done"—Pappas

"I agree it can be done," said Milt Pappas, who will be the starting pitcher tomorrow against the Los Angeles Angels.

"I hope we can live up to your expectations and to ours," declared catcher Gus Triandos.

"If it's true that fan support can bring a pennant, then it can be done here," agreed Lee MacPhail, president and general manager.

Commending Oriole fan enthusiasm of the past, Manager Paul Richards asserted forthrightly, "We all feel that maybe now we can justify it and maybe even intensify it."

Gene On Band Wagon

Gene Autry, the cowboy of entertainment fame, jumped on the Orioles band wagon although he's chairman of the board of the new Angels.

"We feel we are in the same position as the Orioles were in 1954," he told the brunch crowd. "We're down at the bottom and have to rebuild."

Then he praised Richards for his Oriole uplift, a performance for which he was voted best manager of 1960.

Rocking Chair Loop Will Meet Tonight

A meeting of the Rocking Chair Softball League will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Wilson Hardware Company Building.

The league has seven teams lined up for the 1961 campaign and would like to add an eighth.

Holdover teams are the B.P.O. Elks, V.F.W., Loyal Order of Moose, Knights of Columbus, Celanese A.A., Ritter A.C., and Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Miscues Help Beat Donovan Before 26,725

Long And Daley Errors Are Costly; Sievers Hits Homer

By ENREST BARCELLA

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy threw out two ceremonial "first" balls Monday and then watched Washington's jittery new Senators throw away the opening game of the season to the Chicago White Sox, 4-3.

Washington's baseball give-away program—consisting of four errors—ruined the "pitching" debut of the new President and the new Senators.

The President and 26,725 disappointed fans saw Washington squander seeming victory in the late innings when throwing errors by first baseman Dale Long and catcher Pete Daley gave Chicago its tying and winning runs.

Washington's wastrel performance snatched a deserved victory from Dick Donovan, stout-hearted former Chicago right-hander who limited his former teammates to six hits but could not cope with the fielding of his new teammates.

Kennedy performed his part faultlessly. He did, in fact, prove to be a strong-arm pitcher. The young right-hander, who got his starting assignment from the electorate last November, flung two overhand high, hard ones that may have set a distance record for presidential pitchers.

Standing bareheaded in the presidential box behind the first base line, Kennedy successively heaved two sparkling new baseballs well over 100 feet into a swarm of Chicago and Washington players.

Made Leaping Catch

Chicago's Jim Rivera, standing behind the baseline, had to make a leaping catch to snare the coveted first presidential pitch. Washington's Hal Woodeshick out-scrambled two Chicago players to come up off the ground with the second toss. They also were rewarded with a presidential handshake and autograph.

The President's throwing proved far more accurate and effective than later efforts of the professionals.

Washington was riding along with a 3-2 edge and apparently well on its way to victory when suddenly its defenses collapsed in the seventh and eighth innings.

With one out in the seventh, Chicago's Jim Landis got a triple when his booming drive eluded left fielder Gene Woodling and bounced off the top of the bleacher wall. Donovan struck out the dangerous Sherm Lollar and appeared to be out of trouble when pinch hitter Earl Torgeson sent a roller toward first base. But Long fumbled the ball and then threw wild, permitting Landis to score.

Donovan's trouble was compounded in the eighth when Chicago put across the winning run without a hit. He started his own downfall when he hit Minnie Minoso on the arm with an inside pitch. Minoso stole second and continued on to third when Daley's throw went wide of second and sailed into center field. Minoso rode home on Roy Sievers' sacrifice fly and that was the ball game.

Until then, it had been a happy afternoon for the new Washington club. Donovan was pitching one of his better games, the hitters were coming through in the clutch, the fielders were making the right plays, and the team got off to a fast start.

Made Instant Hit

Woodling made an instant hit with the fans by connecting with one of starter Early Wynn's fast balls and hammering a tremendous first-inning triple high off the scoreboard in right center some 380 feet from home plate. This scored Coot Veal and Marty Keough, who had singled.

Another old Washington favorite —Chicago's Roy Sievers—cut the margin to one run with a lead-off homer in the second inning that carried a half dozen rows into the centerfield bleachers— more than 400 feet away.

Washington picked up its third and last run in the bottom of the second when Billy Klaus hit a bases-full sacrifice fly to centerfield, scoring Daley.

The 41-year-old Wynn, shooting for the 285th victory of his career, lasted only two innings. He yielded all three Washington runs and five of its nine hits.

Russ Kemmerer took over and locked the door for four innings before giving way to a pinch hitter in the eighth. Southpaw Frank Baumann finished the game with three shutout innings and was credited with the victory.

Besides Sievers' homer, Chicago's only other earned run came in the third inning on back-to-back doubles by pinch hitter Floyd Robinson and Luis Aparicio.

Woodling made a heroic bid to pull the victory out in the eighth when, with one on, he rocketed a tremendous drive that seemed destined to be the game-winning home run. But it curved foul just as it rode far over the right field wall.

Purple Heart And Caseys Open Title Series Today

Teams Win 7 Of 14 Championships In Shuffleboard Loop

The winningest team in the 14-year history of the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League — the Cumberland Knights of Columbus and the Purple Heart Club — will shoot it out tonight in the first three games of their six-game series for the 1960-61 championship.

Purple Heart Club will play host and the action will get under way at 8:30 o'clock.

The series will be concluded Thursday night at the K. of C. Home.

The Caseys won the playoffs in the American Division while Purple Heart emerged the victor in the National Division.

In their only meeting this season the Purple Heart Club won two of three games from the Knights in an inter-division test December 1.

Won Four Titles

Four times the Caseys have won the title since the circuit was formed in 1948. They copped the crown in 1948, 1949, 1950 and 1956. On two other occasions they reached the finals but lost out to Purple Heart (1955) and Green's Chevrolet (1957).

Purple Heart will be angling for its fourth league championship. They went all the way in 1955, repeated in 1958 and beat Peck's Cafe in the finals last year.

It was during the 1955 season that Bill Laurent of Purple Heart posted the league's all-time high of 58 (March 4) in a match with Clingerman's. Laurent is still a member of the team.

Both Charter Teams

Purple Heart and K. of C. were charter members of the league in 1948. Joe Love, Paul Stitcher and Hugh Kilroy, members of the present K. of C. team, were on the first league championship team. In fact, Kilroy never has missed a regular scheduled league match over 14 seasons. One year when the Knights dropped out of the league, Kilroy and Love were with the Alhambra Club and Stitcher was with the Cumberland V.F.W.

Joseph Burkey is the only member of the present Purple Heart Club team who was with the same club in 1948.

The 12 other teams in the 1948 loop were Cumberland V.F.W., Century A.C., Frostburg; Burns Tavern, Westernport; Cresaptown Legion, Cresap Tavern, Sports Center, Cumberland Amvets, Devon Club of Westernport; Goodfellowship Club, Red Men, South End Republican Club and Frostburg Moose.

Past Winners

Here are the past champions and the results of the final playoffs:

1948 — Cumberland K. of C. won league title (no playoff).
1949 — Century A.C., won first half and Cumberland K. of C. won second half. K. of C. won playoff for championship.
1950 — Cumberland K. of C. won both halves of split season.
1951 — Stadium Inn, Frostburg, won both halves of split season.
1952 — Cumberland Amvets beat Stadium Inn by 8 points.
1953 — Stadium Inn beat Cumberland Amvets by 7 points.
1954 — Cumberland Amvets beat Fisher & Robinette by 33 points.
1955 — Purple Heart Club beat Cumberland K. of C. by 45 points.
1956 — Cumberland K. of C. beat Purple Heart Club by 5 points.
1957 — Green's Chevrolet, Frostburg, beat K. of C., by 19 points.
1958 — Purple Heart Club beat Cumberland Eagles by 27 points.
1959 — Fisher & Robinette beat Cumberland Eagles by 43 points.
1960 — Purple Heart Club beat Peck's Cafe, Frostburg, by 31 points.

WVU Track Team Defeats Spiders

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Roger Holdinsky took two first places and tied for another to lead West Virginia University's track team to a 108½-22½ swamping of Richmond here Monday.

Holdinsky won the 220-yard-dash and the broad jump and tied for first in the 100-yard-dash with Vic Harrison of WVU. Holdinsky and Harrison were clocked in 10 seconds flat on the damp track.

The Mountaineers won 13 of the 15 events and also took down second place in 12 events. Larry Knight of WVU racked up 11 points to follow Holdinsky's 14. Knight was first in the high jump and second in the pole vault and broad jump.

Bill Ventura won the shot put for Richmond and Albert Millar took the 440 for the Spiders.

Carry Back Remains 5-1 Derby Choice

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico (AP) —Odds on top favorites in the Caliente future book on the Kentucky Derby were holding steady Monday.

Carry Back remained 5-1 first choice in the weekly posting of odds Sunday. Four-and-Twenty, Beau Prince and Garwol held at 6-1, and Flutterby and Bal Musette at 8-1.

Game Is Postponed

The Shepherd College-Potomac State College baseball game scheduled yesterday at Keyser was postponed on account of wet grounds and will be rescheduled, Coach John Fox of the Catamounts announced last night.

Potomac's next engagement is with Frostburg State Teachers College Wednesday at 3 p. m., at Keyser. West Virginia University's Freshmen tossers play at Potomac State Saturday.

Washington's wastrel performance snatched a deserved victory from Dick Donovan, stout-hearted former Chicago right-hander who limited his former teammates to six hits but could not cope with the fielding of his new teammates.

Kennedy performed his part faultlessly. He did, in fact, prove to be a strong-arm pitcher. The young right-hander, who got his starting assignment from the electorate last November, flung two overhand high, hard ones that may have set a distance record for presidential pitchers.

Standing bareheaded in the presidential box behind the first base line, Kennedy successively heaved two sparkling new baseballs well over 100 feet into a swarm of Chicago and Washington players.

Made Leaping Catch

Chicago's Jim Rivera, standing behind the baseline, had to make a leaping catch to snare the coveted first presidential pitch. Washington's Hal Woodeshick out-scrambled two Chicago players to come up off the ground with the second toss. They also were rewarded with a presidential handshake and autograph.

The President's throwing proved far more accurate and effective than later efforts of the professionals.

Washington was riding along with a 3-2 edge and apparently well on its way to victory when suddenly its defenses collapsed in the seventh and eighth innings.

With one out in the seventh, Chicago's Jim Landis got a triple when his booming drive eluded left fielder Gene Woodling and bounced off the top of the bleacher wall. Donovan struck out the dangerous Sherm Lollar and appeared to be out of trouble when pinch hitter Earl Torgeson sent a roller toward first base. But Long fumbled the ball and then threw wild, permitting Landis to score.

Donovan's trouble was compounded in the eighth when Chicago put across the winning run without a hit. He started his own downfall when he hit Minnie Minoso on the arm with an inside pitch. Minoso stole second and continued on to third when Daley's throw went wide of second and sailed into center field. Minoso rode home on Roy Sievers' sacrifice fly and that was the ball game.

Until then, it had been a happy afternoon for the new Washington club. Donovan was pitching one of his better games, the hitters were coming through in the clutch, the fielders were making the right plays, and the team got off to a fast start.

Made Instant Hit

Woodling made an instant hit with the fans by connecting with one of starter Early Wynn's fast balls and hammering a tremendous first-inning triple high off the scoreboard in right center some 380 feet from home plate. This scored Coot Veal and Marty Keough, who had singled.

Another old Washington favorite —Chicago's Roy Sievers—cut the margin to one run with a lead-off homer in the second inning that carried a half dozen rows into the centerfield bleachers— more than 400 feet away.

Washington picked up its third and last run in the bottom of the second when Billy Klaus hit a bases-full sacrifice fly to centerfield, scoring Daley.

The 41-year-old Wynn, shooting for the 285th victory of his career, lasted only two innings. He yielded all three Washington runs and five of its nine hits.

Russ Kemmerer took over and locked the door for four innings before giving way to a pinch hitter in the eighth. Southpaw Frank Baumann finished the game with three shutout innings and was credited with the victory.

Besides Sievers' homer, Chicago's only other earned run came in the third inning on back-to-back doubles by pinch hitter Floyd Robinson and Luis Aparicio.

Woodling made a heroic bid to pull the victory out in the eighth when, with one on, he rocketed a tremendous drive that seemed destined to be the game-winning home run. But it curved foul just as it rode far over the right field wall.

Purple Heart And Caseys Open Title Series Today

Teams Win 7 Of 14 Championships In Shuffleboard Loop

The winningest team in the 14-year history of the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League — the Cumberland Knights of Columbus and the Purple Heart Club — will shoot it out tonight in the first three games of their six-game series for the 1960-61 championship.

Purple Heart Club will play host and the action will get under way at 8:30 o'clock.

The series will be concluded Thursday night at the K. of C. Home.

The Caseys won the playoffs in the American Division while Purple Heart emerged the victor in the National Division.

In their only meeting this season the Purple Heart Club won two of three games from the Knights in an inter-division test December 1.

Won Four Titles

Four times the Caseys have won the title since the circuit was formed in 1948. They copped the crown in 1948, 1949, 1950 and 1956. On two other occasions they reached the finals but lost out to Purple Heart (1955) and Green's Chevrolet (1957).

Purple Heart will be angling for its fourth league championship. They went all the way in 1955, repeated in 1958 and beat Peck's Cafe in the finals last year.

It was during the 1955 season that Bill Laurent of Purple Heart posted the league's all-time high of 58 (March 4) in a match with Clingerman's. Laurent is still a member of the team.

Both Charter Teams

Purple Heart and K. of C. were charter members of the league in 1948. Joe Love, Paul Stitcher and Hugh Kilroy, members of the present K. of C. team, were on the first league championship team. In fact, Kilroy never has missed a regular scheduled league match over 14 seasons. One year when the Knights dropped out of the league, Kilroy and Love were with the Alhambra Club and Stitcher was with the Cumberland V.F.W.

Joseph Burkey is the only member of the present Purple Heart Club team who was with the same club in 1948.

The 12 other teams in the 1948 loop were Cumberland V.F.W., Century A.C., Frostburg; Burns Tavern, Westernport; Cresaptown Legion, Cresap Tavern, Sports Center, Cumberland Amvets, Devon Club of Westernport; Goodfellowship Club, Red Men, South End Republican Club and Frostburg Moose.

Past Winners

Here are the past champions and the results of the final playoffs:

1948 — Cumberland K. of C. won league title (no playoff).
1949 — Century A.C., won first half and Cumberland K. of C. won second half. K. of C. won playoff for championship.
1950 — Cumberland K. of C. won both halves of split season.
1951 — Stadium Inn, Frostburg, won both halves of split season.
1952 — Cumberland Amvets beat Stadium Inn by 8 points.
1953 — Stadium Inn beat Cumberland Amvets by 7 points.
1954 — Cumberland Amvets beat Fisher & Robinette by 33 points.
1955 — Purple Heart Club beat Cumberland K. of C. by 45 points.
1956 — Cumberland K. of C. beat Purple Heart Club by 5 points.
1957 — Green's Chevrolet, Frostburg, beat K. of C., by 19 points.
1958 — Purple Heart Club beat Cumberland Eagles by 27 points.
1959 — Fisher & Robinette beat Cumberland Eagles by 43 points.
1960 — Purple Heart Club beat Peck's Cafe, Frostburg, by 31 points.

WVU Track Team Defeats Spiders

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Roger Holdinsky took two first places and tied for another to lead West Virginia University's track team to a 108½-22½ swamping of Richmond here Monday.

Holdinsky won the 220-yard-dash and the broad jump and tied for first in the 100-yard-dash with Vic Harrison of WVU. Holdinsky and Harrison were clocked in 10 seconds flat on the damp track.

The Mountaineers won 13 of the 15 events and also took down second place in 12 events. Larry Knight of WVU racked up 11 points to follow Holdinsky's 14. Knight was first in the high jump and second in the pole vault and broad jump.

Bill Ventura won the shot put for Richmond and Albert Millar took the 440 for the Spiders.

Carry Back Remains 5-1 Derby Choice

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico (AP) —Odds on top favorites in the Caliente future book on the Kentucky Derby were holding steady Monday.

Carry Back remained 5-1 first choice in the weekly posting of odds Sunday. Four-and-Twenty, Beau Prince and Garwol held at 6-1, and Flutterby and Bal Musette at 8-1.

Game Is Postponed

The Shepherd College-Potomac State College baseball game scheduled yesterday at Keyser was postponed on account of wet grounds and will be rescheduled, Coach John Fox of the Catamounts announced last night.

Potomac's next engagement is with Frostburg State Teachers College Wednesday at 3 p. m., at Keyser. West Virginia University's Freshmen tossers play at Potomac State Saturday.

Player Cops Masters As Palmer Falters In Stretch

Gary Is First Foreign Born Title Winner

Shoots 280 To Win By Stroke; Palmer Blows Lead On 18th

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gary Player, the bold little man in black from South Africa, won the Masters golf title by a stroke Monday. Arnold Palmer blew to a double bogey 6 on the last hole in his bid to repeat as champion.

Player, with an erratic 74 in the rain-delayed final round Monday, finished with a 72-hole score of 280, 8 under par for the four rounds over the nerve-wracking 6,980-yard par 36-36—72 Augusta National course.

Palmer, who had a second straight Masters title in his pocket up to the final hole, finished in a tie with amateur Charlie Coe, two-times U.S. amateur champion, one stroke behind at 281.

It was the sixth straight year that the Masters title has hung on the last few strokes. Palmer won it last year by shooting birdies on the last two holes. Monday, needing only a par at the 18th to beat Player by a stroke, he hit into a sand trap, cuffed the ball like a duffer around the green of the 420-yard hole and came in a stroke behind with a last round 71.

First Foreign Winner

Player is the first foreign born player ever to win the Masters in 25 years the tournament has been held. And Coe almost became the first amateur winner. Amateurs have finished second before, but few ever gave a run for the title as the one Coe made Monday when he fired a final round of 69 for his 281 score.

Player, a slightly-built sombre-looking figure who wears an all-black costume on the course carried a four stroke lead into Monday's play after torrential rains had washed out Palmer's bid for the title Sunday. The scheduled Sunday finals was canceled after Palmer had cut Player's lead to two strokes.

Monday Player set out as if to wrap up the title and the $20,000 prize money early, shooting birdies on the first two holes. But he almost came unstuck going around the horn — that difficult part of Augusta National from the 10th through the 13th holes.

Gary went three over par with a bogey 5 on the 10th hole and double bogey 7 at the 475-yard 13th and Palmer caught him. Then Player bogeyed the long 15th and Palmer, shooting sure par golf, moved a stroke ahead.

Hadn't Missed Par

At that stage it appeared all over. Palmer had fired a 3-under-par 33 on the front nine and hadn't missed his par for eight holes coming back.

Player, who finished about a half hour ahead, was sitting in the lounge of Augusta National's quaint clubhouse watching the action on the television screen and grimacing with every shot when it happened.

Palmer got off a fair drive on the 18th. He hit his second shot badly and it rolled into a trap at the right of the green as a gallery of some 7,500 looked on.

Obviously shaken Palmer hesitated about selecting a club, then banged his trap shot clear across the green into the crowd and down a bank. He had to get down from there in two to tie. But his pitch stopped some 15 feet beyond the cup and he failed to make the putt coming back.

Winnings At $45,217

Player, at 25, is within a few months of being the youngest golfer ever to win the storied Masters. Byron Nelson also was 25 when he won in 1935 and he had a few months margin over Player in age.

And Player right now is the richest winner. He already was top man on the American tour with earnings of more than $25,000 in a dozen tournaments this year. Monday's winnings, part of a jackpot of nearly $100,000 brought his total earnings for the year to $45,217.

HE SHOWS HOW HE FEELS—Arnold Palmer slumps noticeably on the 18th green as a putt which should have given him a tie misses by inches, lower left, in the Masters Tournament yesterday Augusta, Ga. Palmer led by a stroke until the final hole where he took a double bogey to lose to Gary Player, of South Africa, who is shown on the upper left. (AP Photofax).

Marion Sues Houston Buffs

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Martin (Marty) Marion, former president of the Houston Buffs of the American Association baseball league, filed suit Monday for $75,000 he says the club owes him in salary.

The suit was directed against the Houston Buffs Baseball Corp., and the Houston Sports Association, which recently bought the club.

Marion said the Buffs on Oct. 8, 1959, signed him to a five-year contract at $25,000 a year. His suit alleges that the club agreed, if it terminated the contract for reasons not his fault, it would pay him $25,000 a year through Sept. 30, 1962 and $12,500 a year through Sept. 30, 1964. Marion said the club has paid him nothing since Sept. 16, 1960, a month after it terminated his contract.

Ratterman To Seek Post Of Sheriff

CINCINNATI (UPI) — George Ratterman, former professional football star turned anti-vice crusader, resigned the vice presidency of a northern Kentucky committee for good government to devote full time to his campaign for sheriff of Campbell County.

Ratterman, a former Cleveland Browns quarterback, has been vice president of the Committee-of-500, a group dedicated to cleaning up city and county government in the northern Kentucky area of Newport and Ft. Thomas, famous for its gambling and vice activities.

Coaches Must Be Full-Time Teachers In West Virginia

Schools Are Warned To Get Their House In Order This Year

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Secondary Schools Activities Commission (SSAC) said Monday that it would suspend from membership those schools whose coaches do not carry a regular classroom teaching load.

Jonathan Y. Lowe, president of the SSAC's Board of Appeals, said a recent survey had determined that "13 or 14 West Virginia high schools are not complying with State Department of Education standards."

Loss of membership in the SSAC would prohibit member schools from competing against the offending institutions during the period of their suspension.

Declines To Name Schools

Lowe, who declined to name the schools, said that an athletic coach must be a full-time teacher if he is to receive extra pay for his coaching duties.

"The Department of Education has ruled that a coach must carry the same regular teaching load as any teacher in the school," Lowe said. "This means he must carry at least five average regularly - assigned periods as do other teachers."

Lowe said that the three-member board last year had sent out written warnings to "between 40 and 50 schools" whose coaches were not meeting this criteria.

He said that in these schools, some coaches had as many as three free periods daily—50 per cent of their teaching time — to devote to the sport in season.

"The ruling by the state board is based on the idea that the coach receives his extra pay for extra services," Lowe said. "This stand also is approved by the North Central Association which accredits our schools."

Schools Face Suspension

Lowe said that unless the schools in question "get their house in order by this fall, they will be dropped from membership in the Secondary Schools Activities Commission." Schools may be suspended for periods of up to one year.

The appeals board president said there was no objection to coaches having one period free for coaching as long as their teaching load was on a comparable basis with other teachers in their schools.

"There has been a reduction in the practice of giving coaches as many as two or three periods to practice since the warning issued last year," Lowe said. "It is this last group that now must conform."

Jimmy Soo Wins

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Jimmy Soo, 142, of Philadelphia, scored his fifth straight victory of a comeback following a 3½ year layoff Monday night when he registered an easy, unanimous eight-round decision over Tony Cristy, 140, of Pittsburgh, at the Alhambra Boxing Club.

Prize Money Upped

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — The first prize money in the Masters Golf Tournament was increased to $20,000 Monday, $2,500 more than Arnold Palmer received for winning the title last year.

Player Cops Masters As Palmer Falters In Stretch

Gary Is First Foreign Born Title Winner

Shoots 280 To Win By Stroke; Palmer Blows Lead On 18th

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gary Player, the bold little man in black from South Africa, won the Masters golf title by a stroke Monday. Arnold Palmer blew to a double bogey 6 on the last hole in his bid to repeat as champion.

Player, with an erratic 74 in the rain-delayed final round Monday, finished with a 72-hole score of 280, 8 under par for the four rounds over the nerve-wracking 6,980-yard par 36-36—72 Augusta National course.

Palmer, who had a second straight Masters title in his pocket up to the final hole, finished in a tie with amateur Charlie Coe, two-times U.S. amateur champion, one stroke behind at 281.

It was the sixth straight year that the Masters title has hung on the last few strokes. Palmer won it last year by shooting birdies on the last two holes. Monday, needing only a par at the 18th to beat Player by a stroke, he hit into a sand trap, cuffed the ball like a duffer around the green of the 420-yard hole and came in a stroke behind with a last round 71.

First Foreign Winner

Player is the first foreign born player ever to win the Masters in 25 years the tournament has been held. And Coe almost became the first amateur winner. Amateurs have finished second before, but few ever gave a run for the title as the one Coe made Monday when he fired a final round of 69 for his 281 score.

Player, a slightly-built sombre-looking figure who wears an all-black costume on the course carried a four stroke lead into Monday's play after torrential rains had washed out Palmer's bid for the title Sunday. The scheduled Sunday finals was canceled after Palmer had cut Player's lead to two strokes.

Monday Player set out as if to wrap up the title and the $20,000 prize money early, shooting birdies on the first two holes. But he almost came unstuck going around the horn — that difficult part of Augusta National from the 10th through the 13th holes.

Gary went three over par with a bogey 5 on the 10th hole and double bogey 7 at the 475-yard 13th and Palmer caught him. Then Player bogeyed the long 15th and Palmer, shooting sure par golf, moved a stroke ahead.

Hadn't Missed Par

At that stage it appeared all over. Palmer had fired a 3-under-par 33 on the front nine and hadn't missed his par for eight holes coming back.

Player, who finished about a half hour ahead, was sitting in the lounge of Augusta National's quaint clubhouse watching the action on the television screen and grimacing with every shot when it happened.

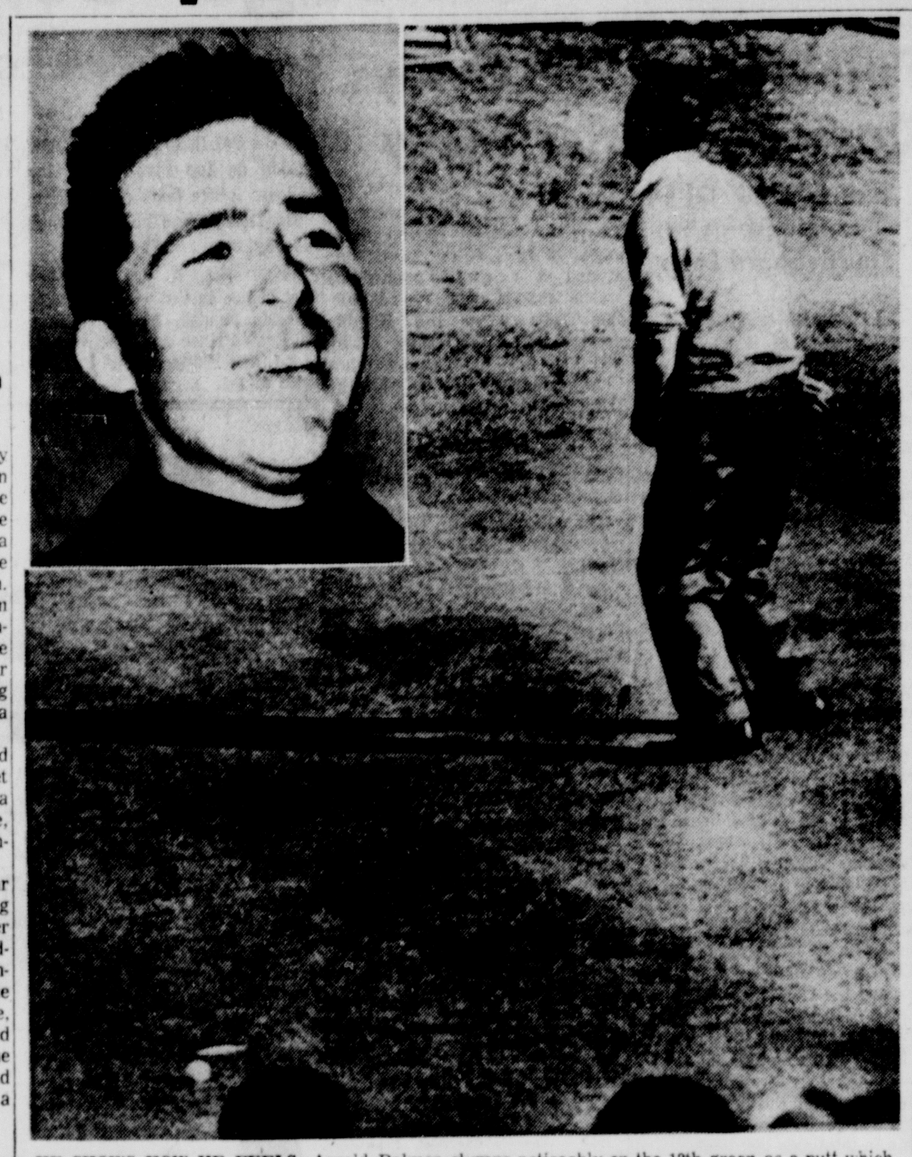
Palmer got off a fair drive on the 18th. He hit his second shot badly and it rolled into a trap at the right of the green as a gallery of some 7,500 looked on.

Obviously shaken Palmer hesitated about selecting a club, then banged his trap shot clear across the green into the crowd and down a bank. He had to get down from there in two to tie. But his pitch stopped some 15 feet beyond the cup and he failed to make the putt coming back.

Winnings At $45,217

Player, at 25, is within a few months of being the youngest golfer ever to win the storied Masters. Byron Nelson also was 25 when he won in 1935 and he had a few months margin over Player in age.

And Player right now is the richest winner. He already was top man on the American tour with earnings of more than $25,000 in a dozen tournaments this year. Monday's winnings, part of a jackpot of nearly $100,000 brought his total earnings for the year to $45,217.



HE SHOWS HOW HE FEELS—Arnold Palmer slumps noticeably on the 18th green as a putt which should have given him a tie misses by inches, lower left, in the Masters Tournament yesterday Augusta, Ga. Palmer led by a stroke until the final hole where he took a double bogey to lose to Gary Player, of South Africa, who is shown on the upper left. (AP Photofax).

Marion Sues Houston Buffs

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Martin (Marty) Marion, former president of the Houston Buffs of the American Association baseball league, filed suit Monday for $75,000 he says the club owes him in salary.

The suit was directed against the Houston Buffs Baseball Corp., and the Houston Sports Association, which recently bought the club.

Marion said the Buffs on Oct. 8, 1959, signed him to a five-year contract at $25,000 a year. His suit alleges that the club agreed, if it terminated the contract for reasons not his fault, it would pay him $25,000 a year through Sept. 30, 1962 and $12,500 a year through Sept. 30, 1964. Marion said the club has paid him nothing since Sept. 16, 1960, a month after it terminated his contract.

Ratterman To Seek Post Of Sheriff

CINCINNATI (UPI) — George Ratterman, former professional football star turned anti-vice crusader, resigned the vice presidency of a northern Kentucky committee for good government to devote full time to his campaign for sheriff of Campbell County.

Ratterman, a former Cleveland Browns quarterback, has been vice president of the Committee-of-500, a group dedicated to cleaning up city and county government in the northern Kentucky area of Newport and Ft. Thomas, famous for its gambling and vice activities.

The ant has two stomachs. One he uses for himself. In the other, he stores food which is to be shared with other ants in the nest.

Badgers sometimes kill more than they can eat at once. They bury the surplus food and return to it later when other food is scarce or impossible to catch.

Coaches Must Be Full-Time Teachers In West Virginia

Schools Are Warned To Get Their House In Order This Year

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Secondary Schools Activities Commission (SSAC) said Monday that it would suspend from membership those schools whose coaches do not carry a regular classroom teaching load.

Jonathan Y. Lowe, president of the SSAC's Board of Appeals, said a recent survey had determined that "13 or 14 West Virginia high schools are not complying with State Department of Education standards."

Loss of membership in the SSAC would prohibit member schools from competing against the offending institutions during the period of their suspension.

Declines To Name Schools

Lowe, who declined to name the schools, said that an athletic coach must be a full-time teacher if he is to receive extra pay for his coaching duties.

"The Department of Education has ruled that a coach must carry the same regular teaching load as any teacher in the school," Lowe said. "This means he must carry at least five average regularly - assigned periods as do other teachers."

Lowe said that the three-member board last year had sent out written warnings to "between 40 and 50 schools" whose coaches were not meeting this criteria.

He said that in these schools, some coaches had as many as three free periods daily—50 per cent of their teaching time — to devote to the sport in season.

"The ruling by the state board is based on the idea that the coach receives his extra pay for extra services," Lowe said. "This stand also is approved by the North Central Association which accredits our schools."

Schools Face Suspension

Lowe said that unless the schools in question "get their house in order by this fall, they will be dropped from membership in the Secondary Schools Activities Commission." Schools may be suspended for periods of up to one year.

The appeals board president said there was no objection to coaches having one period free for coaching as long as their teaching load was on a comparable basis with other teachers in their schools.

"There has been a reduction in the practice of giving coaches as many as two or three periods to practice since the warning issued last year," Lowe said. "It is this last group that now must conform."

Jimmy Soo Wins

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Jimmy Soo, 142, of Philadelphia, scored his fifth straight victory of a comeback following a 3½ year layoff Monday night when he registered an easy, unanimous eight-round decision over Tony Cristy, 140, of Pittsburgh, at the Alhambra Boxing Club.

Prize Money Upped

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — The first prize money in the Masters Golf Tournament was increased to $20,000 Monday, $2,500 more than Arnold Palmer received for winning the title last year.

Market Closes Sharply Higher In Active Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks scored their best gain since Jan. 4 Monday as industrials pushed decisively into record high ground

Volume swelled on the rise to $5,550,000 shares last Friday with tickers running somewhat behind floor transactions for nearly a third of the session.

The Dow-Jones industrial average broke through the old record high of 685.47 in the first half hour and continued climbing until the final bell.

The average finished at 692.06 for a gain of 8.38 as 14 blue chips came off the fence to join the general upswing with gains of a point or more.

Notable among them were American Telephone up 2¾, Anaconda up 2½, Du Pont up 5⅛ despite expected lower first quarter earnings, and Union Carbide up 2¾.

Rails, hampered by poor earnings statements, managed a gain of only 0.17, closing at 144.58, while utilities set a new 31-year high of 112.63, up 0.40.

A total of 1,311 issues crossed the tape — 32 more than Friday. Of these, 666 advanced, 150 to new highs and 450 declined, only five to new lows.

All components in the Standard & Poor's 500 stocks index closed at record highs with the exception of the rails. On the basis of the S&P indicator, the paper value of all listed stocks rose about $3.5 billion.

Market Closes Sharply Higher In Active Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks scored their best gain since Jan. 4 Monday as industrials pushed decisively into record high ground

Volume swelled on the rise to 5,550,000 shares last Friday with tickers running somewhat behind floor transactions for nearly a third of the session.

The Dow-Jones industrial average broke through the old record high of 685.47 in the first half hour and continued climbing until the final bell.

The average finished at 692.06 for a gain of 8.38 as 14 blue chips came off the fence to join the general upswing with gains of a point or more.

Notable among them were American Telephone up 2¾, Anaconda up 2½, Du Pont up 5⅛ despite expected lower first quarter earnings, and Union Carbide up 2¾.

Rails, hampered by poor earnings statements, managed a gain of only 0.17, closing at 144.58, while utilities set a new 31-year high of 112.63, up 0.40.

A total of 1,311 issues crossed the tape — 32 more than Friday. Of these, 666 advanced, 150 to new highs and 450 declined, only five to new lows.

All components in the Standard & Poor's 500 stocks index closed at record highs with the exception of the rails. On the basis of the S&P indicator, the paper value of all listed stocks rose about $3.5 billion.

Cards of Thanks

WE WISH to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our relatives, neighbors and friends who were so kind to us following the death of our beloved son, husband and father, M/Sgt. Linnie C. Stierstorfer. We especially wish to thank those who sent cards and floral tributes and those who donated the use of their automobiles.
THE FAMILY OF M/SGT. LINNIE STIERSTORFER

WE WISH to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness in our bereavement, at the death of our dear Mother Mrs. Chloe Moats. We especially wish to thank Rev. Widmyer and Mrs. Widmyer, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars and all others who assisted us. To all we are indeed grateful.
THE MOATS FAMILY

TROOP 26, POST 27 BOY SCOUTS

In Memoriam

In memory of James Floyd Boone, who passed away 18 years ago today, April 11, 1943.
God took him home, it was his will
But in my heart I love him still;
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
I often sit and think of him
When I am all alone;
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
SADLY MISSED BY HIS MOTHER, NELLIE BOONE

Cards of Thanks

WE WISH to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our relatives, neighbors and friends who were so kind to us following the death of our beloved son, husband and father, M/Sgt. Linnie C. Stierstorfer. We especially wish to thank those who sent cards and floral tributes and those who donated the use of their automobiles.
THE FAMILY OF M/SGT. LINNIE STIERSTORFER

WE WISH to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness in our bereavement, at the death of our dear Mother Mrs. Chloe Moats. We especially wish to thank Rev. Widmyer and Mrs. Widmyer, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars and all others who assisted us. To all we are indeed grateful.
THE MOATS FAMILY

TROOP 26, POST 27 BOY SCOUTS

In Memoriam

In memory of James Floyd Boone, who passed away 18 years ago today, April 11, 1943.
God took him home, it was his will
But in my heart I love him still;
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
I often sit and think of him
When I am all alone;
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
SADLY MISSED BY HIS MOTHER, NELLIE BOONE

County To Get More Money From Taxes

Allegany and Garrett counties will receive more money in annual aid through the passage of increased sales and cigaret taxes by the 1961 General Assembly.

The State Fiscal Bureau announced yesterday revised figures will give Allegany County $554,681 as its share of the higher taxes instead of $551,201 as originally figured. This is a $3,480 hike.

Garrett County's income from its share of the new sources has been revised to figure $159,319 instead of the original estimate of $155,961 for a gain of $3,358.

Allegany County's Board of Commissioners in setting the 1961-62 levy last Tuesday decided not to use the anticipated state income, but to sit on it until next year.

This will mean a surplus of near or over $1,000,000 by July 1, 1962.

John S. Shriver, chief of the Fiscal Research Bureau said 12 counties are preparing their budgets while several others are delaying preparation pending a more definitive plan by the state.

The additional aid from the state, he said, is expected to influence tax rates in some counties.

Two Firemen Resign

Two resignations from the Cumberland Fire Department were accepted by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Lt. Harold L. McDonald, resigned effective April 9; and James Lueck, a probationary fireman resigned effective Wednesday. Both will accept employment at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Council approved appointment of Sherry Roxanne Chaney as stenographer in the Recreation Department.

Clinic Site Changed

A well-baby clinic will be held from 9 a. m. to noon today at the South Cumberland Health Center, 232 Arch Street, instead of the usual site, according to spokesmen for the Allegany County Health Department.

Meter Receipts Up

Parking meter receipts the week of April 2 amounted to $891.50 compared to $801.35 the week of March 26, an increase of $96.15, Inspector Harry Whisner reported yesterday.

"Relief" Clothes

LONDON (UPI) — Bernard Brown, 33, who won the title "best dressed man in northern England," said Monday he has been unemployed and living on relief funds for 17 years.

Brown, who gets $18 weekly from the National Assistance (relief) program, said he bought his prize-winning midnight blue suit for $70 on the installment plan.

Former Mayor Dies At Petersburg

PETERSBURG — Robert Welton Baker, 81, attorney and former mayor of Petersburg, died Sunday night in Grant Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient three weeks. A son of the late Bernard J. and Mollie (Welton) Baker, he was a lifelong resident of here. He was the last surviving member of one of Grant County's oldest families.

Mr. Baker attended Potomac Academy at Romney and was a graduate of Washington and Lee University, where he received his degree in law. During his residence here, Mr. Baker was attorney for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and was a veteran of World War I. He served as stationmaster for the B&O in Cumberland during the war.

He was a lifelong Democrat and was active in organization and affairs of the party. He was a former director of Grant County Bank and a member of Petersburg Presbyterian Church, serving as a member of the board of deacons. He held membership in the West Virginia State Bar Association and Moorefield Chapter AF & AM 29.

Mr. Baker served as the first mayor of Petersburg following its incorporation in 1910 and held the office until 1922.

Surviving are his wife Cornelia Taylor Baker; two daughters, Mrs. Cecil Strickland, South Boston, Va., and Mrs. Robert Hartsell Jr., Washington; four sons, Col. John R. Baker, Arlington, Va.; Robert Baker Jr., Edward T. Baker and Donald J. Baker, all of Moorefield, and five grandchildren. One son, Paul Baker, died in June 1959.

The body is at the Schaeffer Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 until 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. The body will be taken to the Petersburg Presbyterian Church Wednesday at 12:30 p. m., from where funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. with Dr. G. O. Yount, officiating. Interment will be in Maple Hill Cemetery.

MRS. WALTER E. PARRISH

KEYSER — Mrs. Alta Mae Parrish, 67, wife of Walter E. Parrish, Burlington, died Sunday in the Pulliam Nursing Home here following an illness of three years.

Born at Terra Alta, she was a daughter of the late James D. and Alice (Gribble) Friend.

Surviving, besides her husband, are a son, Walter E. Parrish Jr., at home, and a brother, Lacy Friend, Columbus, Ohio.

The body will be at the Rogers Funeral Home after 3 p. m. today and services will be conducted there Thursday at 2 p.m. Rev. Millard R. Floyd will officiate and interment will be in Deer Park (Md.) Cemetery.

EMORY P. DAYTON

WESTERNPORT — Emory P. Dayton, 60, of 527 Maryland Avenue, died Sunday in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, where he had been admitted March 20.

Born in Westernport, he was a son of the late Charles F. and Agnes (Fatkin) Dayton. An employe of the Luke Mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper for more than 40 years, Mr. Dayton held membership in Luke Local 676, United Paperworkers Union, and Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Stella (Green) Dayton; a son, Ralph Dayton, and daughter, Mrs. Gloria Dawson, both of Westernport; a brother, Charles S. Dayton, Luke; a sister, Mrs. Ann Baxter, San Francisco, and two grandchildren.

The body is at the Boal Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m. today.

Services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the funeral home by Rev. J. A. Sanders, assistant pastor of Trinity Church, and interment will be in Philos Cemetery.

GUSTAVE W. WIGFIELD

Gustave William Wigfield, 75, of 619½ North Centre Street, died yesterday evening in Sacred Heart Hospital, where he had been a patient 10 days.

Born at Piney Grove, he was a son of the late John and Deborah (Shryock) Wigfield. Mr. Wigfield was a retired employe of the Amcelle plant.

Surviving are his widow, Dollie (Stump) Wigfield; a son, Ralph L. Wigfield, Washington, D. C.; two daughters, Mrs. Mary E. Robeson, Roberts Place, and Mrs. Lydia Knepp, Clarysville; a sister, Mrs. Minnie Smith, this city; two brothers, Hunter, Patterson Creek, W. Va., and Walter Wigfield, this city; four grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

The body is at the Silcox Funeral Residence, where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Services will be conducted there Thursday at 2 p. m. and burial will be in Sunset Memorial Park.

Makes Dean's List

WESTERNPORT—John M. McIntyre, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Milton McIntyre, Wood Street, freshman at the University of Maryland, College Park, has been placed on the Dean's list in the College of Arts and Sciences. He is a graduate of Bruce High School and is a pre-medical student at the University.

Bed Spring Trap Fatal To Man

BALTIMORE (AP)—An elderly Carroll County man who was trapped for five hours when his wrist was caught in a bed spring has died at a Baltimore hospital.

Police said Irven W. Murray, 78, of Manchester succumbed to probable shock and a compound circulatory ailment for which he had been under medical care.

Murray died Sunday, six hours after he was brought to the hospital here. Before he died, Murray told hospital aides he fell out of bed and was caught in the bed spring until a neighbor stopped by his house and found him trapped.

Rites Held For "Molly"

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Funeral services were held Monday for Marian Jordan known to millions as the skeptical housewife Molly McGee who used to say, "t'aint funny, McGee," in the old radio series "Fibber McGee and Molly."

Mrs. Jordan 63, died of cancer Friday in her suburban Encino home.

Named To Aussie Post

LONDON (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth Monday named Viscount De L'Isle as governor-general of Australia. He succeeds the late Viscount Dunrossil.

$78,558 Found In W. Virginia State Office

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The "sizeable amount" of undeposited cash, checks and money orders discovered last January in the State Auditor's office totals $78,558.

That figure was announced Monday by State Auditor Denzil L. Gainer who said the discovery included $32,560 in cash, $30,553 in checks and $9,866 in U. S. and American Express money orders.

Gainer had announced last month that auditors had discovered the funds in the department's safe, some file cabinets and old desks. At the time, he estimated the total to be "more than $50,000, and probably closer to $75,000."

The auditor said $18,000 worth of the checks had once been deposited but returned to the auditor's office for "one reason or another." They were never redeposited.

Gainer said the legislative auditor's office has not yet determined to which state funds the money is to be deposited. Some of the checks date as far back as the 1930s and are probably worthless, he said.

D.C. Streets Named Bataan, Corregidor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sunday on the 19th anniversary of the World War II battles of Bataan and Corregidor, two streets adjoining Washington's Scott Circle were officially named Bataan and Corregidor.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk called it a perpetual reminder of the gallantry of Philippine and American soldiers who died in the battles.

About 500 persons, including many Washington notables, huddled under umbrellas on the rainy, cold spring afternoon to witness the ceremonies.

Bataan Day Marked

MANILA (AP)—Sirens sounded and church bells rang in many parts of the Philippines Sunday in observance of Bataan Day, 19th anniversary of the fall of the gateway to Manila Bay to the Japanese in World War II. It is a national holiday in the Philippines.

A parade, led by the "defenders on Bataan and Corregidor," was held in Manila, and American and Philippine officials laid wreaths at U. S. and Filipino military cemeteries here.

County To Get More Money From Taxes

Allegany and Garrett counties will receive more money in annual aid through the passage of increased sales and cigaret taxes by the 1961 General Assembly.

The State Fiscal Bureau announced yesterday revised figures will give Allegany County $554,681 as its share of the higher taxes instead of $551,201 as originally figured. This is a $3,480 hike.

Garrett County's income from its share of the new sources has been revised to figure $159,319 instead of the original estimate of $155,961 for a gain of $3,358.

Allegany County's Board of Commissioners in setting the 1961-62 levy last Tuesday decided not to use the anticipated state income, but to sit on it until next year.

This will mean a surplus of near or over $1,000,000 by July 1, 1962.

John S. Shriver, chief of the Fiscal Research Bureau said 12 counties are preparing their budgets while several others are delaying preparation pending a more definitive plan by the state.

The additional aid from the state, he said, is expected to influence tax rates in some counties.

Two Firemen Resign

Two resignations from the Cumberland Fire Department were accepted by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Lt. Harold L. McDonald, resigned effective April 9; and James Lueck, a probationary fireman resigned effective Wednesday. Both will accept employment at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Council approved appointment o' Sherry Roxanne Chaney as stenographer in the Recreation Department.

Clinic Site Changed

A well-baby clinic will be held from 9 a. m. to noon today at the South Cumberland Health Center, 232 Arch Street, instead of the usual site, according to spokesmen for the Allegany County Health Department.

Meter Receipts Up

Parking meter receipts the week of April 2 amounted to $891.50 compared to $801.35 the week of March 26, an increase of $96.15, Inspector Harry Whisner reported yesterday.

"Relief" Clothes

LONDON (UPI) — Bernard Brown, 33, who won the title "best dressed man in northern England," said Monday he has been unemployed and living on relief funds for 17 years.

Brown, who gets $18 weekly from the National Assistance (relief) program, said he bought his prize-winning midnight blue suit for $70 on the installment plan.

Former Mayor Dies At Petersburg

PETERSBURG — Robert Welton Baker, 81, attorney and former mayor of Petersburg, died Sunday night in Grant Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient three weeks. A son of the late Bernard J. and Mollie (Welton) Baker, he was a lifelong resident of here. He was the last surviving member of one of Grant County's oldest families.

Mr. Baker attended Potomac Academy at Romney and was a graduate of Washington and Lee University, where he received his degree in law. During his residence here, Mr. Baker was attorney for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and was a veteran of World War I. He served as stationmaster for the B&O in Cumberland during the war.

He was a lifelong Democrat and was active in organization and affairs of the party. He was a former director of Grant County Bank and a member of Petersburg Presbyterian Church, serving as a member of the board of deacons. He held membership in the West Virginia State Bar Association and Moorefield Chapter AF & AM 29.

Mr. Baker served as the first mayor of Petersburg following its incorporation in 1910 and held the office until 1922.

Surviving are his wife Cornelia Taylor Baker; two daughters, Mrs. Cecil Strickland, South Boston, Va., and Mrs. Robert Hartsell Jr., Washington; four sons, Col. John R. Baker, Arlington, Va.; Robert Baker Jr., Edward T. Baker and Donald J. Baker, all of Moorefield, and five grandchildren. One son, Paul Baker, died in June 1959.

The body is at the Schaeffer Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 until 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. $78,558 Found In W. Virginia State Office

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The "sizeable amount" of undeposited cash, checks and money orders discovered last January in the State Auditor's office totals $78,558.

That figure was announced Monday by State Auditor Denzil L. Gainer who said the discovery included $32,560 in cash, $30,553 in checks and $9,866 in U. S. and American Express money orders.

Gainer had announced last month that auditors had discovered the funds in the department's safe, some file cabinets and old desks. At the time, he estimated the total to be "more than $50,000, and probably closer to $75,000."

The auditor said $18,000 worth of the checks had once been deposited but returned to the auditor's office for "one reason or another." They were never redeposited.

Gainer said the legislative auditor's office has not yet determined to which state funds the money is to be deposited. Some of the checks date as far back as the 1930s and are probably worthless, he said.

D.C. Streets Named Bataan, Corregidor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sunday on the 19th anniversary of the World War II battles of Bataan and Corregidor, two streets adjoining Washington's Scott Circle were officially named Bataan and Corregidor.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk called it a perpetual reminder of the gallantry of Philippine and American soldiers who died in the battles.

About 500 persons, including many Washington notables, huddled under umbrellas on the rainy, cold spring afternoon to witness the ceremonies.

Bataan Day Marked

MANILA (AP)—Sirens sounded and church bells rang in many parts of the Philippines Sunday in observance of Bataan Day, 19th anniversary of the fall of the gateway to Manila Bay to the Japanese in World War II. It is a national holiday in the Philippines.

A parade, led by the "defenders on Bataan and Corregidor," was held in Manila, and American and Philippine officials laid wreaths at U. S. and Filipino military cemeteries here.

City Tax Levy Goes Over In Third Quarter

Spending Lags Four Points Below Par

Collections on the tax levy of the City of Cumberland went over the top during the third quarter of the 1960-61 fiscal year.

The development was reported in a condition of the levy report prepared yesterday by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson. Similar reports are made each month so department heads may keep track of income and expenditures.

Spending Lags

The report also showed that the city has collected 92.6 per cent of the year's total levy and that spending was running four points below par.

As the quarter ended March 31, tax levy collections totaled $1,278,373.77, which is 102.5 per cent of the amount levied. Excess tax collections totaled $31,373.77.

Collections on the $1,899,930 levy totaled $1,759,502.22, leaving $175,467.85 to be collected to meet the levy. Excess collections totaled $35,040.07, including $330.25 excess collections on police fines and $3,336.05 on weight fees at the city scales.

There seems to be no question that the levy will be met, as anticipated state-shared funds represent about $100,000 of the uncollected money.

Two Overdrawn

During the first three quarters, the various city departments spent $1,177,495 for services. This represents 70.86 per cent of the amount appropriated, and leaves slightly less than half a million dollars on hand to meet expenses until June 30.

Two accounts are overdrawn. They are the Street and Alley paving account, by $8,702.94, and Street Cleaning, by $4,585.90.

The overage in the Street Cleaning account was caused by heavy costs for snow removal.

Other departments appeared to be operating within their budgets.

Conference On Area Economy Set April 24

Representative Charles McC. Mathias, R-Sixth, yesterday announced an Economic Conference for Western Maryland to be held at the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club near Hancock on April 24.

This conference, which was originally proposed by Rep. Mathias at an economic meeting in Washington County in January, is part of a concerted and continued effort to stimulate and improve the present economic condition and to devise ways of attracting new industry to the Sixth District.

The Conference will be attended by 100 persons representing all interested groups in the district. Government officials from cities and counties in the Sixth District will also be in attendance as well as Area Development experts from the United States Department of Commerce. Representatives from outside of Maryland will report on what other areas have done to attract new industry.

Rep. Mathias said that "We have been laying the groundwork for this meeting for several months and I am confident that meetings of this type will be a great aid in providing for full employment."

Pritts To Get Eagle Award

William Pritts will receive an Eagle Scout award tonight in the highlight of a court of honor for Explorer Post 10 at the LaVale Methodist Church starting at 7:30 o'clock.

The Eagle Scout award will be presented by John Means, vice chairman of Nemacolin Trail District. Kenneth M. Stone is the post adviser.

Other advancements to be made tonight include the following:

David Hall and Richard Shroyer, star scouts; Wayne DeHart, Charles Kolb and David Whitworth, life scouts; David Stone and John Stone, Eagle Scout with palms; Robert Barger, Charles Kolb, Duard Welder, Gordon Haines, Lawrence Shinnamon, William Welder and Thomas Williamson, God and country awards; Larry Brock, John Eyler, William Lowstuter, David Stone, Duard Welder, Wayne DeHart, Charles Kolb, William Pritts, John Stone and David Whitworth, merit badges.

Carol A. Dunlap Honored On Campus

Optimists To Elect

The annual election of officers for the coming year will be held at the meeting of the Cumberland Optimist Club Wednesday at 6:15 p. m. at Central YMCA. The meeting also marks the close of the membership drive.

Cancer Crusade Captains Confer

Area captains for the Allegany County Chapter, American Cancer Society Cancer Crusade Sunday April 23, continue to hold organizational and planning meetings at the Society office, Union Street. One such group is shown above. The house-to-house canvass April 23 will be the only personal contact for funds made by the Society during "Cancer Month." Shown left to right above are (seated) Mrs. Casper Taylor Jr., Johnson Heights section; Mrs. Carlton Brinsfield, Bedford Street section. Mrs. William Holbrook, Washington Street section. Standing, same order, are Mrs. Melvin Keller and Mrs. Melvin Brehm, both of the South End section.

Forestry Education Tour Scheduled For Friday

The Extension Service and Forestry Department have planned an educational tour for the Agriculture Stabilization Committee, Soil Conservation Committee and the Forestry Board Committee, said R. Thomas Thayer, Jr., district forester.

The purpose of the tour on Friday beginning at 1 p.m. by the Forestry Department is to show first hand some of the various forestry practices under the current Agriculture Conservation Program being put into effect in Allegany County.

Harry Hartman, assistant district forester, will conduct the tour. Those planning to participate are asked to meet at the Court House where transportation will be furnished.

Some of the highlights of the tour will include soil bank strip mine plantings, woodland grazing control and timber stand improvement on private lands in the county.

The announcement of the tour was made by Mr. Thayer and Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

President John F. Kennedy himself has attempted to focus public attention on forest resources in two recent messages.

In a special message on natural resources on February 23 he made the following comment:

"Our forest lands present the sharpest challenge to our foresight. Trees planted today will not reach the minimum sizes needed for lumber until the year 2000."

A similar statement was made by President Kennedy relative to American agriculture to the House of Representatives on March 16.

"One of our most important natural resources and one of our most neglected is our forest land. We need to give special emphasis to the improvement of the 256 million acres of small, privately owned farm woodlands and the small forests."

Young GOP Club To Meet

The Young Republican Club of Allegany County will meet Wednesday at 8 p. m. in club headquarters at the corner of Baltimore and North Liberty streets.

The meeting will include the first study session in the "Action Course in Practical Politics," which is being sponsored by the GOP Club.

Instructor for the first session will be Gerald L. Barb, a member of the club and plant buyer for Works Seven of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Also on the agenda tomorrow night, will be a meeting of the Ways and Means Committee. The committee meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Sarah Rank, chairman.

Persons under the age of 40 are invited to attend the meeting tomorrow night.

Cresaptown Church To Hear Guest Speaker

Rev. Danzel C. Wildey, executive secretary of the Maryland Council of Churches, will be the guest speaker next Sunday at Cresaptown Methodist Church.

Rev. Robert E. Bavender, pastor, said Rev. Mr. Wildey will be the speaker at the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services.

Rev. Mr. Wildey is serving in his second year as secretary of the Maryland Council and also is a member of the Peninsula Annual Conference of the Methodist Church.

Before assuming his present position, Rev. Mr. Wildey was executive secretary of the Conference Board of Education and Training for the Peninsula Conference.

He also has served as pastor of several churches, his last pastorate being Calvary Methodist Church in Milford, Del.

Rev. Mr. Wildey was one of the speakers in Cumberland recently at a joint meeting of the Cumberland Ministerial Association and United Church Women for the purpose of exploring the possibility of the development of an Allegany Council of Churches.

W. Va. Congressman Injured In Fall

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia's 6th District Congressman, Democrat John M. Slack, was reported in "good" condition at a Charleston hospital Monday after suffering three broken ribs in a fall at his home Sunday.

Slack's physician said he would remain hospitalized "several days at least" to allow the ribs to mend. The injury occurred when Slack tripped over some rugs that were being taken up.

Weather Back To Near Normal Following Snow

Frostburg Records Over 10 Inches

The weather in this area got back closer to normal yesterday after a snow storm Sunday night which dumped up to 10 inches in some sections of Allegany County.

Over 10 inches of snow was measured in the Frostburg area yesterday and many motorists were stranded as a result of the unseasonal storm.

Things got back to normal yesterday as the mercury rose to the low 50s, causing most of the snow to melt. All highways in the area are reported clear.

High And Low

The depth of the snow ranged from a high of over 10 inches in the Frostburg area to a half inch in Cumberland.

Potomac Edison Company power service began to be affected early yesterday morning after the sticky snow began to build up on power lines. Most of the trouble occurred in the Frostburg area.

PE officials said service was back to normal by dark yesterday.

Edward L. Ewald said trouble began to develop in the Frostburg area about 2 a.m. and that the trouble reports came in intermittently until late afternoon.

Branches Fall

He said the trouble developed on individual service or branch lines as the snow built up and shorted wires. Some trouble was reported from falling branches.

No transmission line trouble developed during the storm as it did during the disastrous March 22 snowstorm.

Cumberland District line crews were sent to Frostburg to help restore service to customers.

The Cumberland District suffered only minor damage, primarily in Pennsylvania, according to Garland L. Johnston, manager.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company reported scattered trouble as a result of the snowstorm, but all trouble had been cleared up by last night.

The phone company said most of its trouble was in the Frostburg and Flintstone sections.

Merchants Plan Top Promotions For 1961-1962

Flags Will Fly During Race Event

A report of the Promotions committee was adopted yesterday by the Retail Merchants Association of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

The report was presented by the committee composed of Walter Neff, Louis V. Shinnamon, Samuel Moses, Ward N. Hauger and Arthur Friedland and outlines promotions planned for the rest of 1961 and the spring of 1962.

The first special event to be marked will be the Sports Car Races on May 12, 13 and 14. Checkered flags will be used for decorations in the downtown business section.

A Summer Kick-Off event was recommended, beginning May 25 and continuing through May 29. It will be a new feature of the association.

July Clearance days are planned Thursday, July 27 through July 31.

The next special event, during fall harvest days was set for October 26 through 30.

The annual Fall and Back to School events will begin the second week of August.

The committee recommended that a special committee be appointed to work with the Promotions unit to work out plans for the Christmas shopping season.

A January clearance sale was approved, with dates and details to be set later by the association.

The association also voted to promote a Washington's Birthday Sale next year.

In other action, the association pointed out that $100 merchandise awards will be made during the next four Thursdays. The prizes are being awarded by the association to inaugurate the Thursday Night shopping hours here.

Tickets, the association said, are available at all member stores during Thursday night shopping hours.

County Issues Three Permits

Three permits for homes, which will cost about $26,500 to construct, have been issued at the Allegany County Court House.

James G. Stevenson, clerk of the County Board of Commissioners, said Harry E. Shipway of Flintstone was issued a permit to build a frame dwelling at a cost of about $10,500. The home will have a concrete block foundation and asbestos shingles.

Norwood and Mary Barnes of 138 Bedford Street, have been issued a permit to construct a 30 by 34 foot brick home at a cost of about $10,000. It will have a concrete block foundation and composition roof.

The third permit was issued to P. W. Mauk, of Bedford Road, who plans to build a dwelling measuring 24 by 44 feet at a cost of about $6,000. The home will have a concrete block foundation and composition roof and a basement.

Elementary Meeting Set In Baltimore

Allegany Countians Planning To Attend

Seven officials of public schools of Allegany County are planning to attend the Maryland Conference on Elementary Education which will be held Thursday and Friday at the Emerson Hotel in Baltimore.

The theme for the conference, "Emerging Frontiers in Learning" is very appropriate at this particular time when changes in content, organization, and materials of instruction are being suggested and tried out in many school systems.

Planning to represent Allegany County are Miss Margaret E. Doak, supervisor of elementary education, and the following principals: Earl F. Brain, Beall Elementary; Oberlin T. Chaney, Cresaptown; Mrs. Eleanor Tennant, Parkside; Mrs. Sue Dawson, Midland; Miss Bernice Winner, West Side and Miss Sarah Wright, John Humbird.

On Wednesday there will be four meetings—one for supervisors of home economics in the board room of the State Department of Education, one for school psychologists at the hotel and one for supervisors of special education also at the hotel. Participants in these meetings are invited to attend the elementary conference.

Greetings to the conference will be given by Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr. state superintendent of schools.

Among the speakers will be Dr. Arthur W. Foshay, executive officer, Horace Mann Lincoln Institute of School Experimentation, Teachers College, Columbia University, New York, and Dr. Alexander Frazier, director Center for School Experimentation, Ohio State University.

Conference dinner speaker will be Dr. Louis B. Wright, director, The Folger Shakespeare Library.

Clean Stream Plan Approved By Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania Senate Monday night completed legislative action on a measure that would broaden the activities of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River.

The bill would authorize the commission — in which Pennsylvania participates with West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia — to set up a program for cleaning up streams.

Gov. Lawrence is expected to give quick approval.

Two Employes Retire At ABL

The retirement of two employes of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory at Pinto has been announced by Duard H. Little, plant manager.

Charles B. Coughenour, handy man work leader in the grounds maintenance department, received his Hercules retirement certificate from Joseph W. Woodard, group supervisor. On hand to congratulate him on his 17 years service with ABL was J. W. Hansel, supervisor of grounds.

Joseph P. Reagan, first class explosives operator, who joined ABL May 30, 1945, was congratulated by Mr. Little and Robert A. Miesmer, superintendent of the processing department. He is a native of Mt. Savage and attended Mt. Savage School. Mr. Coughenour, who was born in Hyndman, Pa., attended the high school in that community.

Lions To Hear Gilpin

Curtis Gilpin, teacher at Fort Hill High School, will present an illustrated talk on his experiences as an exchange teacher in Turkey, at a meeting of the Lions Club Wednesday at 12:15 p. m., in the Community Room at YMCA.

GEORGE E. BERRINGER

Joins Staff At Amcelle

George E. Berringer has joined the staff of the Extrusion Development Section of the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company, according to Hudson Nix, Industrial Relations manager.

Mr. Berringer, a native of Pittsburgh, had been employed by the Columbia Southern Chemical Corporation as an operations engineer before coming to the local plant.

He also has been employed by the Lubrizol Corporation and the Lincoln Electric Company.

Mr. Berringer attended Carnegie Institute of Technology, where he received a B.S degree in chemical engineering in 1953. He served in the Army from 1954 to 1956 and was discharged as a first lieutenant.

He will reside with his wife and son at 21 Furnace Street in Lonaconing.

Rotary Names Dr. Fridinger

Dr. William T. Fridinger and James D. Spofford were nominated president and vice president respectively of the Cumberland Rotary Club by the board of directors. Reynold Wallach was re-elected as secretary. Their one-year terms of office begins July 1.

The Rotary Ann theatre and candlelight buffet dinner is planned for April 18 at the Elks Club. A social hour at 6 p. m. will precede the dinner which will be followed by attendance at the Elk's benefit show, "Annie Get Your Gun."

Two new members of the Rotary Club will give their classification talks at the regular meeting today at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA.

The Rotary district conference is scheduled April 30, May 1 and 2 at the Bedford Springs Hotel.

Canal Club Will Elect

The recently organized Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Club of Allegany County will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall auditoriums according to Robert C. Petersen, acting chairman.

Business will include a report of the nominating committee and the election of officers.

The objectives of the organization are: (1) To draw together those interested in the preservation of the old canal as a national historic relic, (2) to further the efforts now being made to have it established as a national historic park, (3) to make known the part the canal played in the development of our country, (4) to preserve its natural beauty and to make it a safe refuge for wild life, (5) to make it accessible and available for recreation and to the lovers of outdoor life, (6) to encourage its use by Canal Club members and by the public generally, (7) to promote a conservation plan for the betterment of the area.

Variable Annuity Bill Is Enacted

State Insurance Commissioner F. Douglass Sears, who has vigorously opposed the introduction of variable annuities in Maryland, has obtained the backing of the General Assembly with the passage of Senate Bill 179.

The bill amends the definition of annuities which may be sold by life insurance companies in Maryland, limiting them to fixed sums.

Mr. Sears opposes the sale of variable annuities by life insurance companies, saying such an annuity "is largely an investment and should not be sold through the same channels which offer guaranteed protection."

The Assembly also enacted House Bill 180, which relates to the investment of the capital and reserves of foreign and alien life insurance companies.

'Lucky Bucks' Being Sought

This will be the last week for residents to help their luck by sending a "Lucky Buck" to the Allegany County League For Crippled Children in connection with its Easter Seal campaign.

The League reported 50 more "Bucks" received yesterday and a total of $9,150 realized from the campaign to date.

The "Lucky Bucks" drive will end Friday.

Criminal Trials Begin Monday In Court Here

Whetstone, Perry To Face Charges

Two young Allegany County men who were indicted last week by the Allegany County Circuit Court will be tried Monday morning.

Joseph R. Whetstone, 18, of Klondyke, was indicted on three burglary charges. Walter F. Perry Jr., 25, of Clarysville, was charged with grand larceny and fraud.

The two young men will be tried Monday morning before the criminal appeal cases will be heard.

Whetstone was charged with breaking into the home of Midland Post 169, American Legion on January 22; Walter Engle's Meat Market in Eckhart on February 22 and Wilbur Waddell's liquor store in Lonaconing on February 26.

Perry has been charged with grand larceny in the theft of 300 feet of copper cable worth $168 from the George's Creek Coal Company, Lonaconing, last October.

The Clarysville man also was indicted for obtaining $400 by fraud from the Dial Finance Company, Des Moines, Iowa, last October.

Three Damage Suits Seek $46,000 Here

Actions Stem From Three-Car Accident

Three damage suits totaling $46,000 which stem from a three-car accident last summer on State Route 51 about a mile west of Oldtown were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The largest single amount of the three suits is $25,000 sought by Mrs. Hazel H. Shinnamon, Henry Drive, LaVale, who was seriously injured in the accident when she was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Louis V. Shinnamon, businessman here.

He is suing for $10,000 for personal injuries and a similar amount for care and treatment and loss of services of his wife.

Harold M. Shrout, Oldtown, is seeking $1,000 for damages to his automobile which was involved in the accident.

Defendant in the three declarations is Thomas Lewis Jr. of Elm Street, city. Attorneys for the three plaintiffs are Carscaden, Gilchrist and Getty.

On July 12, 1960, about 4:45 p.m. the plaintiff Mrs. Shinnamon was a passenger in a car operated east on Oldtown Road, (Route 51) by her husband.

Lewis was operating a car owned by John Alfred Snyder of Akron, Ohio and was traveling east on the highway at a "high excessive and unlawful rate of speed," and struck the Shinnamon vehicle, causing it to overturn, the declaration stated.

She was thrown about in the car and against the surface of the road, suffering severe and painful injuries and shock and required hospitalization.

Clockers Will Attend Races

A safety inspection and a car wash were discussed last night during a meeting of The Clockers at their garage off Centre Street.

Robert Smith, president, said two new members were voted into the local club. They are Paul Myers and George Price.

Ten members plan to attend the drag races in York, Pa. on Saturday. They are Kenneth Valentine, Terry Bailey, Dale and Leo Vanderhout, Robert Smith, Lester Kight, Gary Thompson, Roger Nesbitt, Dave Stull and Paul Myers.

The club purchased some tools with money the members realized in a fund raising project. The Monday night meetings at 7 p.m. are open to persons interested in joining the club.

City Tax Levy Goes Over In Third Quarter

Spending Lags Four Points Below Par

Collections on the tax levy of the City of Cumberland went over the top during the third quarter of the 1960-61 fiscal year.

The development was reported in a condition of the levy report prepared yesterday by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson. Similar reports are made each month so department heads may keep track of income and expenditures.

Spending Lags

The report also showed that the city has collected 92.6 per cent of the year's total levy and that spending was running four points below par.

As the quarter ended March 31, tax levy collections totaled $1,278,373.77, which is 102.5 per cent of the amount levied. Excess tax collections totaled $31,373.77.

Collections on the $1,899,930 levy totaled $1,759,502.22, leaving $175,467.85 to be collected to meet the levy. Excess collections totaled $35,040.07, including $330.25 excess collections on police fines and $3,336.05 on weight fees at the city scales.

There seems to be no question that the levy will be met, as anticipated state-shared funds represent about $100,000 of the uncollected money.

Two Overdrawn

During the first three quarters, the various city departments spent $1,177,495 for services. This represents 70.86 per cent of the amount appropriated, and leaves slightly less than half a million dollars on hand to meet expenses until June 30.

Two accounts are overdrawn. They are the Street and Alley paving account, by $8,702.94, and Street Cleaning, by $4,585.90.

The overage in the Street Cleaning account was caused by heavy costs for snow removal.

Other departments appeared to be operating within their budgets.

Cancer Crusade Captains Confer

Area captains for the Allegany County Chapter, American Cancer Society Cancer Crusade Sunday April 23, continue to hold organizational and planning meetings at the Society office, Union Street. One such group is shown above. The house-to-house canvass April 23 will be the only personal contact for funds made by the Society during "Cancer Month." Shown left to right above are (seated) Mrs. Casper Taylor Jr., Johnson Heights section; Mrs. Carlton Brinsfield, Bedford Street section. Mrs. William Holbrook, Washington Street section. Standing, same order, are Mrs. Melvin Keller and Mrs. Melvin Brehm, both of the South End section.

Merchants Plan Top Promotions For 1961-1962

Flags Will Fly During Race Event

A report of the Promotions committee was adopted yesterday by the Retail Merchants Association of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

The report was presented by the committee composed of Walter Neff, Louis V. Shinnamon, Samuel Moses, Ward N. Hauger and Arthur Friedland and outlines promotions planned for the rest of 1961 and the spring of 1962.

The first special event to be marked will be the Sports Car Races on May 12, 13 and 14. Checkered flags will be used for decorations in the downtown business section.

A Summer Kick-Off event was recommended, beginning May 25 and continuing through May 29. It will be a new feature of the association.

July Clearance days are planned Thursday, July 27 through July 31.

The next special event, during fall harvest days was set for October 26 through 30.

The annual Fall and Back to School events will begin the second week of August.

The committee recommended that a special committee be appointed to work with the Promotions unit to work out plans for the Christmas shopping season.

A January clearance sale was approved, with dates and details to be set later by the association.

The association also voted to promote a Washington's Birthday Sale next year.

In other action, the association pointed out that $100 merchandise awards will be made during the next four Thursdays. The prizes are being awarded by the association to inaugurate the Thursday Night shopping hours here.

Tickets, the association said, are available at all member stores during Thursday night shopping hours.

Forestry Education Tour Scheduled For Friday

The Extension Service and Forestry Department have planned an educational tour for the Agriculture Stabilization Committee, Soil Conservation Committee and the Forestry Board Committee, said R. Thomas Thayer, Jr., district forester.

The purpose of the tour on Friday beginning at 1 p.m. by the Forestry Department is to show first hand some of the various forestry practices under the current Agriculture Conservation Program being put into effect in Allegany County.

Harry Hartman, assistant district forester, will conduct the tour. Those planning to participate are asked to meet at the Court House where transportation will be furnished.

Some of the highlights of the tour will include soil bank strip mine plantings, woodland grazing control and timber stand improvement on private lands in the county.

The announcement of the tour was made by Mr. Thayer and Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

President John F. Kennedy himself has attempted to focus public attention on forest resources in two recent messages.

In a special message on natural resources on February 23 he made the following comment:

"Our forest lands present the sharpest challenge to our foresight. Trees planted today will not reach the minimum sizes needed for lumber until the year 2000."

A similar statement was made by President Kennedy relative to American agriculture to the House of Representatives on March 16.

"One of our most important natural resources and one of our most neglected is our forest land. We need to give special emphasis to the improvement of the 256 million acres of small, privately owned farm woodlands and the small forests."

Cresaptown Church To Hear Guest Speaker

Rev. Danzel C. Wildey, executive secretary of the Maryland Council of Churches, will be the guest speaker next Sunday at Cresaptown Methodist Church.

Rev. Robert E. Bavender, pastor, said Rev. Mr. Wildey will be the speaker at the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services.

Rev. Mr. Wildey is serving in his second year as secretary of the Maryland Council and also is a member of the Peninsula Annual Conference of the Methodist Church.

Before assuming his present position, Rev. Mr. Wildey was executive secretary of the Conference Board of Education and Training for the Peninsula Conference.

He also has served as pastor of several churches, his last pastorate being Calvary Methodist Church in Milford, Del.

Rev. Mr. Wildey was one of the speakers in Cumberland recently at a joint meeting of the Cumberland Ministerial Association and United Church Women for the purpose of exploring the possibility of the development of an Allegany Council of Churches.

Weather Back To Near Normal Following Snow

Frostburg Records Over 10 Inches

The weather in this area got back closer to normal yesterday after a snow storm Sunday night which dumped up to 10 inches in some sections of Allegany County.

Over 10 inches of snow was measured in the Frostburg area yesterday and many motorists were stranded as a result of the unseasonal storm.

Things got back to normal yesterday as the mercury rose to the low 50s, causing most of the snow to melt. All highways in the area are reported clear.

High And Low

The depth of the snow ranged from a high of over 10 inches in the Frostburg area to a half inch in Cumberland.

Potomac Edison Company power service began to be affected early yesterday morning after the sticky snow began to build up on power lines. Most of the trouble occurred in the Frostburg area.

PE officials said service was back to normal by dark yesterday.

Edward L. Ewald said trouble began to develop in the Frostburg area about 2 a.m. and that the trouble reports came in intermittently until late afternoon.

Branches Fall

He said the trouble developed on individual service or branch lines as the snow built up and shorted wires. Some trouble was reported from falling branches.

No transmission line trouble developed during the storm as it did during the disastrous March 22 snowstorm.

Cumberland District line crews were sent to Frostburg to help restore service to customers.

The Cumberland District suffered only minor damage, primarily in Pennsylvania, according to Garland L. Johnston, manager.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company reported scattered trouble as a result of the snowstorm, but all trouble had been cleared up by last night.

The phone company said most of its trouble was in the Frostburg and Flintstone sections.

County Issues Three Permits

Three permits for homes, which will cost about $26,500 to construct, have been issued at the Allegany County Court House.

James G. Stevenson, clerk of the County Board of Commissioners, said Harry E. Shipway of Flintstone was issued a permit to build a frame dwelling at a cost of about $10,500. The home will have a concrete block foundation and asbestos shingles.

Norwood and Mary Barnes of 138 Bedford Street, have been issued a permit to construct a 30 by 34 foot brick home at a cost of about $10,000. It will have a concrete block foundation and composition roof.

The third permit was issued to P. W. Mauk, of Bedford Road, who plans to build a dwelling measuring 24 by 44 feet at a cost of about $6,000. The home will have a concrete block foundation and composition roof and a basement.

Conference On Area Economy Set April 24

Representative Charles McC. Mathias, R-Sixth, yesterday announced an Economic Conference for Western Maryland to be held at the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club near Hancock on April 24.

This conference, which was originally proposed by Rep. Mathias at an economic meeting in Washington County in January, is part of a concerted and continued effort to stimulate and improve the present economic condition and to devise ways of attracting new industry to the Sixth District.

The Conference will be attended by 100 persons representing all interested groups in the district. Government officials from cities and counties in the Sixth District will also be in attendance as well as Area Development experts from the United States Department of Commerce. Representatives from outside of Maryland will report on what other areas have done to attract new industry.

Rep. Mathias said that "We have been laying the groundwork for this meeting for several months and I am confident that meetings of this type will be a great aid in providing for full employment."

W. Va. Congressman Injured In Fall

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia's 6th District Congressman, Democrat John M. Slack, was reported in "good" condition at a Charleston hospital Monday after suffering three broken ribs in a fall at his home Sunday.

Slack's physician said he would remain hospitalized "several days at least" to allow the ribs to mend. The injury occurred when Slack tripped over some rugs that were being taken up.

Variable Annuity Bill Is Enacted

State Insurance Commissioner F. Douglass Sears, who has vigorously opposed the introduction of variable annuities in Maryland, has obtained the backing of the General Assembly with the passage of Senate Bill 179.

The bill amends the definition of annuities which may be sold by life insurance companies in Maryland, limiting them to fixed sums.

Mr. Sears opposes the sale of variable annuities by life insurance companies, saying such an annuity "is largely an investment and should not be sold through the same channels which offer guaranteed protection."

The Assembly also enacted House Bill 180, which relates to the investment of the capital and reserves of foreign and alien life insurance companies.

'Lucky Bucks' Being Sought

This will be the last week for residents to help their luck by sending a "Lucky Buck" to the Allegany County League For Crippled Children in connection with its Easter Seal campaign.

The League reported 50 more "Bucks" received yesterday and a total of $9,150 realized from the campaign to date.

The "Lucky Bucks" drive will end Friday.
